KEEP THE BARS UP

Will the new congress be confronted with the question of revising the present immigration law as one of its most vital and important problems? Should the bars be let down?

Under the act in question, the quota of immigrants from any foreign country, is fixed at three per cent of the total number of that particular nationality resident in the United States as shown by the census of 1910.

According to many of our well known newspapers and magazines, an effort will be made to amend the law; but as to whether it should be amended, they are divided. Taking the Mining Journal and the New York Journal of Commerce as typical examples for loosening the restrictions, we find them setting forth the argument that the mining interests, manufacturers and other employers of a large amount of unskilled labor, are already suffering because of the ban on immigration and that with a period of prosperity "just around the corner," there will not be sufficient unskilled labor in the country to meet the demands of increased production.

On the other hand, the Neptune Log (New York) and the Cincinnati Times-Star argue that it is not a shortage of unskilled labor, but a desire to have a large surplus of labor at his command to take work at any price, that is making "the employer of a certain type" broadcast his "sob stuff" and propaganda as well as maintain lobbyists to bully politicians, whenever possible, into using their influence to see that the bars are lowered.

Considered as a whole, most of these arguments take a stand with capital or with labor, and it seems as if the whole question were to be decided on this issue. There is, however, an argument for the negative, dealing not with any special faction, industrial, political or otherwise, but with the welfare of the nation as a whole, which is one of the strongest and should form the first line of defense. This argument is, that with its faults, which are few, the present bill has kept, at least to a great extent, an undesirable foreign element from setting foot upon our shores.

With the image of an Emma Goldman and a Bill Haywood before us, it seems as if every American, most of all those who have sons and daughters, should fight this movement to flood the country with a more or less undesirable foreign element, and thus carry on the work, started by the Americans who have passed before us, of making this country, "a safe place to live in."

The News wishes to announce that, beginning with this issue, D. E. Lyons, a student of the University School of Journalism, has been employed as a member of the News staff. Lyons has served two years on the Emerald staff, at the University, and had some experience as a member of the news staffs of several of the smaller papers in the state.

Mrs. Robert Arnold, of Shedd, was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs.

Fred Hinson from Saturday afternoon until Monday, having stopped off on the way home from Southern Oregon, where she had been visiting the past week. Her daughter, Mrs. Del Hinson accompanied her home and after a few days visit there will return to Portland, where Mr. Hinson is employed.

Mrs. Chas. Sylvester and small son Leslie are here from Portland for an indefinite stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Huntly, on south 2nd street. Mrs. Huntly has been confined to her home for some ten weeks on account of a bad knee, caused by a fall several years ago.

You don't have to go to war to be a patriot. Improve your locality, uphold your town, enlarge the inter ests, and lend a helping hand to help your neighbors, and you are a patriot. We are here for that purpose, and we pass this way but once. We are here to build up and not to tear down. We are partners in this life work and not opponents. The more united, the more helpful we are, the better it will be for all.—Wilton Herald.

THURSTON NOTES

There were several from Thurston who went to Corvallis last Saturday to attend the foot ball game.

Rev. Harry Benton is conducting a revival meeting. Rev. Childers will assist him from Friday evening on.

The Grangers met at the High school last Saturday. During their meeting, they passed a resolution asking County Superintendent Moore to call a meeting having representatives of every rural high school in the county to meet with the state legislators to talk over the need of the rural high school. Frank Taylor went to Eugene Monday as a representative of the grange to consult Mr. Moore, and it was decided to call a meeting on December 9, in Eugene, at Mr. Moore's office.

Mrs. Pres. Cobb went to Eugene Monday and had some dental work done.

Mrs. J. H. Brown who had a paralytic stroke last fall was moved to Springfield Monday, where she will receive electric treatments.

Mrs. Jones' father and brother, Messrs. Crame, of Scio, are visiting here.

Ted George, who has spent the summer at Veneta, has returned to his home here.

Mrs. Olive Taylor's brother and family, of Washington, arrived Monday for an extended visit.

The parent-teacher's meeting was held last Friday afternoon. Officers were elected for the coming year as follows: Mrs. Roberta Baugh, president; Mrs. Sadie Platt, secretary; Miss Travis, treasurer.

Miss Mildred Price, who is teaching at Leaburg, spent the week-end at her home here.

Mrs. Bert Weaver, who is teaching at Yarnell, spent the week-end at Thurston.

Pres Cobb has rented the John Nee place and is moving on it.

COMMUNICATIONS

About 100 people from Springfield and Eugene attended the Dr. Price meetings at Albany last Sunday. Dr. Price spoke from Jer. 18, and in this talk settled the question as to his teachings as to the second work of grace, taking the old clay full of rocks (sin habits), taking them out, leaving the clay cleansed from the rocks (sin) then moulding the vessel, second work, yet not ready for use because it has not been tempered with fire, but must first go into the oven, then it comes out a finished vessel, shining and ready for use—type of the baptism as in Acts 2 and Luke 3:16.

Last Friday night Mrs. Pat Higans, was prayed for and healed of tumorous cancer. People are finding God, and when they get hold of the healer they are healed. One blind man was healed instantly.

If you have sick relatives or friends don't put it off until after the meetings are over, then kick yourself for not taking advantage of the meetings.

It is not whiskey, pool halls and shows that some people make so much fuss against that is damning the world. But I truly believe if Jesus were here he would point his finger right at us church members and tell us that it has been our unbelief that has damned the world today, for not believing His word and living it 7 days in the week. Our power with God is unlimited if we have faith, believe, obey and do.

Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid over heated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming over heated and then chilled and getting wet feet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with out delay and it is soon over.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

Notice is hereby given that Jessie Nesbitt, administratrix of the estate of Henry Nesbitt, deceased, has rendered and filed in the County Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Lane her final account as such administratrix and that by order of said Court, Saturday the 16th day of December, 1922 at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon at the County Court room in the Court house at Eugene, Oregon, has been fixed and appointed as the day, time and place for hearing objections to said final account and the settlement thereof. All objections to said final account must be in writing and filed with the clerk of said court on or before said day and time.

Dated this day of November, 1922.

JESSIE NESBITT, Administratrix of the estate of Henry Nesbitt, deceased. Date of first publication Nov. 16, 1922. Date of last publication, Dec. 14, 1922.

A Timely Suggestion
This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug.
