Come Back For More

—If the past week's sales are a criterion, Springfield people have suddenly awoke to the fact that Elephant Bread has much more to recommend it than the mere fact that it is made in Springfield. It is a bread that sells on its merits alone. It is made to conform to a standard of high quality, and has a reputation right now to safeguard in every way. As bakers we are pinning our faith upon it to give you complete satisfaction. We want you to become acquainted with it. Ask your grocer for it. If he cannot supply you, we can.
