

TOWN AND VICINITY

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Weddle went up to Foley Springs, Monday, for a season of two weeks or more. Their daughter Elsie went up with them, to see them comfortably established. Prof. C. E. Lambert is arranging to conduct a special term of school from August 7 to September 8, at the Edgemoor school, for the benefit of those pupils in the 7th and 8th grades who failed to pass. Those interested should see Prof. Lambert at once.

The three-shift schedule at the Booth-Kelly plant was put in effect during Wednesday and Wednesday night last week. The News was printed Thursday. Our guess as to the number of men employed at that time was probably under rather than over the fact. The number employed in all departments last Monday was 384. Some parts of the work are not fully manned yet.

Mrs. Chester E. Archer, who lives near South 2nd street, and has been employed at the laundry, was taken with severe sickness last Friday night but is up and about now.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Korf and Mrs. J. A. Schlitz, sister of Mrs. Korf, and her two children, and Mrs. McGowan, mother of Mrs. Korf, left Wednesday morning for Yacons where they will spend the week-end.

KEEP THE ISSUE CLEAR

coming weary beyond endurance of having the industries and business of the country paralyzed by a continual succession of strikes, all professing to be undertaken in the interest of justice, but all involving, in the end, a vast amount of injustice and damage to a great many worthy people not directly interested in the occasion of the strike.

Stabilizing the industries of the country is one of the great needs of the time. Any kind of a strike works in the opposite direction. The law creating the railroad labor board seemed one of the most promising efforts in the direction of stabilization. It ought to be given a fair trial, and if it can be improved upon let that be done, as with any other piece of legislation. But while it is the law, let every one who wishes to be regarded as a law-abiding citizen obey it and encourage everyone else to do so.

keep friction
where it belongs

Friction consumes power and develops heat and wear.

Sometimes friction is utilized. In the automobile the friction of the clutch transmits the power of the engine to the rear or driving wheels, the friction of the tires and the road surface propels the machine, and the friction of the brakes stops the car. Friction should be confined to the parts named (the clutch, the tires and the brakes), if possible.

Lubricating oil used in the automobile to prevent friction between all moving parts in direct contact has friction within itself. This friction has to be overcome by and uses up engine power. The heavier the oil the more its internal friction, the less power it leaves for useful work.

Increasing Power, Speed and Gasoline Mileage

It may be proved that as much as 20% of the power at the driving wheels may be lost through the use of an incorrect oil.

The ideal oil is the thinnest oil which will keep the bearing surfaces separated and at the same time offer in itself the least frictional resistance to the engine power going to the driving wheels.

In addition, this oil must have stability to resist engine heat, and it must be pure.

Zerolene meets the conditions perfectly. Made from selected crudes by our own patented high-vacuum process, it has great "oiliness," which causes it to cling to bearing surfaces while offering in itself a minimum of frictional resistance to the engine power; it has great stability to resist engine heat, and it is pure.

Zerolene reduces friction, and permits the development of the maximum power, speed and gasoline mileage of the car.
