CATTLE TALE OF DAYS WHEN TEXAS WAS BROKE

"North of 36," the new Paramount picture which opens Friday and Saturday at the Bell Theatre, is an epic of the stirring and colorful pioneer days that bridged the gap between Indian warfare and America's industrial birth.

The story takes place just after the Civil War—a story of the greatest of all cattle drives from the plains of Texas to the markets of Kansas, then the far-west terminal of civilization. The tale has an historical as well as a romantic appeal. Miss Wilson, as the young girl who leads her sixteen loyal and devoted cowboys and an immense herd of cattle over an unblazed trail for many hundreds of miles, is a dauntless, courageous character.

There is Jack Holt, the young man who loves her but dare not aspire to her because he is a killer, and who guards her from many perils despite her scorn of him because she believes he is a thief and in league with a ruffin. Rudabaugh (Noah Beery), commands interest and admiration throughout.

There is the tracking of a murderer, political intrigue, perilous fording of swollen rivers, stampeding cattle, an encounter with Indians, olive—the story has all the elements of a stirring picture, with the colorful, picturesque background of the days following the Civil War, when this country was in the throes of a grim reconstruction.

Ernest Torrence, playing Jim Nabours, Talsie's (Miss Wilson) ranch foreman, completes the quartette of featured players in the production.

Other big names in the cast are David Dunbar, Stephen Carr, Guy Oliver, Wm. Carroll, Clarence Geldart, George Irving and Ella Miller.

Irwin Willat directed the production which was adapted for the screen by James Hamilton from Emerson Hough's great novel.

Here's real entertainment.

GREAT MOMENTS in a Boy's Life

When he is told he can keep the tramp dog which has followed him home.

When the doctor says he has measles and must stay home from school.

When he earns his first 10 cents.

When his first little girl friend sends him a note with a lock of HER hair in it.

When he hears the dentist is ill.
When he gets his first bicycle.

In His Father's Life

When he is "allowed" to keep last year's old felt hat.

When the doctor prescribes "complete relax" from business and "plenty of golf."

When he earns his first $100 a week.

When the blonde widow seemingly doesn't notice the gray hairs and give him a "googley eye."

When he keeps an appointment at the dentist's—and finds that he is ill that week.

When he gets his first automobile.
