FARM GROUPS FAVOR STATE CONFERENCE

Balanced Production and Marketing Policy Appeals to Heads of Organizations

The agricultural economic conference is well worth while, believes George A. Palmiter, master of the state grange. He urges grangers to take part. Other leaders of farm groups endorsing the conference and hoping to take part in it are Herbert Egbers, president of the farmers' union...

The Oregon bankers association has expressed approval and intention to participate. The financial interests are standing back of the program. "Count me in," writes C. D. Rorer, president of the Eugene Bank of Commerce and member of the agricultural commission of the American Bankers association...

Keith Powell, chairman of the agricultural committee of the state bankers association, indicates his belief in the conference and his intention to be present.

The Linn-Benton county bankers association will hold its January meeting at the college during the conference.

The commercial interests are likewise joining in the general scheme of economic betterment of farming by basing production on market demands. Portland chamber and others will be present.

Visited at Parkers—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Holdredge and son, Ed, had Sunday dinner and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Parker and family. They were here from Trent for the day.

FEWER LOGANS GROWN OR MORE MUST BE EATEN

Approximately 700 acres are devoted to loganberry production in Oregon. This state produces 85 per cent of the loganberries grown in the United States.

Growers are confronted with the alternative of pulling up many of their vines or increasing use and market for this especially adapted crop.

A thorough analysis of the loganberry situation will be made at the agricultural economic conference to be held at the state college January 23 to 25.

OREGON ANGORA GOATS SEEK STUMP LAND HOME

To what extent can and should goat production be increased in Oregon?

The answer to that question will be considered at the economic conference to be held at the state college January 23 to 25.

Western Oregon is recognized as the source of the highest quality Angora goats in the United States. There are 830,000 acres now in stump lands in Oregon and this area is being increased at the rate of about 100,000 acres each year. Much of this land can be advantageously utilized for goat grazing.
