Notwithstanding the rain which cut the attendance and marred the interest during part of the season, the state fair paid a profit.

About 15,000 veterans of the civil war attended the national reunion of the Grand Army of the Republic, at Des Moines, Iowa, the last week in September.

FIGURES TALK

AND one thing they say is that bank deposits in hard times are larger than in prosperous times. Sounds queer, but in this case at least, figures don't lie.

Always a period of depression follows one of easy money, and with it comes repentance for the way in which money was wasted. And so people make a big effort to save, knowing what a little more money would mean to them right now.

The moral: open a "Nationalized" Savings Account now.
