

Regular meeting tomorrow night, at W. O. W. hall.

A meeting of the state executive committee of the American Legion will be held in Portland on March 4. The meeting will call in George A. Coddington, of Medford, vice-commander; a national executive committeeman, Geo. A. White, of Salem, B. F. Pound, of Salem; Fred Kiddle of La Grande; Geo. R. Wilbur, of Hood River; Oliver B. Huston, of Portland; executive committeemen and Rev. Frank James, chaplain; and Prescott W. Cookingham, of Portland, department finance officer.

Twelve majors, five naval commanders, 27 captains, and nearly 100 lieutenants have applied for jobs at American Legion employment headquarters in New York since September.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the Alfred E. Babcock Post No. 10 of Albany, Oregon, and its women's auxiliary, will purchase the

Found a Cure for Indigestion

"I use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for indigestion and find they suit my case better than any dyspepsia remedy I have ever tried and I have used many different medicines. I am nearly fifty years of age and have suffered a great deal from indigestion. I can eat almost anything I want to, now," writes George W. Emory, Rock Mills, Al. These tablets contain no pepsin but strengthen the stomach and enable it to digest the food naturally.

structure in Albany which is now used as a community house. The building will be headquarters for the legion and its activities but will continue to be the city's community house also. Other organizations will continue to maintain their headquarters there.

Calapooia Legion post of Brownsville has purchased a big plot of ground in the heart of the city upon which to erect a building. It is planned to start building operations this summer and have the building ready for occupancy before winter. A gymnasium and reading room will also be installed. The post has now under consideration plans for the formation of an athletic club.

Possessing all the requisites for a dance except music, American Legion men in Lincoln, Nebraska, called on an ex-gob for help. He rigged up a radio-phonograph and tuned in on an orchestra 1000 miles away.

A new post of the American Legion has been admitted to the ranks, in the approval of charter for Echo, making the 110th in the state. The post was named after Don Hoffnagle, an Echo veteran who lost his life in France. Eighteen veterans signed the application for charter.

The American Legion of Oregon is endeavoring to locate Earl Norman Franklin and Roy Bishop, both veterans of the world war. Bishop enlisted in Portland and was wounded in France on Armistice day and discharged at Camp Lewis in June 1918. The families of these men are anxious to learn their whereabouts.

The cross of the Commander of the Legion of Honor, the highest decoration within the power of France to give, will soon be bestowed upon the national commander, Hanford McNider, of the American Legion, according to advices received from Marshal Foch. McNider who hails from Mason City, Iowa, recently refused an appointment to the United States senate to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Senator Kenyon of that state.

Trip to Hawaii for *an Cents
The High school will be favored with slides Wednesday afternoon at the High school building.

The pictures are all Hawaiian scenes and, it is said, are very interesting.

These pictures have been given in different places in the United States and Springfield is fortunate in having them given here.

Student Body Meeting

The first student body meeting in which the pupils showed very much interest was held at noon Friday. They were asked to decide upon a school tax and after quite a discussion the meeting was adjourned until afternoon, when the tax was voted upon. The dollar tax won by quite a majority.

It is hard to understand why a student will go to school and be content to have grades below seventy. In some cases this can be accounted for because it is evident that they have come to high school unprepared for a high grade of work.

They would not think of spending time in a work shop without receiving pay for it, nor could they expect first class pay unless they did first class work, but in school it seems that some students expect first class grades regardless of the character of their work; some students spend no time studying but spend the greater part of the nights having a good time, which puts them out of condition for school work.

Asabel Fish returned to school Monday after an absence of several weeks. We were glad to see him with us again.

The boys cooking class met yesterday for the first time this semester. Miss Williamson hasn't been feeling well since tasting their first cooking.

We were glad to welcome Maude Edmondson back to school again after a long siege of illness.

The gym class went on a hike last Monday night. We had a good time as there were no rules to follow about what way to set your foot or bend your head. Some of the pickers "fudged" on us and went home.

Paul Dillard is back to school this week. He has been ill with the flu. Monsieur McFadden et Agnes C.

GARDEN NOTES

Like every other piece of work which it is desired to make successful, a garden should be definitely planned before planting is started. The garden plan should be made with a view to avoid certain common troubles and to securing special advantages.

Professor Thorner of the Washington state college in a chapter which he wrote for the Crop book is sensible bien bon amies. Better look out Ruth.

Tom B. has resigned his position in "My Irish Rose" and Wayne F. has taken his role. I guess Tom thought he would be too popular with the girls and every one knows how he hates them.

We wonder what would happen if Carl Lewis would stop talking to the girls?

Now that baseball has started, what would Voris do if he hurt his arm?

Jay Grant has to sit by the girls in English. Mrs. Myers thinks she is punishing him but she only lets him have a good time.

Poor Chick, Abbie has gone east for a couple of weeks.

Algebra II class had a visit Tuesday morning. We all wondered who she was. When we found out it wasn't quite so important. Only another school "marm".

