

PRESCRIPTIONS Filled According To Plans and Specifications

After the physician has made a careful study of a case and has decided upon the necessary remedies, he writes out a prescription. At this point the responsibility of the druggist begins. The remedies must be pure, of standard strength and accurately compounded. When prescriptions are intrusted with us, we follow the plans and specifications as outlined by the physician. A rare stock of prescription drugs coupled with our modern, scientific methods enables us to render superior service. Your physician will be pleased if we fill his prescriptions.

'BOOKKEEPING JANGLE'

Note: After thinking the matter over I thought that maybe I had better explain matters and it's this way: possibly the public think that there are no girls in the bookkeeping classes but there are (possibly more than boys) and perhaps the pupils are "cussing" me for not writing the girls up every now and then in this section. But it's this way as I says before, I would like to go to school here about another semester and knowledge is so limited on what appeals to a girl's sense of humor that I therefore watch my step and say nothing about the fair sex. "A feller who can play basket ball classy and a feller who is winnin' wid the girls is great fellers but the feller who can get a trial balance to balance the first shot is still greater", says George Signor, "Therefore I figures that I'm some bird."

S. H. S. Athletics

The basket ball team arrived at Goshen, last Friday night, about seven thirty, with perfectly good intentions of winning. They were somewhat taken aback when they saw on Goshen's lineup; exservice men and post-graduates. S. H. S. showed their opponents that it took more than the average Goshenite to put anything over on them.

The game was lost by Springfield, because of these heavy odds, the score being fourteen to seventeen. The Springfield student-body was well represented and Opal Mason, the yell leader, had them good and hoarse before the game was over.

Personals

The S. H. S. was visited by a good speaker Tuesday.

The speech by Dean Straub of the U. of O. at Springfield High School was certainly good; also came to the point. He told the difference between a college graduate and a college education; also what we Americans will come to, who quit school at grammar grades.

The freshman girls are wishing to organize a basket ball team.

Bessie Keenan has returned to school after a week's absence.

The boys who went to Goshen last Friday, say it was a gentlemen's game. A whiskered one, in long pants. The Goshen A. C. seems to be composed of men rather than boys.

Roberta Wilson has been absent on account of sickness in her family.

We are very curious to know about the diamond ring Miss Dorothy Doane is wearing.

Miss Derflinger has a secret liking for a young man who appears at the H. S. now and then. Please don't tell any one I told you as it is a secret. The teachers seem anxious that we hand in news notes today. Mr. Roth and Mrs. Plank both sent word to the algebra 3 class.

We shall hold Milton Coffman responsible if ragged holes appear in the chamois of Grace Bashford's finger nail pollaber before the end of the term.

Miss Machen is making it known that those getting below 70 in the finals will flunk. We wonder how long she has been working on the exams in order that she may repeat the past year which has been so sweet to her.

Many of the pupils were surprised to see the domestic science girls at school Tuesday because they tasted their own bread which they baked.

Springfield high school still requires a great deal of wood. It seems to be rather difficult to keep up a good fire all the time.

There was a side show held last Sunday evening at the corner of second and E streets in a Ford. The actors being Bertha Lindley and Mr. Harry Jones; the audience being Mrs. and Mr. Funk. When the scene opened it showed the meeting of an old friend whom she hadn't seen for a long time. The scene lasted about one hour when they froze out and had to go to a fire and get warm.

Miss Mabel McPherson is able to be back in old S. H. S. again after a few weeks of the smallpox.

Mr. Staub delivered a very inspiring lecture Tuesday afternoon. I am sure all of our hearts are beating sympathy for poor little Jimmie Brown.

Miss Laurel Griffin was absent from school Tuesday morning on account of illness.

The basket ball girls wish to extend their heartfelt thanks to the basket ball boys for their cheerful surrender of the hall to the girls that they might have an extra evening of practice.

Miss Ruth Brattain, a junior, has been elected manager of the girls' basket ball team.

Laurel Griffin guarded Vivian Senesey at the last practice of the girls' basket ball team. They are both royal players.

Dean Straub, of the U. of O. gave a lecture to the students of S. H. S. Tuesday afternoon. His subject was "The Worth of a College Education."

Mona McHenry has been absent this week on account of illness.

Roberta Wilson visited school this afternoon after some absence on account of the illness of her father who has been at the point of death. He is now recovering and if his health will allow, Roberta hopes to be with us permanently, soon.

Calumet baking powder was demonstrated to the domestic science girls Tuesday afternoon.

The Spanish class is enjoying the luxury of a new teacher, Miss Holladay.

The girls are working hard on basket ball, as they are desirous of having a good team and winning honors for old S. H. S.

Bernice and Hazel Philips have been absent from school on account of illness.

Vesta LaRue is absent on account of some kind of swelling in her foot which renders her unable to walk without the use of crutches.

JOKES

Miss Derflinger (in English) "Now write a description of winter."

Ole Sollem: "The brook froze over to keep it warm."

There was a lady over at domestic science class this afternoon giving demonstration on cooking powder.

The team couldn't play Friday night, because the Goshen "boys" whiskered their arms.

A "20" is a more substantial number than a "21" for it stayed on the hill longer than the latter.

Misery for the Spaniards is now at full tide as a new teacher is in the little room upstairs.

Wanted: Charlotte Stewart's picture, by Ole Sollem.

The girls are making good use of the mirror in the hall. Every time one steps into the hall the powder is flying.

Merle Casteel is seen quite often wandering near the "Cash & Carry". We all wonder what the attraction is.

Carrie to Dorris: "Say, Dorris "fish" around in that box for my thimble."

We hope that many of our students will let soak in the speech given by Prof. Straub Tuesday afternoon.

Ask the sophomore domestic science class how to cook dinners and serve courses unknown to humanity.

Milton Coffman seems real enthused with the idea of singing while Grace Basford accompanies him.

He: "You are the breath of my life". Dorothy: "Then hold your breath".

LUCK

I am typing away at a wonderful rate.

How happy and gay I feel, When I am put in the hands of fate, And the paper from the machine I peel.

I take the paper and turn it o'er, To conserve on paper I try, Insert it in the machine once more And at the keys I fly.

I type along and the time does fly, And at a terrible speed And when I look at my copy I spy What I've written I cannot read.

So what's the use of trying Of trying to type any more, I jerk the paper from the machine, And sling it on the floor.

A HAUNTED FROLIC (Concluded)

When she got to the girls she turned around and with a shrug of her shoulders set her lips tight together, and eyes now unfathomable depths of blackness half closed, fringed with indescribable lashes, said plainly, "I won't be afraid."

She stood with her back to the doorway and as nothing terrible happened to her plucked up her courage and said.

"Look here; we don't believe in ghosts, any of us. We know good and well there is no such a thing. It's probably just a loose shingle like you read about in books, but whether a man or a shingle, we are going up there and find out.

The girls eyes bulged out farther than ever but Ferne had spoken in so firm a voice and they had always followed her lead, that none of them dared remonstrate. Some of them even agreed readily to the idea.

"But how shall we do it Ferne?"

asked Elma. "We should have some order about it."

Ferne looked thoughtful for a minute then said, "The first thing is, that we must have light so we can see when we get up there." She walked over to the wood and picking out several long pitchy pieces put the ends of them in the fire. Picking out one of them she turned around and said, "This one is yours, Elma. Who else is going to carry one?"
