CREDIT FOR THE FARMER.

A friend of ours takes us to task because in our last issue farming was pictured "too fine" and not enough credit given to the farmers. He says there is no use for the farmers to produce more because the profiteers get it all anyway, and the farmer himself does not receive a fair share of what is justly his.

We know that at present there is profiteering and that the farmer does not receive his proper proportion of the prices received for his produce. But we do not believe that is a good argument for him not to produce more. We also know that there is a serious scarcity of farm labor. That is one reason why we advocate means for the farmer to increase his production with the minimum amount of labor and expense. Farming methods can be brought up to date and improvements made in that line as well as in the field of industry. When the farmers' sons and daughters see that they can do better on the farm they will then stay there. The farmer and the farm home is one of the foundation stones of the nation; it must not be destroyed—it must be protected and assisted to grow stronger and more numerous.

We know that all is not "rosy" on the farm but take it from us, neither is city life all "rosy," from our experience in both places.

We want you to get this straight, however, that we are for the farmer, first, last and all the time. We want him to have every bit that he deserves—and that is a great deal. And we believe it is for his benefit to increase his production. His efforts, together with those of a government administration with plenty of backbone and wisdom, we believe, could make it possible for the farmer, as well as others, to get a square deal.

OUR FINAL CANVASS.

This is the last issue of THE NEWS in the canvass. We have been fair; we have given you what we think is a practical newspaper. We will do our best to make it even better all the time.

A live newspaper is a good investment. Every problem that confronts us as people requires accurate information—as in any occupation, long experience and sound judgment.

The writer of the farm stories writes from personal experience, and has much more valuable information to impart. The pamphlet on increasing the fertility-value of well decomposed manure, and make it equally or more valuable than the commercial fertilizer is what every farmer should know, namely, home made fertilizer, rich in nitrogen, phosphates, potash, etc.

Before me lies a price list of commercial fertilizers, effective Jan. 5, 1920, ranging from $65.00 to $85.00 per ton. What can you make yours worth to you at a nominal cost, that contains ALL the fertilizing elements of the commercial fertilizers?

Our subscription price is $1.75 per year, when paid in advance, but our price until May first is only $1.50, and besides we present you as a premium a "Farm Gate Right" and the pamphlet giving full directions for making and using the home-made fertilizer. If you do not need the Farm Gate deed at this time, sometime you may. And

Besides putting out a complete line of flour in all grades, we are manufacturing a DAIRY FEED that is getting results; here is the formula:

Eastern corn	30%
Mill run	20%
Barley, Oats, Rye	20%
Small wheat	25%
Field seeds	5%
	100% pure

And a PORK PRODUCER like this:

Eastern corn	20%
Barley	10%
Middlings	20%
Field seeds	10%
Small wheat	40%
	100% pure

Then we have a CHEAP CHOP at $2.00 per hundred.

Just Where and How Is the Money to be Spent?

A businesslike Answer to a businesslike Question

THIRTY denominations cooperating in the Interchurch World Movement have budgeted their needs. No business could have done it more scientifically.

They have united to prevent the possibility of duplication or waste. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

Each denomination has arranged its budget under six main heads:

1 FOR THE CHURCH'S WORK AT HOME. A score of millions come under this head. Children only can live and a half million people in the United States cannot even read and write the English language. Who is to carry forward the vast work of Americanization if the church does not?

2 FOR HOSPITALS AND HOMES. Every year thousands of men and women seriously ill are turned away from Church hospitals because of lack of room. The children's homes are compelled to turn away more children than they can receive.

3 FOR HIGHER EDUCATION. Of the 450,000 American students in institutions of higher grade, one-half are in institutions founded and supported by the Churches. Many of these institutions have had no great endowment campaigns, but their needs are just as pressing as the needs of larger schools, and you have only to read their list of alumni and alumnae to measure the value of their contribution to America.

Each denomination has its own detailed budget, and will administer its own funds. Your pastor has copies of the budget; examine them for yourself. In the week of April 25th-May 2nd you will be given your opportunity to help. You can do it with the full satisfaction of knowing that every dollar of your gift has its post assigned to it in advance.

Every dollar for better America and a better world. When your church calls on you give—and give with your heart as well as your pocket-book.

BURBANK AT 71 LAUDS QUALITY WHEAT

Luther Burbank, America's great horticulturist, celebrated his 71st birthday last week by working in his garden at Santa Rosa, Cal. "And I find," he said, "that I can accomplish more at 71 than I did at 21." He thinks his major discovery of the year was "Quality wheat" which has found much favor in America, Canada and Australia.

The State University, Agricultural College and the State Normal have for many years spent less money per student per year in training Oregon boys and girls than is spent at any other state institution. The present cost at the State University is $293 a year; at the College, it is $180. But even before the war, when money would buy twice as much as it buys now, the average cost at all other state institutions was $325 a year. In addition

THEIR BUILDING INVESTMENT IS ALSO VERY LOW

At the State University it is at present $322 per student; at the College, $300. But in state institutions elsewhere, statistics show the average to be $995. These are convincing proofs of economical administration, but the three institutions can no longer give satisfactory training to the vast numbers of Oregon boys and girls (5409 in fulltime courses alone), unless they receive more support. On May 21 the Higher Educational relief measure will appear on the ballot. You are urged to preserve the quality of higher education by voting for it.

the pamphlet describing the "Home Made Fertilizer" is valuable to every one, farmer, gardener, stock-raiser, etc. Even if you are not now tilling the soil, you may have occasion to use this information. It offers a means of greatly increasing the production of the soil and the wealth of the farmer at a very small increased cost.

When our school boy or girl comes for your subscription, send them on their way rejoicing. It is a contest of merit—a 100 per cent merit—good fortunes are closely united—and the best evidence of merit is the cordial recognition of it whenever and wherever it may be found, and so we urge you to say so in a substantial way.

"The story of Investing for Profit gives a detailed account of handling the soil and making tons and tons of manure in a very practical way."

(Signed) M. J. Brown,
 Editor Oregon City Courier
 "The story, Investing for Profit, is just what the name implies: profit. The writer has not exaggerated in distorted fundamental principles of practical farming, getting results out of barnyard, field, dairy and henery. Surely the farmer that is in need of an auto can easily purchase one by his excess in crops if he heeds this advice."

(Signed) S. O. Dillman,
 A farmer, Oregon City.

Albany to Have Model Farm.

Stockholders of the Payalup & Summer Fruit Growers' association have decided to establish a ten-acre tract near Albany as a model farm for the purpose of growing such products as the cannery wants and to demonstrate the scientific care of these products.

Don't fail to read every chapter of the "Investing for Profit" story. It will help you to increase production and lower the cost of living.
