TOWN AND VICINITY

CROWDED OUT FEB. 8.

Mrs. Grace K. May was called to Brownsville early Sunday morning by the death of her niece, Mary Annette Beals, second daughter of Wm. M. and Julia Kirkland Beals. The little girl was only seriously ill a few hours, death being caused by pneumonia. Funeral services were held Tuesday at Shedd where the family had recently lived. The burial was at Crystal Lake cemetery at Corvallis. Had she lived until Feb. 9, she would have been 8 years old. Mrs. May returned home Tuesday evening.

Mrs. O. H. Jarrett entertained the Needlecraft club at her home on 2nd and B streets Thursday afternoon February 1. The afternoon was spent with fancy work and visiting.

DIRECTIONS FOR INCOME TAX PAYERS

For the purpose of assisting taxpayers of Lane county in making out their income tax return for 1922, Deputy Collectors Earle, Rockwell, Hewitt and Colvig, of the Internal Revenue office, will be at Florence on February 26 and 27, Mapleton from February 28 to March 1 inclusive, Eugene, March 2 to March 15 and in Cottage Grove on March 9 and 10, according to Clyde M. Huntley, collector of internal revenue.

Blanks for the use of individual taxpayers in making out their income tax returns for the year 1922 have been mailed by Collector Huntley, to every taxpayer who filed a return for the year 1921. These returns must be made out and filed in the collectors office not later than March 15. Each return must be accompanied by a payment of at least one fourth of the amount of the tax or, at the option of the taxpayer, the entire amount may be paid at the time of filing, although the government urges payment of the tax in full on or before March 15. Where the taxpayer pays only one fourth of his tax when he files his return, he has the privilege of paying the balance in three equal installments on June 15, September 15 and December 15, respectively. Returns must be filed by the following persons:

Every individual who had a net income of $1000 or more, is single, or if married and not living with husband or wife.

Every individual who had a net income of $2000 or more, if married and living with husband or wife.

Every individual who had a gross income of $500 or more, regardless of whether or not that sum netted him a cent of profit.

Exemptions are the same as those allowed last year: Single person, $1000; head of family, or married person living with husband or wife, $2500 unless the net income is in excess of $5000, in which case the exemption is only $2000; for each dependent under 18, or incapable of self-support $400.

Exemptions, however, should not be confused with the necessity of filing a return. Returns must be filed in order that exemptions be allowed. For instance a single person may be the head of a family, in which case he is entitled to an exemption of $2500 as well as $400 for each dependent, but if his income is $1000 or more he must file a return. A married person living with husband or wife, in order to claim exemption of $2500 and $400 for each dependent, must likewise file a return, although his actual net income for 1922 was only $2000.

The necessity of filing a return is based on the actual net income, and while exemption will in many instances relieve the taxpayer from the payment of income tax, such returns must be filed in order to claim the exemptions.

A very unique guessing contest was one feature of the afternoon, with a delicious two-course luncheon to close the afternoon. Mrs. Chas. Chandler, of Wendling, and Mrs. Geo. Larison were guests of the club for the afternoon. The members present were: Mesdames, S. R. Dippel, D. W. Critch, Carl Olson, W. N. Long, W. H. Polard, T. D. Yarnes, C. E. Swartz, Robt. Drury, W. H. Adrian, R. P. Mortensen, Geo. Cateberg and Miss Edna Swartz, of Springfield and Mrs. Carl Fisher, Mrs. Herbert Walker and Mrs. Alex McKinney of Eugene. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. W. N. Long on February 15.

On last Friday evening Mrs. Richard McMahon, president of the Rebekah assembly of Oregon, paid the local lodge an official visit, a call meeting being held to accommodate the officer who could not arrange to be here on a regular meeting night. A goodly representation of members of the local lodge were in attendance besides a number of visitors from Eugene. The president gave an address which was well received, and also complimented the lodge here on the few members lost during the past year. Past Grand Master W. F. Walker was also present and spoke at some length, after which all retired to the dining room and partook of delicious refreshments.

Mrs. J. J. Manwaring is confined to her home by illness. Mr. Manwaring who had the misfortune to have one of his feet hurt while at work at the mill a couple of weeks ago, is able to be back at work once more.

