HIGH SCHOOL GIVES CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

Tuesday morning the following program was rendered at the high school: Reading, Doris Smith. Selections, Girls Glee Club. Violin solo, Ralph Love. Vocal duet, Vivian Senseny and Mable McPherson. Play by the boys. Freshmen Octette. Reading, Ernest Korn. Piano Duet, Dwight Kessey and George Signor. After the program we were favored by speeches from Bill Hill, Clarence Kester, Lucile Smith and Vernita Moore, all members of the alumni, and Miss Lindsey, our last year's English teacher. Miss Lindsey recalled some of the old days when she was with us in S. H. S.

'BOOKKEEPIN' JANGLE' And Ila Shaban gave her beau a toothless comb and a pair of shoe strings for Christmas and then she charged them up to him in her bookkeeping set. Peculiar, eh? 'What would 'ja do if a feller came in and bought a lot of dope on 'tick,' paid cash for some and give you his I. O. U. for the rest?' asked Ralph Love. If any one cares to see a great invention on a non-spillable ink bottle just come up to the bookkeeping room and see the 'Love-Deets Ink Bottle Invention.' 'Peacock' Fish and George Signor say there's a great advantage in having the girls doing the banking and that is, the fellers have a good excuse to talk to them without being under suspicion. Bill Lindley says that he don't see how a certain girl (?) in the bookkeeping class can twist her head side ways, stick out her tongue, smile at him and add a column of figures all at the same time. I wonder how he knows all this. He must have given her some pretty close observation and maybe—there lies another romance, eh? Mrs. Plank said last Monday that after Wednesday she would not ask us to do any more bookkeeping this year. Joe Deets scratched his head and fifteen minutes later said, 'I guess she's calculatin' right.' (To be continued.)

Athletics.

Alumni 29, S. H. S. 15. Last Friday night an exciting game was staged between the high school and the alumni. The results were as good as could be expected, considering the difference of 30 pounds to the man in favor of the alumni. A real sportsmanship spirit was shown on both sides, especially by the alumni for not exercising their advantage to the full extent. High school students showed more accuracy in playing than their opponents. Captains Clarence Kester, alumni, and Asahel Fish, high school, conducted the game fairly with the willing aid of 'Sparkie' Davidson, the referee. After the game the girls of the high school served refreshments for both teams which were enjoyed by all.

FUR AND SILK FRINGE

Fur invades the realm of indoor comfy wraps touched off with bands of black silk trimmings on this semi-middy sweater of royal blue lustre tricolore. It is very Parisian with its elbow-streves.

After the big snow, Christmas will seem like the Fourth of July to most of us.

Shorty Hutchinson may lose his place on the team if he don't curb that inclination to 'ruff 'em up.' It would be all right if he took a fellow half his size, but to pick on Jerry Van! Why, it's terrible!

Mr. Roth: (in general science) 'What is fungus?'

Mac Edmunson: 'An insect.'

Mr. Roth: (in general science) 'Dwight, what is bacteria?'

Dwight Kessey: 'A weed that grows in the sea.'

One of our brave young sophomores taking Mr. Roth's advice to be sure to be on time at the basketball game arrived about 9 o'clock in time to see some of the last attendants leaving.

Earnest Korn has proved to us that he has indeed returned to second childhood.

Mr. Roth: 'Do snakes have backbones?'

Ralph Love: 'They have bones but I never took one apart to see if they were backbones.'

Miss Lindsey, our last year's English teacher, visited school Monday morning. In her speech she asserted that she missed the bright and shining faces of those that finished high last year. But we are sure that if she only knew our Frosh class she
