

The Truth About Furniture Prices

We are continually being asked if furniture has lowered in price or if it is apt to be soon—The ABSOLUTE TRUTH is that the wholesale or factory price of furniture has not lowered a cent nor does there seem much probability in the near future—This statement can be verified by the United States government report for November.—This same report states that it usually takes a year for a change in manufacturing cost to be reflected in retail prices.

Of our entire line of home furnishings, including nearly every article used around a home, the only articles on which there have been a lowered wholesale price are mattresses, bedding, window shades, draperies, sea grass furniture and floor coverings.

All these items have been marked down in our stock except floor coverings—The price of these was not definite until now.

We had continually hoped for a reduction in furniture so that you might more easily secure your Xmas furniture, but since that has not come, we have decided to do what we can by reducing everything possible in a

GREAT PRE-XMAS HOME FURNISHING SALE

OUR PLAN is to go through every department in our store and select absolutely every article which we can find the slightest reason for a reduction. Broken lines, discontinued patterns, slow sellers, regardless of price or value, will go into this sale. The old tag, marked in plain figures, will remain and a new sale tag will go on. There will be a few dressers, beds, chairs, tables, davenports, buffets, stoves, dishes, cooking utensils, in fact nearly anything you want—but only a few in each line so it will pay you to be early.

IN ADDITION The Largest Rug and Linoleum Sale in Lane County in Recent Years

Our entire line of rugs and linoleums will go on special sale—We believe this to be the finest assortment ever gathered in Lane county and we guarantee we will sell rugs and linoleums in this sale as cheap, or cheaper than they will be for the next year.

Your Teeth

(By Rea Procter McGee, M.D. D.D.S.)

SECOND STAGE OF THE DECAY OF THE TEETH

When that sharp little pain warns you that another tooth is going, it always seems "so sudden", so unreasonable sudden. The enamel is not sensitive but the dentine that forms the body of the tooth and fills all of the space between the enamel and the nerve, is full of thrills.

Where the enamel and the dentine meet, the tooth is more sensitive than at any other place except the nerve; the teeth are particularly sensitive at the margin of the gum.

As the little bacteria of decay get further into the dentine, they send out ahead along the fibres that extend from the nerve. That is why the dentist seems to do such a tremendous lot of drilling in a cavity. If he didn't go well beyond the farthest particle of decay, his filling would be a failure.

The decay spreads out underneath the enamel as the acid produced by the bacteria eats away the line that forms the hard part of the tooth. This causes the cavity to be larger usually on the inside than it is at the entrance.

Food and mucus and a remarkable line of debris collect in the cavity. An ash can has nothing on a hollow tooth. This mess decomposes and then the owner of the tooth wonders why his friends take a backward step when he talks to them.

Even at this stage the tooth may be saved without the nerve being destroyed, but it is rapidly getting to the point where long and patient treatment will be required to keep it where the Lord intended it should be.

In the mouth are more than two hundred different kinds of bacteria. Most of them thrive upon decaying food. In addition to the pain and destruction these cavities cause, they mix this poisonous mass with every bite of food and help wreck the delicate machinery of digestion.

No Collection Agency Employed By Us

A certain collection agency of Eugene is at present sending out bills for subscriptions to The News of several years ago.

We want our patrons and friends to understand that these bills are NOT for the present firm publishing The News. No collection agency or lawyer is authorized to collect for this firm. These bills are sent out for a firm which had The News several years ago and have absolutely no connection whatever with the present business.