Sister Mary Angel, an ex-nun, spoke to a crowded house, both Sunday evening and Monday afternoon, at Morrison's hall, on the evils of Catholicism.

Mrs. Paul Scott left last Friday morning for Boise, Idaho, after a visit of some length with her parents here.

D. B. Murphy, of the Cash & Carry, was able to be down town yesterday for the first time for several days on account of an attack of the flu.

PROF. DUNN LECTURES ON EGYPTIAN RELICS

The opening of the tomb of Tutankhamen, involving as it does the discovery of the most brilliant collection of funeral equipment yet found in the hidden crypts of the Pharaohs, ranks among the most astounding revelations in the annals of archaeology, declared Prof. F. S. Dunn, professor of Latin in the University of Oregon, who delivered a lecture recently on "Tutankhamen Lives Again." The lecture was delivered over the radio, and was heard by hundreds of Pacific coast radio fans.

"The magic spell of Egypt has once again been cast over the world. We are momentarily awaiting the thrill that will attend the opening of that sealed rock chamber where presumably lies Pharaoh Tutankhamen," said Prof. Dunn. When the funeral cortage passed out of Thebes and across the Nile, bearing the dead Pharaoh to his catacomb, how strange a fantasy it would have seemed to any one in that procession that a company of archaeologists, 3000 years later, would stumble upon the hidden crypt, and reintroduce the mummied monarch to an astonished world. And could anything now be more weird than to await the coming forth from his tomb of an autocrat who wore the double crown of Egypt far back in the 1300's before Christ.

"A remarkable fate has befallen a relatively unimportant Pharaoh, in that the discovery of his tomb early in last November, and the opening of the antechamber, some three weeks later, disclosing almost complete funeral paraphernalia to the probable value of half a hundred million dollars rank among the most astounding revelations in the annals of archaeology. Tutankhamen himself, though far excelled in fame by the Pyramid builders and such heroic personalities as Sesostris, Thutmose, Amenhotep, or Rameses, has survived 3000 posthumous years, suddenly to become an international figure.

"In his own day in his own place in the accepted chronology, as a king of the 18th dynasty, Tutankhamen can not be credited with having been a conspicuous success. History knows him as the illegitimate son of Amenhotep the Magnificent, and as successor, after a short interval, of the heroic and mystic Akhenaton, whose son-in-law he was. His short reign of eight years was a troublous era of vacillation and decadence. Feeling under the domination of the priesthood, he was induced to restore the old worship which Akhenaton had striven so gloriously to refine and reform; and incidentally removed the capital back to Thebes. By far the most interesting item connected with his name and reign is the suggestion recently advanced by Arthur Weigall that Tutankhamen, and not Rameses II, is the real Pharaoh of the Oppression who taught the children of Israel to make brick without straw.

"Numerous monuments bear witness to his name, for instance a lion of red granite now in the British museum, which shows the cartouche and royal signature of Tutankhamen; a letter on clay and in cuneiform addressed to him while still a courtier, and discovered at Tell-el-Amarna. Then there are the frescoed walls of the tomb of his Ethiopian viceroy, Huy, which depict Tutankhamen on his throne and receiving both his governor's report and embassies of tributary peoples. And the marvelous ruins of Luxor are the most superb by reason of Tutankhamen's great colonnade on which are sculptured the scenes of his triumphant reception in Thebes, the most pretentious structure erected by any Pharaoh up to that time.

"The practice of burial in pyramids had long since been abandoned by the Pharaohs and now the desolate chalk cliff walls on the west of the Nile had been preempted by the royal line and honeycombed with tombs in maze-like chambers excavated in the rock. And here it was that Tutankhamen eventually came to join his fathers. Remarkably good fortune has attended the search for these tombs in the Valley of Kings, and tourists today may look upon the mummies of some of the most famous of the Pharaohs now lying in state in the museum at Gizeh."

A short time ago Dr. Phillip A. Parsons, director of the School of Social Work of the University of Oregon, delivered a radio lecture on "Prison Reform in the U. S." Letters were received from persons living in communities in widely separated sections expressing their appreciation of the lecture service. A. J. O'Reilly, county club agent of the State of Idaho, Twin Falls, wrote that he could "hear clearly and distinctly every word of Dr. Parsons' lecture."
