

A report on unemployment conditions in Oregon sent to Lemuel Boles national adjutant of the American Legion by Harry N. Nelson, adjutant of the Oregon department, discloses the fact that there are 2100 men registered with the Legion employment bureau in Portland, 900 of them badly in need of work and practically half of those registered either married or have dependents. "It is a crying shame", reads adjutant Nelson's report, "that some two thousand veterans of the world war are out of employment in the city of Portland alone.

Hurculean efforts are being made by the American Legion with the opening of its nation-wide drive to provide "short time" and permanent jobs for its buddies. Local posts all over Oregon are cooperating with civic and fraternal organizations, business men and others to provide employment for the world war veterans. Local posts learning of positions open in the communities are urgently asked to communicate with State headquarters of the legion, in order that many men registered with the legion employment bureau can be sent out of town on positions.

Posts have been asked to make a survey of the unemployed in their district; cooperate with the local organizations; devise ways and means for finding employment for those who have no trade; get the cooperation of the labor unions; county officials and other public officials and bend every ounce of energy to help their most unfortunate comrades.

Appeals have been sent to employers throughout the state to take on additional help, and cities have been asked to inaugurate clean-up and paint up campaigns.

Fourteen states already have refused financial assistance to the move for a George Washington and World War memorial building in Washington D. C., and 16 other states will follow suit, according to the American legislative committee. The legion opposes construction of the elaborate memorial at a time when thousands of ex-service men are jobless and in need.

The American Legion, of Ludlow, Vt., has made official report of the prowess of John Sheehan, overseas doughboy, who strangled to death a wildcat with his bare hands. Sheehan, wounded four times by the bobcat, was rewarded with an $8 bounty. The soldier and the beast came to blows in a remote mountain pass.

A badly decomposed body on the banks of the Cumberland river near Nashville, Tenn., was given a military burial by the American Legion when searchers found a legion button and membership card in the clothing.

Nine communities in each state will receive certificates of merit for exceptional work in providing employment for ex-service men from Hanford MacNider, commander of the American Legion. The awards will follow the legion campaign for jobs culminating in the legion employment day, March 20th.

April 2, the first Sunday in April, has been designated by the American Legion of Oregon as Legion Sunday.

Each post has been requested by the department commander, Godell, to urge its membership to attend church on that day.

On this day the plan is for each post of the Legion to attend one of the local churches in commemoration of this important event and to show respect to the sacred memory of their honored dead. "Boost the American Legion—go to church on Memorial Sunday", reads the proclamation from Rev. Frank James, of Dallas, Oregon, chaplain of the Oregon legion.

For the last two years it has been the custom of the national department of the legion to decorate the graves of those who fell in the world conflict and all posts of the legion will send in contributions through their state headquarters to the legion fund. While thousands of communities throughout this country will honor the soldier dead, it is the distant graves in England, France, Italy and Russia that are the legion's peculiar care, reads the communication from legion national headquarters.

Committees established in England and France will have charge of decorating the graves of the fallen through committees of American legion posts in foreign countries.

The legion will be glad to offer its assistance to decorate the graves of those in America who cherish some grave overseas but cannot attend the tribute in person. Funds for this purpose should be sent direct to American Legion National Headquarters, Meridian Life Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind., together with information on the name of the dead; rank and organization, army serial number, grave number, lot number, name and location of cemetery and date of death. Full particulars are in the hands of post officials of the legion posts.

COW GIVES 35 TONS MILK IN 7 YEARS S*EADY RUN

Willowmoor White Pride" is a pretty big name for a cow, but the O. A. C. station Ayrshire of that name seems to be doing her best to deserve it.

In 7 years she has produced 8180 gallons of milk—enough to fill the swimming tank at Shepard hall. If a man had credit with his local milkman for that amount he could draw a quart of milk twice a day for 45 years and never get a milk bill.

The edible solids in the 35 tons of milk she gave are equal to the edible solids of 30 fat steers averaging 1250 pounds each. And for good measure Willowmoor produced 7 heifer calves in the same seven years, each of which says P. M. Brand, head of the station dairy department, is capable of duplicating her mother's record—except possibly the heifer calf production.

We students of Springfield High welcome Abbie Cooley back to the old "Hall of knowledge". We were very glad to see her smiling face in the school room once more.

Lowel Noble was a visitor in general science class Monday.

The Editor's Troubles

Most any person can be an editor. All they have to do is to sit at their desk six days a week, four weeks in a month and twelve months in a year and edit such stuff as this:

Ona Mulligan let a can-opener slip last week and cut her in the pantry. Ralph Love climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, landing on his back porch. While Lindel Gardiner was escorting Carrie Mathews from the church social last Sunday night a savage dog attacked them and bit Lindel on the public square. Ralph Cline, while harnessing a broncho last Saturday, was kicked just south of his corn crib.

Loren Edmiston: "I'm very dependent over my literary outlook."

"Why so?"
Loren: "I sent my best poem to the editor of the Guard, entitled, 'Why do I Live?' and he wrote back, 'Because you didn't bring this in person.'"

Pantology

Mac, in biology: "When you examine a dog's lungs under the microscope, what do you find?"
Graydon: "The seat of his pants, I suppose."

Misunderstood

"Will you let me," said the student as he quickly doffed his cap—
Handed him an awful slap.
And the student's face was crimson
As he stood before the lass
But he finished out his sentence,
"Will you kindly let me pass?"

First Flea (on Post Toastle box): "What's your hurry?"

Second flea: "Well, don't you see that sign 'Tear along this line'?"

Mrs. Carpenter, in geometry II: "Kenneth, what is a polygon?"
Kenneth B.: "A dead parrot."

Better be careful May, about the headings of your letters that you write in general science class. Some of the boys might get jealous.

