CLINE PRAISES CITY AT O. A. C. CONVENTION

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, March 6.—(Special).—The advantages of Springfield as a city in which to build a home were pointed out by Ralph Cline, student at Springfield high school, in his "Sell Oregon" speech given in connection with the educational exposition. The Junior Chamber of Commerce public speaking contest has been made an annual feature of the exposition.

"Springfield is located near the University of Oregon, and as you know, universities have a great cultural influence over a town," said Cline. "The city is located on the river and has a large sawmill which furnishes employment to nearly 850 men."

"Springfield is a growing railroad center. Seven different railroads lead from the city to all parts of the country. The Southern Pacific is now surveying to remove the car shops from Portland to Springfield."

"Our city is still in her babyhood. She has not grown her full amount, but has a population of only 2000 persons. We have good schools—a nice high school, and a good grammar school. There are five different denominations of churches, showing that this is a desirable community religiously."

When you are considering a new place of residence, come to Springfield and look the situation over before you make any definite plans."

Causes of Tuberculosis Infection

The cause of persistent tuberculosis infection in herds of cattle under the supervision of State and Federal officers are outlined in a recent report by the United States Department of Agriculture on the progress of the eradication of bovine tuberculosis.

Among the causes are: Exposure to infected animals at county fairs, streams contaminated by tuberculosis material, infected water in ponds, silage infected from hog litter, and additions of tuberculosis cattle to the herd.

One instance reported was of a herd of 13 head that had "tested clean" and was put on exhibit at a county fair. Eleven of the herd were placed opposite an infected herd so that they faced them. On retesting, the 11 all reacted and the two that were stalled elsewhere passed clean.

"And Obey"

Old Boy: "How would you like to marry me?"

Flapper: "Well, I wouldn't mind—"

Old Boy: "Oh, well—er—I guess I can stand it if you just love and honor me."

One Point of View

"Are the many automobiles in your town a factor towards its prosperity?" "Bet your life they are!" cried the enthusiastic building contractor. "They've enabled me to put up two big additions on the hospital."

BIGGER RETURNS POSSIBLE FROM BETTER LIVESTOCK

Kansas dairy farmers could increase their returns $20,000,000 a year by better feeding and better stock, according to reported estimates of J. M. Frandsen, a dairy specialist, at a recent Kansas agricultural convention. This estimate is considered typical of conditions throughout the country by livestock and dairy experts of the United States Department of Agriculture, which is prepared to assist State organizations and individuals in improving their methods in breeding and feeding. The use of purebred sires, particularly, is a practical economical, and rapid means of improving the quality of domestic animals. According to department records, more than 12,700 livestock owners have placed their herds and flocks on a strictly purebred-sire basis, and reports from these farmers show that purebred livestock has about 40 per cent utility value over common stock.

As a means of encouraging better feeding methods, the department has developed a simple feeding problem sheet, which may be procured and filled out by any livestock owner. A specialist of a State agricultural college, or the department, then makes an analysis of each problem and points out the means for solving it.
