BAKERY PUTS IN NEW EQUIPMENT

Eggmann Prepares for More Business; Has Oven of Latest Design

Eggmann's bakery resumes the baking of bread and pastry today in what is conceded as being one of the finest equipped shops in the state. Some time ago Mr. Eggmann saw the need for a greater output and as his old oven was about worn out he decided to tear out the old oven and put in new equipment. The making of bread and pastry was stopped three months ago and the work of putting in the new equipment was started.

The bakery department was remodelled and is now in a large room 40 feet square. It has ample capacity for taking care of more than the retail and wholesale trade of Springfield and vicinity.

In regard to sanitary conditions the shop has recently been painted and enameled until it is top-notch in every respect. All parts of the equipment that are handled, or that it is necessary to wash, have been enameled. The entire interior of the shop is finished in white; plenty of light has been furnished and bakers who have seen the plant have said that it is a model place in which to work.

A new oven of the Bennett continuous baking type has been purchased by Mr. Eggmann, from a Battle Creek, Mich. firm, and installed at a cost of $2093. This oven heated by gas, has a capacity for baking 360 loaves at one time. So far as is known it is the only oven of this particular kind on the Pacific coast. The oven is made of steel, with thick walls of asbestos for linings.

A mixing machine, with a capacity of 600 loaves has been added. There are also two new large bread racks and one large bun rack. An electric bread wrapping machine which makes it possible to wrap bread in a cleaner and faster way has been added. A large doughnut kettle fitted with individual furnace and a sanitary draining board is also one of the new pieces of equipment.

A luncheonette cabinet designed especially for Eggmann's is being made and will enable the bakery to serve light lunches in the best possible condition.

Candy Department Large

Mr. Eggmann's candy kitchen is a splendid large, light room. Here there are a large number of furnaces and kettles for use in making the various kinds of sweets. He has a machine with which can be made in one day, 30,000 "suckers", that variety of candy which is a delight to the heart of every kiddie. Mr. Eggmann at present has a large wholesale trade for this output.

One of the recent additions to the plant of which Mr. Eggmann is proud, is the one-ton ice machine. This does away with the necessity of keeping much ice on hand and the packing of ice cream. After the ice cream is frozen it is stored on the coils, of which there is enough space to hold 150 gallons of cream at one time.

Taken altogether Eggmann's bakery and candy kitchen is well fitted to care for the business of its territory and one that Springfield may well be proud of.

Friday evening about twenty boys between the ages of 10 and 16 gathered at the Lincoln school to organize a company of Boy Scouts. A. W. McFarland, principal of the Lincoln school, was chosen for scout master while Joe Deets was selected as assistant scout master. Both Mr. McFarland and Joe Deets have had previous experience with scout organizations. All boys in Springfield are invited to become members.

WOMAN RECOVERING FROM INJURIES IN ACCIDENT

Mrs. Charles Jack is reported to be recovering from the severe injuries which she sustained last Saturday evening when the buggy in which she and her two small daughters were riding on the road between Springfield and Hayden bridge, was overturned. A large car, bearing a California license tag and said to have been driven by W. R. Dickert of Marcola, ran into the buggy from the rear.

Mrs. Jack sustained a number of severe cuts and bruises while the children were injured less severely. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Robley of Wendling and some men assisted Mrs. Jack to the Springfield hospital. Later that evening the children were taken to their home at Camp Creek.

2700 CARS FREIGHT FROM LOCAL S. P.

2700 Carloads Leave Springfield and 9975 Carloads Are Brought In

A fairly good idea of the volume of shipping business through Springfield over the Southern Pacific lines may be gained from figures compiled by C. Olson, local agent for that company.

For the year from the first of June, 1919, to the last of May, 1920, a total of 2701 carloads of lumber, wood and miscellaneous freight were shipped from Springfield and its tributary sidings, by the Southern Pacific company's lines.

Of this number 1527 carloads were lumber, 348 carloads were wood and 116 cars were miscellaneous articles. These were loaded in Springfield yards, while the balance of the cars, or 710, came from various sidings and stations in the Springfield district.