Mabel, pointing to 1923: "That is when we graduate"

Ona: "It sounds a long way off in Spanish." (MI) novecientos veinte y tres).

Lionel V.: "Hey Ellen, got my Henrietta?"
Ellen T.: "No, whatcha think I am."

M. B.: "Say Dot, why are you so down hearted this week?"
D. G.: "He didn't come home this protection is needed while the buds are swelling but before they burst open, says the experiment station reports.

Protection of apples and pears against San Jose scale, blister mite and red spider mites is had by use of lime-sulfur 12-100 as a dormant spray. For scale or for leaf roller of apples, miscible oil 8-100 is recommended.

Delayed dormant spray time follows quickly on the heels of the dormant, especially in sudden bursts of good weather. When the cluster buds are separating just enough to expose the blossom buds is the time for this spray as per station reports. Lime sulfur three and one-half to one hundred is the material. For aphids on apples add nicotine sulfate three-fourths pound to 100 gallons of spray solution.

For scale, red spider mites and twig miner of prunes and plums the dormant spray—just as the buds are opening—is lime-sulfur 12-100.

ANOTHER CHANGE IN MEAT MARKET FIRM

F. O. Bennet has purchased the interest of his partner, J. E. Stewart, in the meat market at the corner of Fifth and Main streets, heretofore known as Stewart & Bennet's meat market. Mr. Bennet is now sole proprietor. His son, F. O., junior will assist him as before. The deal took place Monday. We have not learned anything of Mr. Stewart's plans.

The faculty of the university has recently authorized the granting of the degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of science in journalism.

An illustrated lecture on the cities of the United States with a population of more than 100,000 is being prepared by the department of visual instruction of the extension division of the university. Color-1 stereopticon lantern slides, 70 odd in number, are being furnished by the chambers of commerce of the different cities. The slides will be lent free to the schools and communities of Oregon.

The next issue of "Oregon Exchanges", which will be out near the first of April, will contain an article on the Oregon High School Press association, giving the constitution, the names of the officers and a complete list of annuals, magazines, newspapers and school notes in local papers published by the schools of the state. This will be a valuable reference alike for newspapermen, school men and students, as no attempt has ever been made previously to list all the Oregon high school publications. The High School Press association will hold its second annual meeting April 14 and 15 at the school of journalism.

The Trees planted on the campus of the university by the early graduating classes, include: Port Orford cedar,

Oregon fir, larch spruce, English cedar, California redwood, Indian myrtle, arbor vitae, black walnut and oak. The campus has an elm tree grown from a slip taken from the famous elm at Washington's tomb at Mt. Vernon.

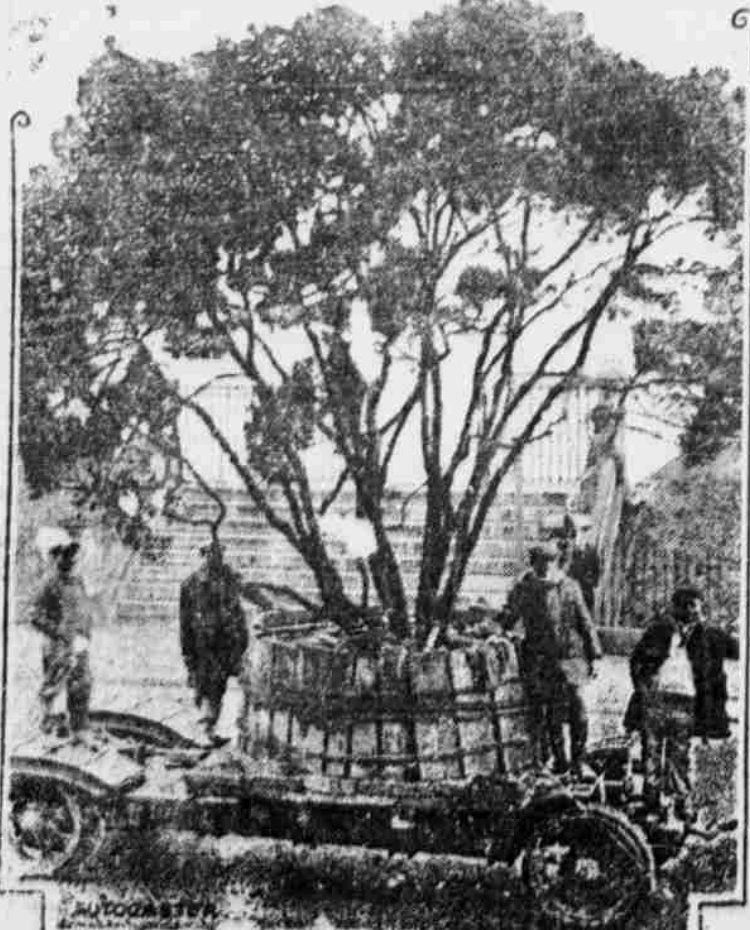

Found a Cure for Indigestion

"I use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for indigestion and find they suit my case better than any dyspepsia remedy I have ever tried and I have used many different medicines. I am nearly fifty one years of age and have suffered a great deal from indigestion I can eat almost anything I want to, now," writes George W. Emory, Rock Mills, Ar. These tablets contain no poison but strengthen the stomach and enable it to digest the food naturally.

Excellent Remedy for Constipation

It would be hard to find a better remedy for constipation than Chamberlain's Tablets. They are easy to take and mild and gentle in effect. Give them a trial when you have need.

Famous Tree Moves To Sacred Ground

If Daniel Webster, famous American statesman, should return to Washington looking for the shade tree under which he rested at his home there, he might be surprised to find it growing in a beautiful spot in another part of town. The tree, as shown in the picture, has been moved over to the Lincoln Memorial grounds by transportation and given prominent place.
