UNPOPULAR TAXATION

The most unpopular taxation ever invented in this country is the so-called "luxury" tax which places discriminatory taxation on one industry to the exclusion of another. In most instances articles classed as luxuries are every day necessities and the tax simply adds to the cost of living.

As an illustration, candy is called a luxury, while the milk, sugar and chocolate entering into its manufacture are not. The requirements of the army proved candy to be a necessity, not a luxury.

The public will pay its necessary tax bills without complaint, but "nagging" taxes will always cause dissatisfaction and should be repealed.

HOPE FOR WATER POWER LEGISLATION

So far the present congress has indicated a desire to give the country the much-needed legislation that will enable the country to enter upon the new era of industrial development just opening.

Congressman Esch has reintroduced the so-called administration bill, passed by the house in the last congress, but lost in the senate as the result of the filibuster at the close of the session. Two bills adhering to the main features of the administration measure have been introduced in the senate.

Those who are following the legislation believe that the passage of the Esch bill would bring about a speedy agreement on a suitable measure between the two branches of congress, and insurrection at the present session. Seemingly the various factions heretofore in controversy on water power legislation are united in support of the administration bill, and the long struggle to get action appears to be nearing an end.

OIL. MOTHER OF MOTION

Every day necessities often become so common that their actual value is not really appreciated until supply is cut off.

As an example take sugar during the war. Until the supply was cut off the public never realized that it was one of our main articles of food.

Few people think of oil as an absolute necessity, yet if it were not for oil modern civilization would end.

The miner depends on it for light as does the farmer on his out of the way farm. The housewife uses it in many different forms in housekeeping and the wheels of industry would be paralyzed without it. It is the life blood of the mighty dynamos generating the world's electric current, of the engines in our fleets, of our locomotives, airplanes, automobiles, tractors, and of every industry and wheel that moves.

Remove oil from the world today and the world could cease its progress as quickly as if the sun were withdrawn.

This country leads the world in oil production and as a result it also leads in invention and conveniences of life.

The oil prospector and oil development should be encouraged in every way possible and our national government should reverse its policy of prosecution and discouragement of oil operators to one of co-operation and encouragement.

END POLITICAL REGULATION OR KILL INDUSTRY

Has the country gone "regulation" crazy?

The railroads, public utilities, shipping and shipbuilding industry have been virtually regulated to death as they can no longer stand on their own feet without government support in the shape of taxpayers' money to meet deficits due to "regulation" requiring them to run at a loss.

Now the politicians turn to new fields as an excuse for holding their own jobs and decide that the meat packing industry needs "regulation." At present the industry is self-supporting and the man who buys meat pays for it. Under five years of "regulation" the general taxpayer would begin to pay for somebody else's meat, the same as he does now to cover railroad deficits in order to allow cheap rates for the man who rides.

If the packing industry goes under political "regulation," how will the price be set on goods bought from the farmer? Never before in history has he received such prices for hogs, cattle, sheep, etc. Statistics show that prices of farm products have increased a greater per cent than any other line of industry. You can't regulate the manufacturing end of a business and let the end furnishing the raw products run wild. Of course the politicians don't mention any regulation for the farmer, it wouldn't be popular, but the regulation will be there just the same.

Political meddling with business in this country must stop or the tax bill to support the tax eaters, and the cost of living will be driven to a point which will bankrupt the common citizen and paralyze industry.

SENATE COMBATting RADICALISM

The United States Senate has awakened to the need of laws to curb the forces of anarchy and violence.

The Senate Judiciary Sub-Committee has made a report regarding radicalism, lawlessness and violence in America and Bolshevism as exemplified by Soviet rule in Russia.

Bolshevism was excoriated in the report as a dictatorship of class and a "direct challenge" to Christianity and civilization; a tyranny of autocracy. In America, the committee declared, it is "a slogan of the elements of unrest and discontent."

What the committee characterized as "parlor Bolsheviki" are also aiding propaganda, while "well-meaning persons have been deceived" into advocacy of Bolshevism in this country.

"In co-operation with the revolutionary elements," the report continued, "destruction of existing social and governmental institutions by violent methods is being promoted."

"More reprehensible than the alien element," are the naturalized Americans in the movement.

Recommendations by the subcommittee for legislation include: A permanent law, similar to the wartime espionage act, designed to control "forces of anarchy and violence" and adequately protect our national sovereignty and our established institutions; Strict regulation of the manufacture, distribution and possession of high explosives; Regulation of "mushroom organizations" and special interests which propagate "notions for government, sociology, benevolence or what not;" Control and regulation of foreign language publications.

WEATHER EXTREMELY WARM.

This part of the country has been having some pretty warm weather the past few days. The thermometer registered 90 Tuesday and Wednesday it reached 94, while today it has taken a drop again, and the clouds and slight breeze has made living more comfortable.

The Joy of Living

To enjoy life we must have good health. No one can reasonably hope to get much real pleasure out of life when his bowels are clogged a good share of the time and the poisons that should be expelled are absorbed into the system, producing headache and indigestion. A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets will move the bowels, strengthen the digestion and give you a chance to realize the real joy of living. Try it.
