$25 REWARD

I will give the above reward to any man that I have been the direct cause of him getting inoculated with what is commonly called barbers itch, at any time in the past twenty-five years. Barber's itch so-called never appears on the face other than right in the beard. One of the worst sore faces I ever saw was a man who shaved himself.

When shaved close, the pores are open and if the blood is bad is easy inoculated, and can be gotten in many ways, yet the barber will always have to take the blame for it.

I guarantee to my regular customers that they will never get a sore face at my shop.
