DEMONSTRATE EXPLOSIVE ON LAIRD FARM FRIDAY

What pyrotol, the new government explosive for land clearing can really do in action will be demonstrated on three Lane county farms next week.

The first demonstration will be held on the farm of John W. Root near Elmira, Wednesday morning, November 12. The second will be on the Ralph Laird farm near Jasper, Friday afternoon. The third will be on the Barney Oldfield farm above Waverly, Saturday afternoon.

"These demonstrations, conducted by the extension service of the agricultural college, are to give the farmers a chance to see how pyrotol works and how to work it," says George W. Kable, agricultural engineer in charge of distribution in Oregon.

The government desires that all farmers in Oregon have an equal opportunity to buy this explosive which is sold for costs of preparation, shipping and handling. It costs about half as much as other explosives, and there are more than 160 sticks in a 50 pound box. Oregon farmers have ordered 360,000 pounds this year, and those of Lane county, 40,000. Other orders will be pooled by the Farmer's union warehouse at Eugene.

Wanted.

5000 farmers wanted at once to join the Farmers union.

Now that the elections are over, the crops harvested, the fall sowing done and practically nothing to do it is the desire of the entire personnel of the Farmers union to again stimulate that good feeling which existed last winter and bring the union back to a position which will be higher at this time than we have ever reached before. Commence talking union, be a booster, drag that delinquent neighbor of your out to the next local, bring in a new member. The union stands for a wonderful purpose, however, we get out of it just what we put in it, high Espre De Corps mena we will be up and going and accomplishing things worth mentioning on the other hand if we are not interested, don't try, don't attend meetings we will soon be on the decline. Now friends, again endeavor to revive our union with a spirit of being interested, each member do a little bit personally and don't wait for George. Mr. Harry Jackson is going to put on a drive for the remainder of the year and it is hoped to get every eligible person in Lane county to join the union, now is the opportunity to show whether or not we can bring in a new member. Mr. Jackson will be at the disposal of any local at any and all times during the remainder of 1924. Call him, get him, he'll be only too glad to come and visit you and assist you in building up a new membership, remember every eligible person in Lane county is the goal before 1925.

KEEPING BOOKS REVEALS WEAK POINTS IN FARMING

What farmers are doing through keeping and analyzing their farm accounts under the direction of agricultural extension worker is illustrated by an Iowa farmer who, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture, has been able to obtain an appreciably larger return for his labor through changes that a better understanding of the strong and weak points in his farming system suggested. This farmer has kept accounts over two years. He found at the end of the first year that crops which he fed to livestock brought him more money than when sold outright and that his methods of handling his hogs were efficient. His figures showed him, however, that his cows were poor, averaging only $34 per cow for dairy products. Comparing his figures with those of other farms in the State, he also found the number of acres cultivated per man on his farm, as well as the number of acres per horse, were below average.

Acting on the information his account book gave him, this farmer rented more land and replanned his 12 small, irregular fields, making them into 9 fields of better proportion, so that the crop area per man was increased 24 acres and the area per horse increased 3 acres. He sold two scrub cows and bought three cows of good dairy records. When he figured his accounts for the second year and compared the two years, he found that the income from the farm, after paying all expenses and interest on the amount of money invested, had been increased over $350.