The total number of cars of freight shipped into Springfield for the year was 9975. Of this amount 8799 cars were logs for the local plant of the Booth-Kelly mill, while 176 cars were flour, feed and miscellaneous freight.

Besides this there is a large quantity of express and freight carried between Springfield and Eugene by the street railway.

Mr. Ebert was transferred to the Springfield church last September from the Forest Grove charge. During his year's stay here he has made many friends, and is held in high esteem for his work as a pastor. Under his direction the church has grown and prospered. Only after much deliberation on the part of the bishop and by Mr. Ebert was he chosen for the evangelistic field.

STANFIELD AGAINST LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Candidate for U. S. Senate Commends Members of 4 L's for Their Work

Robert N. Stanfield, candidate for United States senator, giving a short talk before 200 employees of the Booth-Kelly mill and others gathered about yesterday evening, commended the members of the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen for their splendid work they had done during the war and in the reconstruction period.

Speaking of the league of nation question he said that he was "unalterably opposed to any league that will compel us to send our boys overseas to fight and die on one side or the other of some old European feud. American participation of any European disagreements should be voluntary and not at the dictation of some super-government. I am, however, heartily in favor of an association of all free and independent nations for the prevention of war and the maintenance of peace." Continuing he said that "when the time comes for us to take part in foreign affairs we will be found ready to do our part as we have been in the past."

Mr. Stanfield said that he stood for one class of people, true, loyal Americans.

Mr. Stanfield also impressed upon the men the importance of electing a Republican senator in Oregon. He said that the senatorial election in this state may prove pivotal, since at the present time the Republicans have a majority of but three in the senate. If there is to be a Republican administration, and he declared he was positive there would be, it is necessary that there be a Republican senator.

Before going to the mill Mr. Stanfield conferred with a number of the Springfield business men in regard to the problems of the state and local community. He gave an address in the court house at Eugene in the evening.

Ten members of the American Legion signed up as the nucleus of a band to be formed by that body, at the meeting of the Legion last Friday night. Albert Perfect was present with a three piece orchestra. Mr. Perfect will have charge of the instruction and training of the band. It is expected that several others will join later and those who have the forming of the band in charge make it known that any other members of the Legion who have not been seen are invited to join the organization.

Those signed up are: Arnold Tomseth, Carl Senseney, Levi Neet, Jess Meats, Norman Anderson, Carl Peterson, Lee Tennis, LaVerne Smith, Verdon May and H. B. Freeland.

Most of the evening was devoted to filling out applications by the men for the Victory medal which is now ready for distribution. About twenty ex-service men have applied for these medals but there are still a number who have neglected the matter. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

COUNCIL LICENSES CITY GAME ROOMS

Motors Prohibited from Turning Between Intersections of the Streets

At the regular meeting of the council Monday night, considerable attention was given the matter of providing for the sale of property recently acquired by the city by liens in lieu of delinquent taxes. Provision was made for the sale of such property.

The council voted a license of $1 per quarter on all billiard and pool rooms and bowling alleys. The old fee of $10 per year had been suspended during the war.

The section of ordinance 399 which permitted motor vehicles to turn a round between intersection of the streets was repealed, and an ordinance prohibiting motor vehicles from turning between street intersections was passed Monday night.

A resolution of thanks and appreciation for the work of John Edwards for the last five years who has served the city in turn as chief of police, street commissioner and recorder was passed.

All members of the council were in attendance and the regular monthly bills were allowed.

ELLIOTT INDICTED AT GRAND JURY SESSION

The Lane county grand jury convened at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. There is a longer and more varied assortment of cases than there has been for the past year.

An indictment was brought in by the jury Wednesday in the case of William R. Elliott who was found to have "unlawfully, feloniously and maliciously killed with a knife one Vivian Duntun." Dr. Eugene Kester, of Springfield, was one of the eleven witnesses call before the jury. Elliott is now being held in jail, the court refusing to allow him bail.

