

THE SHUTTLE

Some paper 'gosh'—New York Sneeze
Edited by Henry L. Hunt and Lizzy McCuss

"IT WAS LIKE THIS"

On the night of Friday, the 15th, old S. H. S. once again held her big annual celebration—the freshmen reception—at which time the new fresh were initiated to our hall of knowledge. The reception was given in Morrison's hall, and all reported a good time.

The program commenced at eight thirty with Miss Derflinger as floor manager.

The freshmen were not the only ones picked on as witness the flap-jack race. Wallace Halsey, worthy senior, and Dwight Kessey, also worthy sophomore, were the victims. They were forced to flip their cakes four times into the air—turning them over as they did so. Dwight, who came out loser at the cakes.

Many other such stunts followed. Then each class was called upon to act out some song, while the auditor guessed at the name. The faculty acted out "Home Sweet Home" very effectively—we thought for a while they never would come back. Then came the seniors who acted out with fitting countenance, "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder," with president Joe Deits as "Saint Peter." The juniors chose, "Let the Rest of the World go By," sophomores, "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," and the freshmen, "There's a Long, Long Trail a Winding."

About ten o'clock the boys were given slips of paper with the name of their partner for supper written on them. They were then ushered into the dining room and served with a lunch of salad, sandwiches, Dempsey punch, and apple pie a la mode.

After supper they returned to the reception room and more games were played.

At eleven thirty everyone left for home proclaiming it the best reception ever.

Easy Going

Soph: "How many subjects are you carrying?"

Freshy: "I'm carrying one and dragging three."

Neighbor: "So your son got his B. A. and M. A.?"

Father: "Yes, but his PA still supports him."

Senior: "What time is it? I'm going to a grand party tonight, and my watch isn't going."

Freshy: "Wasn't your watch invited?"

Senior: "Yes, but it hasn't the time."

Try this. Fold a dollar bill and place it in your pocket; as you take it out you will find it in creases.

Roses are red, violets are blue—Do I like homework?—No!—do you?

The juniors held a meeting last Thursday and decided upon a class yell, motto, and song.

By these things the juniors wish to be known as the pink of the school, and cream because they are always on top.

And you can always tell a junior by his yell:

We're a bully bunch, strong and true,
Choo! Choo! Choo! Choo! Choo! Choo!
Springfield high school, our school,
Class of 'twenty-two, we're the crew.

Their motto, too,
Shall make them known to you:
Honest toil, a helping hand,
And a smiling face.

Are three winning factors
In life's long race.

And their cheerful song, as they go along, distinguishes them from the common throng:

Oh me! Oh my!
We'll get there by and by,
If any one loves our junior class,
It's me, myself and I.

LOADING THE ARK

(An allegory by J. Deke)

Henry Ozark was a dreary half asleep chap, always dreaming of the days gone by.

He was sitting on the back porch reading the Springfield News. He glanced at the weather report. It announced a storm, not a usual storm, but one of a different nature, which happens only to school pupils. Henry had been dreaming and had not noticed its rapid approach. He immediately got busy and went to his room and knocked off a few rough spots, hoping this would help in case of a storm.

He then thought about his ark. It was his first thought in three months and it struck him like a freight train would a canary bird.

Then came the task, which was to look up his worthy subjects and overhaul the "ark". It was of the latest model and so were his subjects. So he set out to grind in the spark plugs grease the carburetor, paint the hub caps, patch the top, and pump up the tires, but the biggest job of all was to clean it out.

Two days before the storm, he had started cramming his ark:

Typewriting walked in easy enough and so did manual training. He had to drag English on board and algebra refused to go at all. Algebra was big and bulky and so Henry was bitten by a "big idea". He took his "ark" to a cattle chute and with the aid of another kind friend tried to load algebra.

Algebra almost decided to go but it was dark in the ark, so he was scared. Then Mr. Ozark flashed his flashlight to show him the way but this only helped to scare him more and he ran his tusk through the wall and then the "ark" was left up for repairs.