If certain persons would postpone some of their mid-night affairs until the end of the week maybe they would not be late for the first period classes.

We wish Ellen T. would send her tweezers around the room, we know lots of people who have heavy eye brows.

Wow! The worst is yet to come! There will be an exam in English I this week for those who failed in the semester examination.

Elleen in dramatics to Ralph C. "Ralph you're slow. Why didn't you have your arm in place in time?" We wonder where "in place" is?

Died, at the end of the first semester, at his home in the High school gymnasium, the interest in Basketball. His age was one semester. Baseball will probably fill the place left vacant.

Miss Williamson remarked in class that so many people connected her with Mac in their news notes.

Bright Student: "Just so the minister doesn't connect you."

The would be baseball pitchers of H. S. are putting in some good hours of practice.

sued by Lilly's Seattle, makes the following suggestions:

Your plan should be arranged in such a way as to avoid the following troubles:

So that tall vegetables will not shade dwarf vegetables.

So that plants will not crowd one another and make cultivation or hoeing impossible.

So that the slope makes it impossible to irrigate easily.

The plan should be arranged so that the following advantages can be secured.

So that you can transplant late vegetables like tomatoes, cabbage or celery on land that has previously produced an early crop of radishes, lettuce or peas.

Plant peas in double rows so that one row will support another.

If you grow cantaloupes, cucumbers or squash, provide room for the vines. This land, however, can be used early in the spring for early crops.

In deciding what garden crops it is best to produce, it is well to consider what the land is best suited to raise and what will bring the best market prices. It is always an excellent plan to grow a crop that can be marketed in two or more ways. Tomatoes, for instance, can be marketed as fresh fruit, sold to a cannery if one is nearby or can be canned at home and sold in the can.

It is not generally advisable to attempt to grow and profitably market novelty crops like mushrooms, herbs or similar crops although there may at any time be good money in sage, horseradish or winter rhubarb. All these problems should be studied carefully before planting the garden.

FARM REMINDERS

A small egg hatched may produce a large pullet but she in turn may lay nothing but small eggs. Select the two ounce eggs for hatching, as that is the size the market demands.—O. A. C. experiment station.

Turn Under Diseased Leaves
Where apple scab, pear scab, brown rot, and leaf spot of prune or cherries have been troublesome, or where the leaf spot of currants or gooseberries is bad, the dead leaves should be turned under before the winter buds begin to open. The first infections arise from this source every spring and distinct benefit is derived from the practice mentioned, except where an orchard is surrounded by other orchards where no such precautions are taken.—O. A. C. experiment station.

Greet Squirrels With Poison

Warm weather of spring is bringing out the squirrels and field mice and they are beginning to damage young orchard trees already. These rodents should be poisoned without delay as every one killed now is equivalent to a dozen or more later in the season. If necessary the state law should be invoked to compel neighbors to help rid the community of these pests.

Apply Lime Early

Spring applications of lime should be made as soon as the soil is dry enough to crumble and disperse it through the soil. The lime may be harrowed after plowing. On land that is drained or on hill land where legumes are to be grown, one to two tons per acre should be applied, depending on the degree of acidity.—O. A. C. experiment station.

"WITH STANLEY IN AFRICA"

Every history and text book in the Los Angeles library was scanned diligently during the preparation of the production for "With Stanley in Africa", the Universal chapter play which comes to the Bell Theatre on Wednesday, March 8, and which records in accurate detail the trials, hardships and misfortunes of the historical explorations which took so many brilliant men into the wilds and mysteries of the Dark Continent in 1871. But skillfully interwoven with the acts of history is the always necessary thread of love and romance.

Though the famous expedition followed close on the heels of the reconstruction period of the Civil war and much valuable detail was lost to history because it was overshadowed by this epochal event, no effort and expense have been spared to gain all the facts of the expedition.

It is interesting to note that while Henry M. Stanley and Dr. David Livingstone were the names historians remembered, James Gordon Bennett, who was in 1871 editor of the New York Herald, was responsible for the famous expedition. Bennett originated the idea and furnished the money.

for the expedition, and but for him the entire exploration heralded so sensationally by historians might never have been. At the time of the expedition Bennett was one of the best known newspaper men of America.

Under the direction of Edward Kuhl a cast of exceptional merit was chosen to portray the various roles of this vital serial. George Walsh, the featured player, in addition to his histrionic ability, is an athlete of great skill and performs some wonderfully clever stunts and tricks. Walsh is ably supported by the winsomely attractive Louise Loraine.

PLACE BRAKES ON S. P. BAGGAGE TRUCKS

The Southern Pacific company is equipping its four-wheel baggage trucks with automatic wheel brakes, as a safety first measure. The brake is intended to prevent baggage trucks rolling away when left on inclined platforms, and blowing onto tracks. The wheels of the new trucks become locked when a downward pressure is exerted on the truck tongue.

The new brake was first tried out at the Third street station, San Francisco.