Harry Brink was found guilty of a statutory offense, involving a girl under the age of 16 years, and William Campbell and Bertha Osterhout were found jointly guilty of lewd cohabitation. In the case of John Grizzle, charged with assault and battery upon the person of John Adams, the jury returned not a true bill.

The group of four forgers indicted yesterday appeared before the court this morning for arraignment, and were given until tomorrow morning in which to decide upon their pleas.

Clyde N. Johnston, of Junction City, Republican nominee for district attorney for Lane county, has been appointed by District Attorney L. L. Ray as his deputy. He will serve from now until January 2, 1921, when Mr. Ray's term expires. Mr. Johnston's election is assured as there is no candidate opposing him. He will thus become familiar with the work before taking his office the first of the year.

Robert and Gerald Van Valsah are expected to return home Saturday to spend Sunday. They are attending North Pacific Dental college in Portland.

FARM HAS GOOD HERD HOLSTEINS

Foundation of Herd Secured from Noted Dairymen of the West

One of the most beautiful and valuable small herds of cattle in the immediate vicinity of Springfield is the eight head of registered Holsteins owned by Mr. and Mrs. Irl Stewart, who live on the old Stewart farm at the east edge of town. Here they have 88 acres under cultivation where may be seen the splendid black and white cattle.

At the head of the herd is Sir Skykomish Yucca Newman. He comes from the farm of Herman Seffin, of Monroe, Wash., who is noted as having one of the best herds of Holsteins in Washington. Sir Skykomish Yucca Newman is from a cow that produced 24 pounds of butterfat in seven days, and his granddam is Marjory Newman. For several years she held the world's record for milk production for 24 hour periods. His sire was King Newman Sadie Vale and the record of his four nearest dams averaged 33.20 pounds of butterfat in 7 days. The Eugene Bank of Commerce recently brought in a full sister to the head of Mr. Stewart's herd and sold her to the Lorane stock farm for $700.

Has Cow from Carnation Herd

One of the leading cows in the herd is Winnfred Hingreveld Cantate, 3rd, who is from the Carnation stock farm near Seattle. As a 2-year-old she made a record of 14 pounds of butterfat in seven days. This cow's half sister recently sold for $2000.

Winnfred Hingreveld Cantate was sired by Dutchland Governor Sir Calantha, of the Carnation farm, who is a sire of sixteen A. R. O. daughters. The Carnation farm also owns Carnation King Sylvia, bought by them for $106,000.

Bos Edgely Metchilde, from the Steuding herd at Santa Clara, gave 64 pounds of milk a day.

Omega Myrtle Wood DeKol, who is from the David McKenzie farm at Port Orford, Ore., is 3 years old and is giving 60 pounds of milk a day. Aora Lady Aaggie, also a 3-year-old, is from the Honeyman farm at Philomath, Ore., is also giving 60 pounds of milk a day.

Another 3-year-old, Princess Hazelwood Aaggie, is the mother of a calf, born last Friday, which weighed 105 pounds at birth. She will produce 60 pounds of milk. Princess Hazelwood Aaggie is also the mother of two other heifers in the Stewart herd. These have not yet been named. One of these is now a yearling that will weigh 1000 pounds.

One of the remarkable things about Stewart's herd is the fact that it tests 4 per cent for butterfat. The average herd test for Holsteins is 3 per cent. The average Jersey test is about 4 1/2 per cent.

Last winter Mr. Stewart milked five Holsteins and from these he cleared $40 a month per cow by selling the milk in Eugene at 30 cents a gallon.

LANE COUNTY GAINS 403 FARMS IN LAST TEN YEARS

According to figures announced by the census bureau recently, Lane county leads in Oregon in point of increase of farms since the 1910 census. The growth was from 2876 in 1920 to 3279 in 1920.

The report gives Idaho the second place in the Union rate of growth in the last ten years. Twin Falls county leads in that state with a growth from 1295 farms in 1910 to 2746 in 1920. Yakima county leads in Washington with a growth from 3341 farms in 1910 to 5755 in 1920.

The figures that the growth has been quite uniformly distributed throughout all sections of the three states.
