THURSTON HIGH SCHOOL

The double-header basketball game between Thurston and Pleasant Hill Friday night at Thurston, resulted in complete victory for Pleasant Hill. The girls teams played a good game, holding the score down to 15 to 10, and while the boys also played well, their score ran up to 45 to 6 in favor of Pleasant Hill. After the game the girls of the high school served sandwiches, salad and cocoa to the players.

The mid-year seniors are working hard on their play, "Teddy, or the Run Aways." The date when the play will be given will be published later.

Our singing teacher was earlier Tuesday than usual so we had to start on those miserable new songs.

Frederic Gray was absent from school two days last week.

Leo Tennis had a severe case of poison oak last week, causing him to stay out of school.

Charles Davis and Virgil Miller were absent from school Friday.

NICKEL BY NICKEL

Newspaper Man Dribbled His Profit to Beggar.

Little Transaction by Which Scribe Thought He Was to Make $2.65 Didn't End in Just That Desired Way.

"A newspaper friend of mine," said Mr. Goslington, "tells me of an unusual experience he has had, in fact is still having with a beggar."

"He met this beggar first about a year ago. The circumstances attending this first meeting were novel and interesting and my friend wrote a little piece about it which was printed in his newspaper and for which he received $3. As he had given the beggar a nickel he figured that his net profit on this was $2.95. But:

"A couple of weeks later he again met this beggar, who again asked for a nickel, a request that my friend did not feel warranted in refusing. I don't think he would have refused anyway, my friend being an easy mark for beggars; but having profited by his original transaction with this beggar, he felt impelled to hand over this second nickel promptly, thus reducing his net on this little piece to $2.90."

"It wasn't long before my friend discovered that this beggar lived somewhere in his neighborhood and made that part of the town his quarry; for now he used to meet him here and there by intervals. Not always, by any means, when they met did the beggar approach him; commonly they passed each other as any other two might do, with no sign of recognition; but once in a while the beggar would ask for a nickel, which always my friend gave. In this way in the course of three months he gave up 95 cents, thus reducing the net of that $3 to $2.05. Then my friend had an idea."

"He foresaw that if this went on indefinitely, as there seemed every indication it would do, the beggar would get all of the $3, which to my friend seemed scarcely reasonable. But he did think that an even division would be no more than right to the beggar, and so when the $3 got down to $2.05 he set aside, in his mind $1.05 as a drawing account to the beggar's credit, and he said to himself that when thus the original fund had been evenly divided he would stop giving and consider that he had done the square thing."

"Well, my friend believes that, counting a nickel that the beggar drew yesterday, he has now slipped $1.05, so that now it is a question of a few weeks only, three or four at the utmost, when the beggar will have drawn his full share."

"Then, my friend says, he is going to shut down and keep the rest himself; but what I think he will do will be to keep on paying till the whole three dollars is gone, his original profit being thus wiped out completely. I don't know what he can do then, unless he should write, covering all his experiences with this unusual beggar, another and longer story (moving then to another part of the city."

OREGON CITY MAN NOT OUT FOR SECRETARY JOB

Oregon City, Jan. 14.—(Special)—F. E. Brodie, publisher of the Morning Enterprise, announced Saturday that he would not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for secretary of state at the primary election next May.

"My many friends among the newspaper editors of the state," said Mr. Brodie today, "were the first to propose my name in connection with the office of secretary of state, and I have already received, without my solicitation, the endorsement and promised support of more than 30 papers throughout the state."

"This, of course, is extremely gratifying and flattering, and I am deeply appreciative of the kind things that have been said about me."

"After long reflection, I cannot separate myself from a profession with which I have been connected since boyhood. The publishing of a newspaper, in my opinion, is of greater dignity and service than holding a public office. The true newspaper man may be tempted by visions of easier tasks and shorter hours, but if he is true to the calling of his own choosing, he will stick and resist the temptation to forsake a legitimate business wherein he should be a leader in influencing public opinion within the radius of his newspaper's circulation."
