PLANING MACHINERY MOVED TO ALBANY

Machinery Purchased by Alco Wood Products for Use in New Plant

The machinery and equipment of the planing mill on North Third street has been sold to the Alco Wood Products company of Albany and is being removed to that city where it will be installed.

The plant of the Alco Wood Products company in Albany recently burned and a new plant is being erected. It is said that the company had a number of rush contracts on hand at the time of the fire and desired to finish them as soon as possible. To that end they bought the machinery of the local plant and had hoped to operate the mill here for some time at least, and permanently if business warranted. However, they were unable to obtain lumber here at a rate that would enable them to operate, hence the removal of the machinery to Albany where they will use the planing mill machinery in conjunction with their lumber mill.

A. E. Bartlett is in charge of the shipping of the machinery, some of which has already been shipped. He expects to send out a carload next week.

Southern Pacific Continues To Place Orders for Ties

The demand for railway ties will keep up this winter, according to J. L. Bell, Albany representative of the purchasing department of the Southern Pacific.

Mr. Bell was notified today by his department of the railway that the company will continue to contract for all the ties that mills in the vicinity can turn out this fall and winter. The company contracts with the mills expire the first of September. Many of the mills, according to Mr. Bell, have not known what the demand would be after the contracts were out. The railway company will buy the ties and take delivery in the spring. The contracts have been for $25 per thousand but Mr. Bell says that he does not know what prices will be paid on the next contracts but that the Southern Pacific wants all the ties the mills in this part of the valley can cut. Since the roads have gone back to private management the roads are to be kept up better than while in government hands.—Albany Herald

Seattle School Worker Solicits Women Students

Representing the Northwest Training school of the Methodist Episcopal church, W. T. Randolph is in Springfield making an appeal to young women to take up religious work as their life service, and also to secure funds for the maintenance of the school. On Sunday night Reverend Randolph spoke from the pulpit of the Methodist church.

The Northwest Training school, located in Seattle, is an institution for the training of young women as deaconesses and missionary workers, although the chief aim is to develop a higher standard of womanhood, he explained. The school at Seattle is only one of nine such institutions in this country.

The courses offered include not only bible study, but psychology, pedagogy, domestic science and art, and first aid work, which are intended to fit the women for the social service, or missionary fields, for deaconess work, for Y. W. C. A. secretaryships, or for positions as assistants to pastors.

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS NEED NEWSPAPER AID

Average of $200 Worth to Farm
Should Find Special Market
Through Local Press

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Aug. 24.—An average of $200 worth of surplus Oregon farm produce per farm should find its way to special markets, largely in the home community through advertisements in the community press, pointed out C. J. McIntosh to the members of the state press association at Astoria, recently. "Some of this produce is allowed to go to waste," he declared, "and some of it is sold as staples in the general market when it is entitled to much higher prices as seed or livestock breeding material. For sale or 'display' ads in the home paper would find this market in the most economical way known."

It takes but three per cent of the total volume of business to carry out the advertising policy. That makes an average of $6 a year to find buyers for the $200 trade.

It was also shown that the average newspaper in this state serves 250 farms. The advertising revenue of the paper that gets this business would thus be $1500 a year.

"This would be legitimate business for the paper, because it would be doing a distinct community service," the speaker asserted. "In fact, the farmer needs the service more than the editor needs the business."

Two columns of the Newberg Graphic were exhibited, carrying 35 classified ads. The same issue carried three display farm ads. A letter from M. C. Wire & Son, large poultry breeders, was read to show that the advertising pays.

TISHER MAY BE CHARGED WITH WHITE SLAVERY

George Tisher, alias George Watson and George Tisher, and Mrs. Eva Kellog were brought to Eugene Tuesday night by Deputy Sheriff Luckey. Tisher is wanted on a charge of stealing harness from C. M. Dority of Springfield, and Mrs. Kellog is held only as a witness at the present time.

Sheriff Stickels made the statement that Tisher will be wanted by the federal court on either of two charges—white slavery or on the charge of taking a stolen automobile from one state to another. Tisher is charged with stealing an automobile from George Baumgartner at Spokane.

Mrs. Kellog, who was with Tisher, told Stickels that she believed Tisher was taking her to California for white slavery purposes. She said she was afraid of him because he had threatened her if she betrayed him to the officers. She also said that she had known him only three weeks before leaving Seattle with him. She made the statement that she had been married previously, her husband had left her, and her folks had refused to receive her in their home, and gave these reasons for leaving with Tisher.

There will be a special meeting of the Women's Auxiliary unit of Springfield Post No. 40, American Legion, at W. O. W. hall, on Friday, August 27, at 8 p. m. for the election of officers and any other business which may be legally brought before it. Please be there.

Mrs. V. McLean, Pres.
Mrs. H. B. Freeland, Sec.

Congress Cut Appropriations for Administration Over One Billion

Washington, Aug. 21.—(Special correspondence)—Total appropriations authorized by the Congress of the United States from Revolutionary days to 1917 were $25,600,000,000 according to Representative Guy U. Hardy, of Colorado. "During the 29 years preceding the war, the Government departmental estimates were reduced $500,000,000 by the house of Representatives. A rather large sum but insignificant when compared with the accomplishment of the present Congress." From 1917 to 1920 congress appropriated $47,665,000,000. Mr. Hardy asserts. Despite the fact that the armistice was signed nearly two years ago the administrative departments estimated their needs for the present year at $6,334,312,929.46. "Congress saved the people the sum of $1,474,422,692.16, by reducing these estimates to $4,859,890,327.80, for the expenses of the administration until June 30, 1921."

SPRINGFIELD LOST TO GROVE TOSSERS

Local Boys Fight Hard But
Drag In Only Two Runs
In Last Game

Springfield lost another game to Cottage Grove last Sunday, by a score of 5 to 2. The game was well played. It is possible that this may be the last of the games by the 4L aggregation for this year.

The Grove boys played air tight ball behind the stellar pitching of Sellers, and aside from his good box work did some heavy batting, getting a double, single, and reaching first on a fielder's choice, also, incidentally scoring two of their five runs. Dilage, for Springfield, connected for three hits, one a homer, getting both runs for the 4Ls. Gilbert was not in his usual good form due to the long game of last week, and the Grove, by bunting hits in the sixth inning, mixed with a few errors, was able to put the game away, and sent the boys home for their second defeat. With the exception of the fatal sixth, the game was well played, Springfield pulling off two double plays that were well executed, and missed the third by an eyelash.

That base ball is a popular past-time in Cottage Grove was well shown by the crowd which was orderly, and the umpiring of McFarland and Titus was of high order, each ump giving his decision in an impartial manner.

Springfield's team played good ball all the way through the season, having had but very little practice at the beginning of their games. In all the 4L team played fourteen games, winning nine and losing five.

Bert Snook Has Good Trip To Claresholm, Canada

The following letter has been received from Bert Snook, who accompanied by his father, S. Snook, and Harry Woolley, left several weeks ago for Canada:

Will drop a line to let you know I arrived safe, having no bad luck except to change tires a couple of times; not so bad for a 1200 mile trip, averaging 190 miles a day.

We traveled via Portland, The Dalles, Pendleton, Walla Walla, Wainwright, Wash., then on to Spokane, Sandpoint, Ida.; Kingsgate, Canada, over the Rocky mountains via Crow's Nest to Claresholm, close to where we are now located.

Talk about your trips, it was just fine. Whenever we got hungry, we would stop and cook a bite, pack up and move on.

The three of us are located on a small place of only 1000 acres, and soon as harvest is over, I expect to go to Cloan, Sask., for a short time to visit my cousin.

With best regards to the A. L. boys.
