LEGION TRYING TO OUST ALIEN LABORERS IN STATE

Mabel Lane county, is named as one of the places in the state where aliens are employed in industrial plants while ex-service men are idle. The American Legion has made an investigation throughout the state and has found that five thousand aliens are employed at good wages while men who fought in France and their families are in want.

Twelve hundred well-to-do married women and girls are standing between penniless ex-service men and other family men and good jobs, the same officials declare.

Efforts to reverse this situation will be exerted at once, according to Charles B. Rucker, chairman of the unemployment committee of Portland post.

The committee, Rucker stated, in its endeavor to replace foreigners and well-to-do women with veterans of the war has the endorsement of Governor Olcott, Labor Commissioner Gram, State Examiner Nunn, the public service commission and other officials.

Charges that Oregon employers are giving preference to aliens was made as the result of a state-wide survey, he said. Promising further disclosures, Rucker said the survey showed the following conditions:

Portland leads the list in favoring foreigners, with mills and railroads cited as the principal offenders as to men and department stores, street railway and railroad offices leading in the employment of women.

Mabel in List

- Other cities rank in this order: Astoria, Bend, Westport, Baker, Marshfield, Algona, Mabel, Silverton, Salem, Hood River, Klamath Falls, Pendleton.

As chairman of the committee, Rucker said he would visit each employer of aliens with a request that American be given preference. Results of his visits are to be made public, he said.

Contractors Hit

According to the survey, several highway contractors are guilty of favoritism toward foreigners. Rucker also said that the industrial welfare commission has made matters more complex by issuing permits to railroads and other large employers allowing them to work women overtime, thus avoiding the employment of family men to do the work at living wages.

Lane county post, American Legion, a few weeks ago made an investigation of the matter of employing Japanese laborers at the mill and in the camps of Mabel but no definite action was taken.—Morning Register.

CORN COBS ARE DIET OF HUNGRY CHINESE

Oregon Nurse Writes That Misery Stalks Through North China.

That a steady diet of ground-up corn cobs and sweet potato vines is not conducive to an ideal physical condition is attested by Miss Marie Rustin, graduate nurse, well known in Oregon, who is now in charge of the Taylor Memorial hospital, under the management of the American Presbyterian mission at Paotingfu, China.

In a letter written by Miss Rustin less than eight weeks ago to the members of the Sangrael Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church in Portland, Miss Rustin tells of the appalling conditions throughout North China, where 45,000,000 men, women and children are confronted with starvation and where 15,000 are dying daily. Miss Rustin has been at Paotingfu for about three years and for many months past, like all other mission attaches and relief workers in China, has been concentrating all efforts on the task of lessening the suffering of the famine victims.

While Paotingfu is on the outskirts of the great drought-ridden famine district, just south of Peking, Miss Rustin writes that even there all the missions and relief stations are literally swamped with the supplications of many thousand men, women and children who are half-clad in thin rags, weak from undernourishment and struggling desperately to keep alive on roots, bark or anything that offers sustenance. The situation in the heart of the famine section, she says, is simply beyond the imagination.

"We are doing all we can," writes Miss Rustin, "here in our hospital trying to build up the weakened bodies of famine sufferers who come to us in frightful condition. We are getting patients who have been trying to live on ground-up corn cobs and sweet potato vines. We have all been asked to give until it hurts, and now that it has grown so cold we do not dare to think of freezing, starving thousands right at our door. In going to a soup kitchen where we feed 670 people twice a day, I was surrounded so by the poor creatures that I thought they would crush the life out of me before I could get in and coming out it was the same way. They are so hungry and cold they are desperate. Personally I have gone without $3 worth of milk a month that I used to use, do not eat butter at all and have only eaten bread once a day for the last three months, in order to give to the famine poor. Through this personal sacrifice I have the joy of knowing that three girls who might have been sold have been saved from a life of shame and misery and that one man will be kept alive for five months.

"A friend sent me a check the other day and I was able to save a girl from being sold and she will be put in school. Things are being started to help these poor souls, but there is a long, hard pull until the harvest time. You can all help by giving to the China famine fund and share in the great opportunities of saving life and opening the way for Christianity, for the Chinese people will surely be interested in what we have to tell them of the gospel if we are good to them now in their great trouble."

State Manager J. J. Handsaker, in charge of the executive work for Oregon for the combined China-Near East campaign, 606 Stock Exchange building, Portland, says the situation is no less serious in the near east than in China, and liberal funds must be raised for both causes if wholesale death by starvation is to be prevented, or even lessened.

The Pneumonia Month

March is a typical pneumonia month and usually gives a high rate of mortality for the disease. After a long and hard winter, the system loses much of its resistance and people grow careless. When every cold, no matter how slight, is given prompt and intelligent attention, there is much less danger of pneumonia. It should be borne in mind that pneumonia is a germ disease and breeds in the throat. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an expectorant and cleans out the germ laden mucus and not only cures a cold but prevents its resulting in pneumonia. It is pleasant to take. Children take it willingly.
