

THE SHEPHERD

"World Wide Circulation"

"ACCORDIN' TO"

Accordin' to all laws and by laws of the High School's natural resources somethin' very green and minute has come into existence. They are not good to look upon, and their rasping cackle which now is present at all times is exceedingly jarring to the nerves of those with which they claim recognition. Their proper development lies entirely in the hands of those upon whom they have forced their presence. The one thing which we can assure these dependents is water, and more water, clear, pure, and cold. Oh, that dogs life of a Frosh! WELCOME, FROSH.

GET ME?

This the 1st day of February, the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and twenty one. We, the Senior class did duly elect, (ah, Gosh, give me air), I say folks, we've elected an editor in chief and a business manager for the purpose of editing a High School Annual. Is that all? No, it's not by a big lot. We have appointed each officer of the student body, each member of the student body, and every student to do his or her part. Get me?

IT'S STARTED

A number of activities have been started this week at school—that's about as far as it gets—just started.

Basket ball was started some time ago but just at present it looks as though its going to finish before its time. As usual there's always some one who "crabs"—not only one but two or three but just the same there is that old "gang" with the pep, vim, and fire who aren't going to let it stop now—basket ball will close at the end of the season and not before.

A frosh reception is being planned for Friday evening. The freshmen will be welcomed in the usual way. It is always an event that will be remembered by the freshmen.

The high school vaudeville will be staged at the Bell theatre Feb. 18. Miss Derflinger is at work on the show and it is predicted to be one of the main events of the year.

The boys of the school have "stirred" up a glee club and singing will begin Sunday afternoon. No, it will be within the city limits.

"THEY DID"

Dwight Kessey is the pathetic figure about the school—not the most pathetic but one of the pathetic. He's just so pathetic that he's just pathetic. Mr. Kessey was treated to a "shampoo" some time ago by the Hon. Hawkshaw esq. and it has been just a week since he was given free of charge one "shampoo" by the green frosh. Of course it was a little out of the usual course but we will have to excuse the little ones from their childish pranks because they know no different. Mr. Kessey being kind of heart also gave them forgiveness.

By the "Gossip Hound"

Skinny and Kief has a new case on which he has placed Mr. Hawkshaw. Hawkshaw thinks he can do the trick alright. Kief says: "Say, do they allow anyone else at the reception besides high school students?" Na, they don't Vern, you're out of luck.

On the ring finger of one of our charming young ladies can be found a sparkling glass diamond, rare in its beauty, but cheap of make.

Merle Casteel is taking an interest in something else besides basket ball—it sits in the front of the room on the right side. It walks, talks and smiles at him. You know every little thing is observed like that.

Choosing class pins:—Edwena:—Well, Carrie, what are you going to get, pin or ring?"

"Pin of course, do you suppose I'd have an old class ring, my ring will be a diamond."

Some of the upper class girls are beginning to take an interest in some of the frosh boys. "Say, Kline, you didn't know that a couple of the girls have you spotted." Another is dead sure that she is going to rescue Endicott next time they try to give him a shampoo.

Misses Crystal Bryan and Mabel Humphrey have consented to take the affirmative side on the debating team.

Charlie Hutchins has carted his books back to school and says he will stay this semester.

Virgil McPherson, has Mrs. Shirley McPherson written on his note book under his name. Say Virgil, who is Shirley.

Your Teeth

(By Rea Procter McGee, M.D. D.D.S.)

FILLINGS

A filling is a repair in a tooth. There are many kinds of filling materials. Each one has some special quality that causes it to be selected for a certain cavity.

A cavity is a hole in a tooth—usually caused by caries, which is a decay of the teeth. To prepare a cavity for filling, the dentist must remove all of the tooth structure that has been invaded by decay. If a tooth could be successfully filled by simply removing the actual decayed portion and then placing the filling, the job would be a very easy one, both for the patient and the dentist.

The hard part of the tooth, you know, is composed of enamel and dentine. The dentine is similar to bone and has a great many little tubes called tubuli, running from the pulp canal in the center of the tooth to the outer surface of the dentine just inside of the enamel. The bacteria of decay work along these tubuli and go far ahead of the tooth, usually destroyed portion of the tooth. To receive a filling that will stay, this infected dentine must be cut away. Then the cavity must be given shape that will give the filling as much support as possible, that will allow the filling to protect the margins of the enamel, and that will retain the filling in the tooth.

Even a small cavity will have a much larger area of infected dentine than you would imagine. If you allow your teeth to decay until you can find the cavities yourself, the chances are that the pulp, or nerve, as it is incorrectly called, will become inflamed.

Then there is real trouble. The best filling is a small one, because if there has been very little destruction of the tooth there has been little loss of contour and strength, and most important of all, where the cavity is small the pulp is safe. Do not neglect your teeth until large fillings are necessary.

Indigestion and Constipation

"The nicest and pleasantest medicine I have used for indigestion and constipation is Chamberlain's Tablets," writes Melard F. Craig, Middle Grove, N. Y. They work like a charm and do not grip or leave any unpleasant effect.
