been exhumed from its rocky bed and Dr. Packard is now preparing it for addition to the Condon geological museum of the university. The bones are rather small, indicating that the creature was young, or which is more probable, that the legiathans of the miocene age were markedly smaller than those of the present day.

STATUE UNVEILED AT U. OF O.

University of Oregon. — Roswell Doach, one time member of the faculty of the school of Architecture and Allied Arts, completed a few days before he entered the military service where he met his death, a statue which he called "The New Earth."

This allegorical conception of mankind emerging, cleansed from the fires of war has been cast in bronze by the sculptor's friends on the university faculty and was unveiled in his memory last Thursday.

Leaving the university, never to return, he wrote on the day of his departure:

"The longer I stay at Oregon the more I want to stay. Each new day is an opportunity for me; a demonstration that by unselfishness and justice a human democracy can be worked out, and only on these principles.

"I feel it through every pulse of the university; therefore, I long to stay that I may take some part of it into my own being."

SCOTT HIGHLANDERS AT CHAUTAUQUA

A breath of old Scotland with its perfume of the heather will strike Chautauqua on the third day.

The Scott Highlanders are to give two prelude entertainments on that day. These folks have had much experience and are already favorably known to many of our audiences. They play, sing and entertain delightfully. In the afternoon their entertainment is a fitting introduction to an inspiring lecture by Mae Guthrie Tongier upon the wonderful accomplishments of Luther Burbank, the plant wizard.

FOSSIL FOUND AT NEWPORT

University of Oregon, Eugene.—A rare fossil, that of a miocene whale, has been found by Dr. Earl L. Packard, professor of geology at the University of Oregon. A preliminary scientific paper on the specimen was presented by Doctor Packard Thursday before the Pacific division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science which is meeting in Seattle.

The relic of prehistoric times, which was found in the cliffs along the beach at Newport, Ore., is, Dr. Packard believes, the finest specimen of fossil whale which has been found in North America. Such petrified skeletons are very rare and the extreme age of the recent find makes it of particular interest to scientific men.

Only the skull of the creature has

Six Beautiful Girls Give Two Programs at Chautauqua

ST. CECILIA SINGING ORCHESTRA

To close the Chautauqua week fittingly is a big job. Throughout the week some splendid attractions will give music and entertainment of many different kinds and will follow each other in whirlwind style. We have reserved the Singing Orchestra to wind up the 1920 program just because we are determined to close in a veritable blaze of glory. These charming girls will be presented in a short prelude on the afternoon—just a taste of what they are capable of—and then during the last evening they hold the boards for a couple of hours packed full of fun, fancy and finery; music, mirth and mimicry.

A well rounded six day Chautauqua will have something to offer every taste in the community. This Singing Orchestra of vivacious girls has a most interesting program of costumed pieces—old home songs—readings, vocal and instrumental solos, duets and ensemble numbers. You can rest assured there will not be a "draggy" minute during the last night and the management anticipates that there will be many first place votes for the St. Cecilia Singing Orchestra.
