SPRAY FOR ALFALFA WEEVIL

Increased Production of One-Half Ton to Acre Secured by Application of Arsenate.

The county agent leader in Utah reporting to the United States Department of Agriculture says the spray developed by the office of cereal and forage insect investigations, bureau of entomology, in the department has increased the production of the sprayed over the unsprayed alfalfa fields by an average of one-half ton to the acre. This spray is made of two to two and one-half pounds of lead arsenate or calcium arsenate to 100 gallons of water. It is applied in a fine mist with a power sprayer at the rate of 80 to 100 gallons to the acre. The state leader says 351 farms were included in the demonstration, which covered 10,113 acres. It is estimated the saving effected by this form of alfalfa control amounted to $69,907.

CRITICAL PERIOD FOR PIGS

Young Animals Will Make Market Hogs Only When Weaned Without Checking Growth.

Pigs at eight or ten weeks of age are just at the most critical period of their lives. As a rule they will make profitable market hogs only when they are weaned without checking their growth. With some kind of green forage crops and self-feeders where they can eat corn, wheat middlings and tankage they will go through the weaning period and scarcely miss the milk they are getting from the sow when she is removed.

Alfalfa Cut at Bud Stage.

Alfalfa hay cut at the bud stage of growth has superior feeding value to alfalfa hay cut at other stages of growth, according to two years' experiments performed at the Kansas station.

Making Alfalfa Hay.

The best cured alfalfa hay is that which is green, free from weathering, and with all of the leaves retained. To reach this goal, some growers used to recommend coking and capping.

Cuticura Soothes Baby Rashes.

Have No Sleeves

Gowns Without Arm Covering Most Noticeable Fashion.

THE COOL AND NIFTY FROCK

Style Applies to Majority of Garments From Bathing Suit to Outer Wrap.

Activities at country clubs and summer resorts have brought to light all of the warm weather fashions. The dresses of the summer season repeat very much the ideas of the preceding season. The materials are different, that is all.

In the trade fashion world, states a fashion correspondent, we are beginning to be confronted with styles for fall, while women have only just begun to bring out their summer clothes and while they are still feeling a trifle chilly without their outer wraps. It is a whirling world that shoves a new idea along before the old one has been exhausted, but then there is nothing so awfully new under the sun if one stops to take the trouble to dissolve it into its elements.

Perhaps the most noticeably prevalent fashion is that of the sleeveless gown. From the bathing suit to the outer wrap things are made without sleeves. Sometimes short sleeves protrude from the widened armholes and sometimes they do not. This is all governed by the occasion for which the costume is worn. But the women seem to like the sleeveless gowns and, for this reason they are eminently good and satisfactory.

They are made of finely woven jerseys, of ratines, of linen. In fact of any material that has enough body to be depended upon to keep its shape through all adversities. And this is something which women have learned in recent years—that, if they are to have wearable and satisfactory summer clothes, they will in some way manage to have the materials of the sort that will not crush. It is all right around home to wear frocks that have to visit the pressing table repeatedly, but if one has a penchant for fitting about the country or indulging in sports of any sort, then the harder and more resistant materials must be brought into play.

There are frocks and sweaters and sleeveless coats made of these heavy jerseys and flannels and knitted materials. They are of the simplest of lines, but their great attractiveness lies in the fact that they are most brilliantly colored.

FRILLY AND DAINY BLOUSE

This attractive chemise frock of Spanish influence is of white crepe de chine with heavy white fringe.

This attractive chemise frock of Spanish influence is of white crepe de chine with heavy white fringe.

HINTS ABOUT CLOTHES

Frocks of crepe de chine feature looped panels.

Armlets of ostrich are worn with evening costumes.

Mushroom-shaped hats have long ribbon streamers.

Gold latticework is effective on a frock of brown tulle.

Baroque pearls worn on a silken cord are the latest fancy.

Allover embroidery jackets are worn with plain skirts, giving a two-fabric effect.

White veiling is having a tremendous vogue and usually it is dotted with various colored chenille.

Coffure bands coming down over the forehead and fastening under the hair at the sides have been seen lately.

Lace has invaded even the realm of the purse—the outside this time! Afternoon bags, pouch shape, are often fashioned of it.

Just now there is a decided tendency toward featuring the taffeta frock in navy or black. On every hand one hears that this is to be a white summer, and judging by the alluring frocks and silken sports costumes this is apt to be true.

Many hip-length models in exclusive blouses are to be seen. Wool embroidery, bead decorations and fancy stitching in silk and chenille are the trimmings most in evidence. The tie-on blouse is still in high favor; the blouses that tuck into the skirt being generally of the lingerie order and of wash materials.

Tulle hats that are apparently hopelessly crushed and shabby may be made to appear almost as good as new by steaming over boiling water. Hold the hat as close to the steam as possible without letting the tulle become wet. Then hold a light towel around the hat for a few minutes, after which expose it to the air and it will soon dry and look fresh and crisp.

This frilly and dainty blouse is of georgette crepe with frills of lace venise, and is one of the recent warm-weather creations.

BROWN IS TO BE FALL COLOR

New Card of Tints Prescribes Various Shades From Light Buff to Deep Seal.

The Textile Color Card association, which tells just what shades to wear each season, has issued its fall color card. Once again, as befits the autumn, brown and its tones is the popular color, and it comes in tints from light buff through gold and rust to a deep seal. Purple is also used, while gray and navy blue are of course in vogue.

For evening wear shades of red such as gayety, a deep rose, poppy red and aurora, a flame shot coral; together with blues, greens and rose oranges, are all to be worn. Indeed, the colors for fall are carefully chosen, and while they are of necessity based on the seven primary tones, they have been so combined and blended that many new shades will greet us in the season to come.

It is but a short time and the August fur sales will be with us, and the comforting assurance is given that the prices will be lower than they were a year ago. Just now the fur neck piece for wear with suit or frock is smart.

Because of the popularity of gray as a garment shade all of the gray furs, squirrel, silver fox, caracul and kimmer are featured, the latter fur being used as a trimming on silk and satin summer coats.

Among the novelties for blouses are twilled rainbow silks, copied by English looms from old Roman patterns. These are severely tailored with broad shoulder line and short back. They have gusset breast pockets and are cut for high or low neck fastening with seven bullet pearl stud buttons arranged close together and reaching only to the bust line.

To Place Rugs Properly.

Rugs should not be placed cornerwise in a room. Lay straight on the floor; follow the lines of furniture and the proportion of the room.
