NEW RED CROSS OFFICER WILL ASSIST VETERANS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—As the result of conferences between John Barton Payne, chairman of the Central committee of the American Red Cross, and Charles R. Forbes, director of the United States Veterans bureau, as to methods of strengthening the cooperation between the two organizations to meet the ever-growing problem of assisting disabled ex-service men, the Red Cross have announced the appointment of Jason S. Joy as liaison officer between the Veterans bureau and the Red Cross.

Mr. Joy, who is assistant director of domestic operations of the Red Cross, in his new position will work out, in cooperation with Mr. Forbes, a complete and definite understanding as to the scope, nature and relation of Red Cross work in the hospitals and offices of the government concerned with the welfare of disabled ex-service men.

Assistance to disabled former service men, supplement to that provided by the government, since the close of the world war, has been regarded by the Red Cross as its highest obligation. Proportionately with the growth of this problem this service of the Red Cross has expanded until today it is being maintained at a cost of $10,000,000 annually and last year resulted in assistance in one form or another to 1,500,000 veterans and their families.

THE SHOOTER

Edited by the Pupils of Springfield High School

Students from West Springfield were unable to reach school last Thursday and Friday on account of high water.

George Lusby, brother of Ruth Lusby, visited S. H. S. last Tuesday. He has just returned from Hoppper, Oregon, where he was forced to discontinue teaching on account of ill health.

A student-body meeting was held Monday at one o'clock in the auditorium for the purpose of determining whether or not the school should join the Oregon Athletic association, and to discuss appropriating a sum of money for the Armenian relief. Mabel Humphrey was also elected editor of the Tattler at this meeting.

The basketball boys battled with the Comets of Eugene, Tuesday evening for the glory of S. H. S. in the first game of the season. Although the score was in favor of the Comets, a good game was played and great things are expected from the high school boys in the future.

The Willamette Camp Fire girls entertained the high school football boys at a reception in the high school auditorium Friday evening, December 2. The time was spent with games and music until ten thirty when the guests repaired to the home of Eileen Liden where a two course luncheon was served by the girls. Those who enjoyed the hospitality of the Camp Fire were: Robert Driscoll, Belmont Russell, Ivan Cowart, Lionel Voric, Ralph Love, Marvin Spores, Winton Cole, Harold McPherson, Verle Fegala, Gerald Endicott, Elmer Sankey, Bill Powers and Merritt McPherson. Prof. and Mrs. Roth acted as chaperons.

Mr. Mason, impersonator, gave a short entertainment for the students Tuesday. Every one greatly enjoyed his humorous readings.

Now can you guess what has happened Mrs. Myers had a birthday Tuesday. Every one greatly enjoyed how old she is.

Discussing dancing: Robert D. "I'd just as soon dance with Charley Davis as any girl." Ona M. "So would I."

A little fisherman inquired what they were having—in English 5 room to make so much noise. Mrs. Myers replied, "We are having English combined with Harry Harbet."

Reports coming from the east indicate that buyers are breaking away from head-to-mouth buying and are beginning to take prunes in larger quantities.

In California practically all of the large size prunes have been sold and almost no prunes larger than 50-60s are in the hands of the California growers. As a consequence Oregon Lids nearly all of the large sized prunes which remain unsold.

All of the Italian prunes smaller than 30-40s which were in the hands of the Oregon Growers association have been cleaned up and it is expected that there will be an early clean-up of the stock on hand.

Heavy shipments have been made from the association's stock. The manager of one of the largest of the association's prune packing plants announces that a third day's run will be packing all of the prunes in the district and work is progressing rapidly in all sections of the prunes district.

"COMPOUND" TAXATION

A leading western bond house sends out its Investment Bulletin, dated November 26th, with a list of 141 American bond offerings which are exempt from all federal income taxes. Hundreds of bond houses over the land are selling similar issues of tax exempt bonds. Every city, county, state and nation itself, is issuing increasing numbers of these tax-exempt securities. It is estimated that already over $30,000,000,000 of wealth invested in this class of holdings is escaping taxation.

With billions of dollars being withdrawn from taxable investments, the tax burden climbs in proportion on the remaining taxable property.

Taxation is slowly but surely reaching the confiscation point. The efforts of our lawmakers to find new ways of taxing the people in order to raise revenue would bring better results if they would exert themselves to change our laws so that the billions of wealth now going into tax-exempt securities could not find this loophole for further investments to escape taxation.

Our laws should be amended so that tax-exempt securities would be a thing of the past.

HELPING OURSELVES

When will the western copper mines reopen? They will open when business again justifies. If we sit still and suck our thumbs, it will take business longer to revive.

One way that the people can help in the re-opening of our copper mines and the employment of tens of thousands of workmen, is by taking an interest in products manufactured from copper. We live in the heart of a copper producing country and yet we manufacture but a minus quantity of copper articles, while the field for the use of copper is almost unlimited.

As an illustration, what material will make a better road sign than a sheet of copper? It would last for ever and would not have to be replaced every few years as do the present painted metal signs. Why not use our own ingenuity and revive our lagging industries instead of waiting for Europe or some bankrupt foreign country to come to our rescue with orders?

The road sign is merely one of the thousand uses that can be cited for copper.

STATE AND FEDERAL BANKING

The propaganda to increase rates of interest in postal savings banks is regarded as the entering wedge for extending state and federal banks. This is undoubtedly the program of state socialism to remove limits from

BREAKING A $5.00 BILL

To the average person is about the same as bidding it goodbye.

One often wonders just where the odd change does go—there to be hidden remains—any real value received. Thinking on this subject led one man to devise a system for saving his small change. He found that so small a sum as a dime increased by a year amount to about $127.50.

amounts that may be deposited and allow loans to be made.

Postmaster General Hayes has caught the socialistic microbe and asks for laws to put the postoffice into the banking and money lending trade. Every postmaster would automatically be made a banker over night and the postoffice department would get a commission on every loan made.

Hayes already refers to the "opposition of certain savings banks to any changes" and pretends to array the "interests of the people" against the money interests back of the banking business.

When was political banking in any country anything but a lure and pitfall for the masses of the people?
