UPPER WILLAMETTE

The Goshen grange met in regular session Wednesday, November 11 at 10:30 a. m. After the morning business was transacted dinner was served. The afternoon was given over to the lecture hour and a good program was given.

Herbert Stucke has been engaged to teach the school in district No. 9 near Goshen, which has been reopened after remaining closed a number of years.

The Christian church of Pleasant Hill held a very successful Sunday school rally day Sunday, November 9. Although the goal, which was set for 200, was not reached there was an increase of 70 per cent. A splendid program, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hays was given.

Plans are under way to hold a community dinner at the church Thanksgiving day. For four years the residents of Pleasant Hill have held a community dinner on Thanksgiving day between 50 and 60 attending.

In the afternoon of Friday, November 21 Professor H. E. Cosby, the extension poultry specialist of the Oregon Agricultural College, will address a meeting of poultry raisers at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Tinker at Pleasant Hill. Mr. Cosby will speak on poultry management, dealing with the subject of feeding for winter egg production. Every one interested is urged to be present. The Tinker ranch is one-half mile south of the Pleasant Hill cemetery.

Will Churchill of Pleasant Hill received word Monday that triplets, two girls and a boy were born to Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Knoaker at San Jose, California, on election day, November 4. Each baby weighed 9 pounds. Mother and babies were all fine. Mr. Knoaker is a foster-son of Mr. Churchill.

A wedding of much interest to the residents of the Upper Willamette is that of Miss Helen Pauline Miller of Trent and Myron Lowell Sikes of Denton, which occurred last week. Miss Miller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Miller of Trent. She attended the Pleasant Hill high school last year where she was popular with the younger set. The young folks gave her a chivari Saturday.

Lane County Prunes.
At the closing of the Lane County Cooperative Prune Growers prune pool November 1, it was stated by the state inspector that Lane county prunes were among the best in Oregon for grade and quality. The Lane unit handled 535,000 pounds this year which will be marketed through the North Pacific Cooperative Prune Exchange.

Prune Bread Contest.
In the prune bread contest in the Boys and Girls club work at the Pacific International Live Stock show last week which was under the supervision of Miss Helen Cowgill of O. A. C. the first prize was awarded to the Jackson county team consisting of Rosina and Frances Gallatin; second prize to Malheur county consisting of Grace Posey and Marion Boswell; and third prize to Douglas county represented by Elizabeth Renner and Wilma Howard. The first prize was awarded by the North Pacific Cooperative Prune Exchange, being a trip to summer school at O. A. C., the second prize of $10.00 by Crown Mills, Portland, and the third prize of $5.00 by Fleischman Yeast company, Portland.

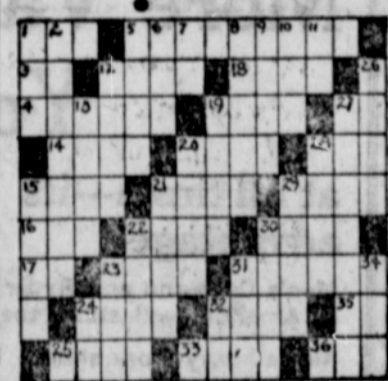

Bread baked in the winning contests was served to the guests at the weekly Members Forum luncheon of the Portland Chamber of Commerce. Miss Cowgill, who is assistant club leader, O. A. C., in charge of the contest, will go to Chicago to take charge of a similar demonstration of prune bread making before the National Live Stock Show November 25. Miss Cowgill will be accompanied by the girl having the highest number of points in Boys' and Girls, Club work, and possibly one of the champion girl bread makers.

Here from Chicago.

Catch These Catchy Phrases if You Can

We are publishing this week a new puzzle. The answer to the new puzzle will be printed next week. The new puzzle printed this week was composed by Bruce Cole and contains many catchy words, which, however, are well known to all our readers. Mr. Cole has tried a new stunt in his puzzle; he used words that depend upon each other; for instance, his number 20, horizontal, has a direct relation to question 19.

HORIZONTAL

1. A shade of brown.
3. Conjunction expressing doubt.
4. The result of a cause.
5. Where most things are made.
12. A musical organization.
14. An improper contraction.
15. If you didn't guess 14 vertical it's no use to define this one as they are identical.
16. Sick.
17. Objective first person singular pronoun.
18. What you send with the laundry.
19. Eve's better half.
20. One of the son's of 19 horizontal.
21. The opposite of under.
22. Past tense of tread.
23. Adverb meaning at what time.
24. What golfers drive from.
25. Abbreviation for a New England state.
27. Reversed abbreviation for this country.
28. What your pet corn grows on.
29. If helps hold a Ford together.
30. One who speaks the Slavic language as his native tongue.
31. How the baby cries when you want it to stop.
32. What any school boy can make when teacher's back is turned.
33. Where your friend slaps you.
35. What her father is apt to say when you ask for her hand.
36. Abbreviation for "and so forth."

INSTRUCTIONS.

If you have not yet tried to work one of these puzzles start now and you will find the pastime most interesting. Start in the upper left hand corner and follow the instructions as listed below under the "Horizontal" numbers. For instance the first word is a shade of brown. As there are three white spaces the word has only three letters. In the second line, there are two spaces so the "Conjunction expressing doubt" has only two letters.

To get the words in the vertical columns you use the same method. The first word under "Vertical" column has three spaces, hence three letters will form a word that designates a piece of neckwear. The first word in this column starts with the same letter you use in the horizontal column. Often it is easier to skip about and get some of the short words as you will have a clue to the beginning of some other word. When you have completed the task every space will be filled, and no matter which way you read, up or down, you will have some word.

VERTICAL.

1. Piece of neckwear.
2. Agreeable or pleasant.
5. A Truth.
6. A small insect.
7. Abbreviation for certificate of deposit.
8. What you grow every day.
9. A king or noble; also a French gold coin current in Scotland in the 15th and 16th centuries. This is a hard one.
10. A suffix.
11. A Latin word meaning "and."
12. Another Latin word meaning "good."
13. To make full.
14. Capable of doing.
15. What a hunter does before he fires.
19. Where you are sick.
20. An English river usually thought of in connection with Shakespeare.
21. Metals in the raw state.
22. Adverb meaning at that time.
23. A growth of the skin, frequently occurring on the head or neck.
24. A preposition.
26. Fat from beef.
27. The opposite from bankrupt.
28. A small animal that hops.
29. A color.
30. What the Mrs. hate to darn.
31. The last syllable of a well-known patent medicine.
32. The fourth musical syllable.
34. A mythical bird of Arabia.

Poem by Uncle John

Accordin' to my notion now it ain't the time to mourn—when the hills is dressed for Autumn, and the frost is on the corn—when we view the ripened apples with their cheeks of ruby-red, drinkin' sweet November sunshine from the glorious over-head. No—it ain't no time for weepin' at the knell of summer days, when the heart should be rejoicin' in its thankfulness and praise. Let me tune my lyre to emphasize the glory of the land, with the music set before me, that a child can understand.

Let the wings of glad October fan the love-flame in the soul, as she yields the vital process that a feller can't control. If it weren't for blessed ripeness, in the vineyard, sheaf and ear, you would see some hungry figgerin' as to where we'd go from here. All hail, serene November, when the pantry and the bin keeps preachin' regular sermons on the goodies stored within. All hail the peace-an'-plenty with a thousand tints embossed, as we banish every shadder with the smiles we put across!
