Our Basket Ball Team
It has been fully decided that the Springfield High school will have a basket-ball team this year, although we did not have one last year, being unable to secure a hall for that purpose. But it seems possible that we may have the Morrison hall this year and the boys' team has already been organized, while there has been some discussion about a girls' team. Under certain conditions it seems probable that the girls may be able to play, as Mr. Roth, principal of the school, announced sometime ago. It will be necessary for each girl wishing to play, to gain the consent of her mother, and to have a written statement from the mother that she will try and attend each game. The Junior girls are already planning a team, and it is hoped that the girls from other classes will follow their example.

There seem to be ample prospects for the season as we have a rather husky bunch of boys, well onto the game, and willing to do their best for the game, while we are certain of winning all we undertake to do. There need not be any fear about the non-support of the school, as they have already declared to help the boys out on any undertaking, furnishing the necessary needs for their support through the "Student Body", of which nearly every student is a member.

Frosh Reception Held
The frosh reception was held in the Perry-Winzenreid hall Friday evening, October 17th. The hall was decorated for Hallowe'en, in corn husks and jack o' lanterns and each new arrival was sent wandering through dark corridors and rooms where they encountered numerous ghosts and other scary obstacles. There was a nice programme presented to those present which brought in most of the "frosh" for an exhibition of what wit they carried at hand. Among the different features of the programme was a solo by Vivian Senseney, a dialogue between Mr. Hamlin and Mr. Roth and some cartoons drawn by Joe Deets. Refreshments, consisting of cider, apples and ginger snaps, was served later in the evening. All seemed to have a lovely time.

Lester Hill, Carl Leagle and Odin Olson were visitors of old S. H. S. Monday afternoon.
Florence and Ashel Fish have enrolled in the Springfield High school. The freshmen were required to take charge of the first period in the morning, Thursday, for a programme arranged by Walter Laxton and Dorothy Ditto.
Mac Edmunson and Alise Mortenson have to entertain the upper classmen Thursday morning.
Milton Coffman discovered Sunday afternoon, at the Kincaid Park, the remains of a dead horse.
After the Spanish class gets started, we expect to have a terrible time understanding some of the students.
A class in Teachers' Training and Economics was organized Tuesday morning.
Mr. Roth (in a lesson on freezing): "What is the most common substance that freezes?"
Brilliant Classman: "Ice!"
We are very glad to welcome Geneva Abrams back again. She has been the unlucky victim of the dreaded neuralgia.
The boys carry pocket mirrors, nowadays, and the girls carry powder puffs.
After four weeks of suspense we have finally secured an instructor in Spanish, Mr. O'Day, from the University.
Although we all thought the frosh did not keep late hours, still we had no proof until Sunday night. As some of the elderly juniors were just starting out for their evening ramble, they met a couple of frosh returning home, which proves that they are keeping their place and doing as good little freshmen should.
Captain Parsons spoke to the High school one day last week. He was sent over by the Roosevelt memorial committee, and spoke on the life of ex-President Roosevelt. He remarked that if Mr. Roosevelt were living today he would undoubtedly be our next president. Colonel Roosevelt loved children and was a great promoter of education. Captain Parsons left two cans for us to put our gift of money in for the building of a memorial for our ex-president.

[Found among the English papers—Written by Vesta Mae LaRue, S. H. S. '22.]
'Twas a late afternoon
Of a warm day in June—
All nature was bursting with gladness—
When a crowd of young folk,
With many a joke,
Never thinking of oncoming sadness,
Started out for the hill
With baskets well filled
To abandon all feelings of madness.
When they got to the top
They intended to stop
But alas! It was too late,
For a cloud they espied
And did quickly decide
That to stay would be courting fate.
How the lightning did flash!
How the thunder did crash!
Accompanied by wind and by rain!
To say that it fell
Will do to tell
To a person who isn't quite sane,
I'll say it poured
And likewise it roared
Till I'm sure that the heavens were drained.
Of a sudden it stopped,
The last rain drops dropped,
The sky became bluer and bluer,
From under the trees,
Like fugitive fleas,
Came our friends crying, "Rah! Pats, it's over."