Two hours before the cyclone Ozark tried to load friend algebra again. He just about got him aboard the ark, but he couldn't shut the door on account of algebra's tail. He completely gave up and so gave algebra a pair of water wings and tied him on behind. The storm came and the old back rolled and tossed. Ozark pulled his shoes to the floor with lots of notes but alas! Ozark was pretty neatly lost and friend algebra was swallowed by some sea gulls known as questions.

After the flood had gone Henry Ozark sat on a tack known as "think" and this bothered him not. He turned his remaining subjects loose to be forgotten and then settled down in his easy chair on the back porch with the next week's Springfield News before him to wade off into dreamland where life seems easier.

Teacher: "Why did Lincoln go back to Kentucky?"

Freshy: "He went a-courting an old maid whose husband was dead."

He: "President Wilson is said to have gone abroad on a pleasure trip, but I don't believe it."

She: "Why so?"

He: "He took his wife with him."

Soph: "M. C. left his umbrella again. I do believe he would leave his head if it were loose."

Fresh: "I dare say you're right. I heard him say he was going to Switzerland for his lungs."

Judge: "Was the prisoner sober?"

Witness: "No, sir, he was as drunk as a judge."

Judge: "You mean a lord!"

Witness: "Oh, yes, my lord."

Elbert Hubbard used to say: "The world was discovered in 1492 by Columbus."

"Man was discovered in 1776 by Jefferson."

"Woman was discovered in 1874 by Remington."

Think it over!

I've looked all over for these jokes, and listened to the "older folks".

When you read them, laugh some more.

Even if you have heard them before.

Financial Loss Due To Colds

It is estimated that the average man loses three days time each year from inability to work on account of having a cold. Much of this loss can be avoided by treating every cold as soon as the first symptoms of the disease appear. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has won a wide reputation and immense sale by its cures of this disease. Try it. You are certain to be pleased with its pleasant taste and the prompt relief which it affords.

GRIP
Grip usually starts just the same as a cold with a watery discharge from the nose. You are much more likely to contract the grip when you have a cold. For that reason when grip is prevalent you should go to bed as soon as you feel that you are making cold and stay in bed until fully recovered which should not be long if you take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Three days in bed now is better than three weeks later on.

SUMMONS
In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Lane County.
Dale J. Benjamin, plaintiff, vs. Georgia K. Benjamin, defendant.
To Georgia K. Benjamin, defendant: In the name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear in answer to the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit within six weeks from the date of the first publication of this summons, and if you fail to answer for want thereof, the plaintiff will take decree as prayed for in the complaint, dissolving the marriage contract now existing between the plaintiff and the defendant.

This summons is published by order of the Hon. G. F. Skipsworth, judge of the above entitled court, and that the said order is dated the 5th day of October, 1920, commanding this summons to be published for six (6) weeks in the Springfield News, Springfield, Oregon, and that the date of the first publication is the 7th day of October, 1920 and the date of the last publication is the 18 day of November, 1920.

VEGETABLE OIL FACTORY TO BE ERECTED IN PORTLAND

Portland, Ore., Oct. 20.—Everything is now in readiness for commencement of work on the proposed 100 ton factory of the recently incorporated Vegetable Oil Mills company. Its operation will mean the importation annually of $4,000,000 worth of raw copra and the handling of double that amount in the finished product. It will provide return cargoes for vessels carrying Oregon pine to Australia and New Zealand. Single orders for coconut oil from inland manufacturers sometimes reach the Pacific coast manufacturers and importers in such volumes as 50 tank cars of an average of 60,000 pounds per car.

That you are getting full value for your money when you use this class of tobacco.

The good, rich, real tobacco taste lasts so long, you don't need a fresh chew nearly as often—nor do you need so big a chew as you did with the ordinary kind.

Any man who has used the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.
