

An Institution

With quality, service and time, any advertised product will make its maker an institution. The retailer's trade name is his trade mark. It therefore becomes a very valuable asset in his business.

Our trade name has always been associated with quality goods and superior service. For this reason we ask you to look upon our label as a guarantee.

We stand back of every thing sold and if goods purchased should happen to be unsatisfactory, we ask for the privilege of "making good."

Our store is an institution in this community—one with a service.
