A County Library Book Wagon.

A number of states successfully operate book wagons for the circulation of reading material in the rural districts. The American Library Association includes the needs of the rural communities in its Enlarged Program which is the backbone of its "Books for Everybody!" movement. The A. L. A. hopes some day to see book wagons in every state and is pledged to advocate such service.

LIBRARIANS JOIN FIGHT ON UNREST

American Library Association inaugurates Nation-wide "Books for Everybody!" Movement.

WILL AID FOREIGN BORN.

Social Problems Can Be Solved by Teaching American Ideals and Traditions.

The spirit of unrest that has been sweeping the country indicates that foreign born, who have fled to the United States from every corner of the globe have not been given the proper help and encouragement, in the opinion of the 4,000 librarians who make up the American Library Association and who are now enlisted in a "Books for Everybody" movement. The fight is a concerted movement to carry out the Enlarged Program which the association has adopted.

The Americans approximately fifteen million foreign born in the United States at this number six millions do not read or speak the English language. In place of the Enlarged Program it will be to bring the publisher and translator together with the view of furnishing the proper books in sufficient numbers to carry the message of American ideals and traditions to this vast army of uninformed people.

They have been largely dependent upon the foreign press for their written messages. Many men who live with their thoughts on the pulse of current events are only convinced that a sound foundation in Americanism can be easily built among the foreign born if the propaganda is placed within their reach in a language they can understand.

No Drive Be Held.

In order to carry out the Enlarged

Program, two million dollars will be required. This money will not be sought through the medium of a campaign or an intensive drive, but will be obtained through the individual efforts of the librarians, library trustees and friends of libraries. The American Library Association will bend every effort to bring about the nation-wide adoption of each of the cardinal points in the Program, which includes the extension of the county library system and the establishment of more industrial and business libraries. It now has in operation book service to the United States Merchant Marine, Coast Guard, Lighthouse Service and hospitals of the United States Public Health Service. The needs of the 5,000 blind persons in the United States will be cared for. At present the number of books available is woefully inadequate. This will be remedied and the joys of good literature will be brought into lives that are darkened by a veil which will never be raised by any other method.

Not all the work of American librarians lies in the great numbers of non-English speaking sections of the country. Librarians are concerned with foreign works that do not have public library service. These are immigrant mining towns where less than a score of citizens enter one mining camp like the people themselves.

MORE BOOKS FOR BLIND.

American Library Association Behind Movement to Bring Good Literature to Those Who Walk in the Dark.

There are between 25,000 and 30,000 blind people in the United States. The output of books in the recently adopted Braille type for their use is inadequate, there being less than 100 titles existing at that point. The American Library Association has included in the projects of its Enlarged Program the resolve to aid in printing and distributing additional volumes. It has already succeeded in inducing several well known authors to furnish the braille of one or more of their books. In making out the "Books for Everybody" program a sum of $25,000 will be used to carry out the provisions of the program, the money to be obtained by a special campaign or drive, but through the efforts of the librarians, library trustees and friends of libraries.

GROOMING HELPS THE HORSE

It's not the stable that makes it necessary to groom the horse but the high feeding and active work, says El L. Patten, head of animal husbandry at O. A. C. Heavy work increases the secretions of the glands in the skin, and the greater the activity of the skin the more attention it requires. Grooming the work horse is not so much a question of external cleanliness as of perfect condition of skin and blood.

those who fail and go out of the business, those who eke out a bare existence and those who succeed," says E. B. Fitts, O. A. C. and U. S. field sherman. "Success of the dairyman invariably depends on the quality of his cows. He climbs to freedom from financial worry over the backs of his high producers. He knows that high production is an inherited character and carefully selects his breeding stock to insure that all animals born in his herd have that ability."

EARLY KALE SUCCEEDS.

Hardy kale to supply the spring chick and laying hen with plenty of green feed during the summer will succeed when planted out of doors early in the season. The O. A. C. press bulletin man, who runs a back yard flock of chickens, always plants the first crop out doors on Washington's birthday or thereabouts. This crop never fails to afford a few fine, tender leaves by the time the last year's crop is running to seed.

LATE POTATOES SUCCEED

Late potatoes planted usually in June get a good start, remaining half dormant during the dry season, and make development of tubers on the fall rains.

The potatoe crop planted in the Willamette valley in April will usually develop and be ready for harvest before the fall rains set in. Late potatoes in western Oregon are frequently planted as soon as serious frost danger is over, or else in early summer.

The best practice as a rule, agree the O. A. C. authorities, is to plant about the middle of April under the Willamette valley conditions. In southern Oregon late March or April is favored. In eastern Oregon the dates are determined largely by altitude ranging from early in April until June 1.
