FUEL HEAD COMMENDED

Position Taken in Regard to Oil Distribution is Upheld.

Belated commendation of the stand taken by Fred J. Holmes, State Fuel Administrator, in protesting attempt of oil distributors to force all sellers into the closing agreement reached him yesterday.

N. B. Beecher, counsel for the oil division of the United States Fuel Administration, sent Mr. Holmes a letter saying:

"We think your position is entirely correct, that in view of the fact that no order with respect to closing has been issued by the Fuel Administration, distributors were free to comply or not, as they saw fit, and that the oil companies were not justified in refusing to sell to those who failed to comply."

The Grandoldope

Then you dip your fingers
In a bucket of lard—
And rub the
Mushy gooey stuff
On your countenance.
Then you have
A gob of red smeared on.
Then you are adorned
With eyebrows and eyelashes
That gives you that Bewitching look.
Then the powder on top
Of all that, and you are Ready to sally forth
To do or die.
If you don't forget your lines
You do."
If you do,
"You die."
Or wish you could.
Then when it is all over
You take one more
Admiring look in the glass
At your
"Most beautiful envoy."
Or other painted charm,
Then back to
The lard pail again
And after a
Vigorous rubbing
All traces of your
Ephemeral triumph
Are gone.

SOME PSALM.

The Ford is my Car,
I shall not want another,
It maketh me to lie down in wet
places,
It solleth my soul,
It leadeth me into deep waters,
It leadeth me into paths of ridicule
for its name's sake.
It prepareth a breakdown for me in the presence of mine enemies.
Yea, though I run through the valleys, I am towed up the hill.
I fear great evil when it is with me.
Its rods and its engines discomfort me,
It anointeth my face with oil,
Its tank runneth over,
Surely to goodness if this thing follow me all the days of my life, I shall dwell in the house of the insane forever.
