LOUD SPEAKERS WILL ASSIST HARDING NOV. 11
At Arlington National cemetery, Washington, D. C. The funeral oration will be delivered by President Harding. It will begin on the stroke of the body of an unknown soldier, brought from France, will be interred. The ceremonies are to be in charge of the army and the assembly of troops and civilians will be so large that comparatively few could hear the unaided voice of the president.

Bell loud speakers will be installed so that all those who are assembled may hear the president's oration and other exercises. Loud speakers will also be installed in New York, Chicago and San Francisco and the president's oration will be heard simultaneously transmitted over the long lines of the Bell system, to be heard at all four points. Every prayer and address uttered on that solemn occasion will be transmitted to these distant cities by long distance telephone wires, and then, by means of loud speakers, carried to the ears of the reverent throngs that will have gathered to pay homage to America's illustrious dead.

The loud speaking apparatus provided at all four points will be similar to that used during the Rose Festival, Portland, in June this year. By the use of this apparatus it will be possible for thousands of people to hear and in a measure participate in this interesting and solemn ceremony.

The gatherings in New York, Chicago and San Francisco will be under the auspices of the American Legion, which will arrange to conduct suitable exercises. The place of assembly in San Francisco will be the Civic auditorium. Loud speakers will be installed in the hall and also on the outside as it is expected that there will be an overflow meeting in the plaza. The work of installing is under way and will be completed for test about November 1st.

The project is one of the most important and difficult ever undertaken. Tentative applications have been received by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company from newspapers for an extension of this service to other cities under the mistaken impression that the making of such extensions would be as simple as the addition of a drop to a telegraph circuit. The installation of the necessary apparatus at each of the four points involves an expenditure of thousands of dollars. The purpose is to make it possible for a large number of people assembled at the four designated points to participate in the funeral exercises and to hear the voice of the president delivering a solemn historical oration at the grave of the unknown soldier. It will be a marvelous demonstration of great scientific accomplishment and without precedent. It is, of course, apparent that no one on the Pacific coast can participate in these exercises and hear the president's voice except those who are assembled at the Civic auditorium at San Francisco. It is not possible to extend the arrangement to any other points due to the expense for furnishing and installing the necessary loud talking apparatus.

The simultaneous transmission of the historic words that will be spoken on November 11th will mark the beginning of another epoch in the development of communication. No such impressive demonstration of the telephone's potentialities has ever been attempted. The event will not only add immeasurably to the solemnity and National significance of the ceremonies at Arlington but will call the world's attention anew to the triumphs of Bell Engineers in speeding the spoken word.

The Bell Loud Speaker is a fundamental contribution to human effort, whereby a speaker's voice, or the sound of music can, at the very moment delivered, reach distant audiences in number and size heretofore never dreamed of. Colonel Carty, who is head of the Bell Systems department of development and research which has developed the apparatus and brought it to its present high state of perfection, was recently asked by an interviewer what he considered the most important feature of the loud speaker development. "The change that it is bound to create in the art of laundry," he said in reply.

The figure 8 frowns on old-fashioned washday methods. For it is the magic figure in the 1900 Cataract Electric Washer which forces the water back and forth through the clothes, in a perfect figure 8 motion four times oftener than in the ordinary washer.

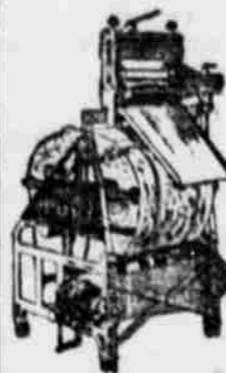

The awing wringer is reversible, and also works electrically. The copper tub hasn't one single part in it—nothing to lift out and clean after the wash is finished!

We'd be glad to deliver a 1900 Washer right to your home, and let you try it out. When you have seen what it can do, you may start paying for it on terms to suit your convenience.

Heretofore orators have been chosen largely for their loud voices, their capability to reach the ears of those at the back of the hall. We will make it possible for any ordinary man with common sense, possessing the average speaking voice, to get his thoughts into the minds of as many auditors as he may want to reach.

How Not to Take Cold

Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid over heated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming over heated and then chilled and getting feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over.

Good Health

If you would enjoy good health, keep your bowels regular. No one can reasonably hope to feel well, when constipated. When needed, take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are mild and gentle.
