

COWBOY STAR, BABE RUTH IN CACTUS COMEDY

The broad smile of Hoot Gibson will grace the screen of the Bell theatre Friday and Saturday in a real sporting American role. Hoot, in this picture, "Hit and Run," is a cactus country Babe Ruth who crashes the majors, and makes the outfielders back to the fences when he steps to the bag with his mighty willow "wand."

In the supporting cast is the truly mighty Mike Donlin, the greatest outfielder of his day, and ever to be remembered in baseball annals for his terrific and consistent work at bat. Mike plays a baseball scout.

As a result of one such spasm, he sees the green wonder of the cactus league, played by Hoot, sock the pill so far, the opposing team has its center outfielder outfitted with a horse so as to avoid losing the ball.

In the cast are a number of well-known character actors: DeWitt Jennings, who played a big role in Mary Philbin's, "The Gaiety Girl;" Harold Goodwin of "The Ramblin' Kid;" Marfan Harlan, daughter of the noted comedian, Otis Harlan, and a number of others.
