VALUE OF MINES RECOGNIZED BY LINCOLN

A few hours before Lincoln was assassinated he sent to the miners in the west the following message:

"Now that the rebellion is overthrown, and we know pretty nearly the amount of our national debt, the more gold and silver we mine we make the payment of that debt so much easier." — Abraham Lincoln, April 14, 1865.

"Now I am going to encourage that in every possible way. We shall have hundreds of thousands of disbanded soldiers, and many have feared that their return home in such great numbers might paralyze industry by furnishing, suddenly, a greater supply of labor than there will be demand for. I am going to try to attract them to the hidden wealth of our mountain ranges, where there is room enough for all. Immigration, which even the war has not stopped will land upon our shores hundreds of thousands more per year from overcrowded Europe. I intend to point them to the gold and silver that wait for them in the West.

Tell the miners for me that I shall promote their interests to the utmost of my ability; because their prosperity is the prosperity of the nation;" and said he, his eye kindling with enthusiasm, "we shall prove, in a very few years, that we are indeed the treasury of the world."

Our statesmen today would do well to ponder upon Lincoln's financial policy, and his clear conception of what constitutes money and the solid basis of finance.

PROGRESSIVE RAILROADING

The press is commending the Union Pacific systems for taking the greatest step forward in solving relations with its thousands of employes in facilitating making them stockholders.

As an investor the section hand is on par with the president.

This great organization enables any employe to purchase one or more shares of common stock at the market price and pay for it on the installment plan out of wages and get any accrued profit.

The employes stock thus secured makes them part owners.

Besides the stock holders regular dividend, the big corporation stands ready at any time to take the stock off the hands of the employe at the regular market value and without commissions.

Thus the employes become financial cooperatives with the managers.

There is no charge whatever for acting as agent for the employe and the account is kept by the railroad auditing department and employes

Corn planting time is here and since the season is rather cold it is desirable to use plenty of seed in order to get a good stand. Planting may be delayed until late May, but in that event only the very early maturing varieties should be used.

The Home of the Soul

In olden times, it was believed that the seat of the soul was the stomach, most likely for the reason that a man is never so completely used up as when his stomach is out of order. For the cure of ordinary stomach troubles, there is nothing quite so prompt and satisfactory as Chamberlain's Tablets. They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.
