

TOWN AND VICINITY

Mother Arrives—Mrs. Ferris, of Spokane, arrived in Springfield Saturday for an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. W. C. Rebhan.

Dined with Kesseys—Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Whitney and daughter Mary Elizabeth had Sunday dinner with the O. B. Kessey family.

Undergoes Operation—A minor operation was performed upon Forrest Fritts at the Springfield hospital on Friday.

Here for Medical Treatment—Mrs. Walter Carter and small daughter were here from Leaburg Tuesday for medical treatment.

Went to Westfir—George Kelly, of the Western Lumber company, went through Springfield Monday on his way from Portland to Westfir.

Had Minor Operation—The small son of Mr and Mrs Troy Hulbert underwent a minor operation at the Springfield hospital Saturday. He was taken home the same day.

Went to Sutherlin—Mary Elizabeth Whitney went to Sutherlin to spend Thanksgiving with her grandmother, Mrs. G. W. Whitney. She returned home Sunday.

Broke Arm—The small daughter of H. H. Brown of Mohawk fell and broke her arm last week end. She is now able to go on to school.

Returned from Idaho—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McDowell returned Monday from southern Idaho where they visited sons for the past two months.

Distributed Calendars—About 40 calendars for 1924 issued by the Southern Pacific railway company and sent here from Portland were distributed around town Tuesday.

Kicked by Horse—While on his ranch near town Saturday morning, O. B. Kessey attempted to drive a number of horses through a gateway. One of them kicked him several times but not with serious results.

Went to Wendling—Clayton Barber left Springfield Saturday to spend the week-end six miles above Wendling. He went in company with Cecil Wooley and George Thompson of Eugene and A. W. Wooley, Kenneth Hall and Roger Hall of Wendling. The men spent their time in completing the building of a hunting cabin, and carried supplies over four miles to the lodge.

Visited from Mollalla—Leo Shaver, of Mollalla, Oregon, a former student of F. B. Hamlin's in that city, came to Eugene with the O. A. C. rooters at the Oregon-O. A. C. football game. He came over to Springfield and spent part of a forenoon visiting Postmaster Hamlin. He was accompanied by his wife and little daughter.

Drove to Albany—Roy A. Humphreys, accompanied by L. J. Mannell of Eugene, drove to Albany Saturday night, returning on Sunday. Mrs. Humphreys and sons Russell and Charles came back with them. Mrs. Humphreys had spent several days in Portland with her sister, and the children had been with their grandmother, Mrs. T. M. Humphreys of Albany.

FARM REMINDERS

Beekeepers Overhaul Plants.
It pays beekeepers to overhaul their equipment in the winter. All extracting combs are looked over, graded and patched with wax foundation. Excess comb and bee glue are cleaned from all parts of the equipment. Parts that need re-nailing and painting receive attention as there is no time to do these things when the equipment is needed. Material which is beyond further use is best disposed of in some way. All of this is in preparation for invoice to be taken the first of the year.

Many Willamette farmers burn their straw stacks in the fall. A ton of ordinary straw contains practically the same amount of plant food material as a ton of barnyard manure, but it is not so quickly available. When straw is added to the heavier soils and thoroughly disked in, the soil has given increase in yield almost as large as for barnyard manure.

Success in controlling fruit tree pests and diseases depends upon having everything ready at the right time. Overhaul the spray outfit and arrange for spray materials so they will be ready for use in the spring.

Continued success in the production of honey is not an accident. It is a combination of good bees; good bee-keeping, good equipment and good location.
