TYSON MAKES STATEMENT

An article appeared in the Morning Register, Sunday, March 29th under the "Springfield News Items," in which the Springfield Chamber of Commerce goes on record as condemning the methods of the Central Relief Committee, claiming mismanagement and unwise use of funds.

I feel that it may interest the public to know that the Springfield Chamber of Commerce was the only organization in Springfield having no representative on the Central Relief Committee, did not contribute one cent towards its support, as an organization did not cooperate with it and have not asked the Secretary of the Relief Committee for any data.

In other words the Springfield

Chamber of Commerce has passed judgement upon a subject it knows nothing about, yet it stands ready to remedy.

W. P. TYSON,
Chairman, Central Relief Committee,

THUNDERING HERD WILL BE SEEN ON REX SCREEN

At last! The real romance of the winning of the west has reached the screen. Zane Grey's great epic of America's greatest epoch, "The Thundering Herd," has been produced as a Paramount picture and will be shown next week, starting Monday, April 6, for four days at the Rex in Eugene.

In reviewing "The Thundering Herd" at its premier showing, one of America's most critical reviewers proclaimed:

"Once again Paramount comes to the front with an outstanding and truly spectacular production telling another absorbing tale of the west in the making, and setting forth the spirit of pioneer America in a series of thrilling sequences moving against a natural background of majestic and sweeping grandeur. "The Thundering Herd," is the equal if not better than "North of 36." It has been produced on the same gigantic scale as "The Covered Wagon," and like that epic deals with an important period in American history—the days of 1876 in the territory which today is Montana and Wyoming, when tremendous herds of Buffalo roamed the Indian-infested plains.

This is without a doubt the best Zane Grey picture Paramount has contributed to screen literature, in fact it is not to be compared with any such features that have gone before. There is a real story here and romance, too, and thrills which will keep you close to the edge of your seats, especially when the climax is reached and scores of covered wagons drawn by teams of four horses dash madly over a frozen lake to the rescue of a little band surrounded by Indians. We've never seen a more realistic climax than this and while a note at the close declares no animals suffered any injury, they must have been shaken up plenty.

Civic Club Meets Tuesday

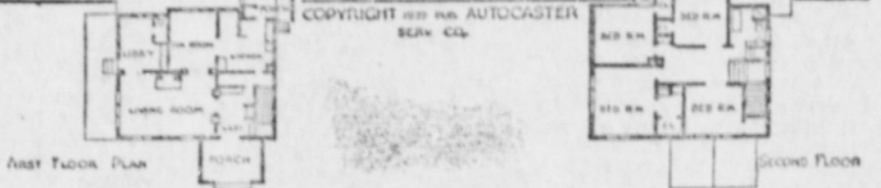

The regular meeting of the Civic club will meet April 7. A full attendance is requested by Mrs. Paul Bratton, president of the club.

Goes to Canada—Jack Hynes and son left yesterday for Smithers, British Columbia.

Here's an Ideal Home Plan That Will Interest You.

One of the most attractive homes yet presented in this series of home plans is that shown above. Some of our ancestors might have stopped looking for a home as soon as they found one of the large trees, however shelter, comfort and attractiveness must all be combined to make a real home. The large overhanging roof, the partly inclosed porch and the attractive lines of the home make this sketch one to be studied with much interest by the prospective home builder.

Those who anticipate building will like the convenience of the room arrangement of both the first and second floor. This is the first plan presented which includes a library. Most homes do not have libraries but with the popularity of the Radio and the increasing desire for a "den" this feature is receiving more consideration than ever before.

The first floor plan permits easy access to each of the other rooms, a feature which home efficiency is demanding. The small vestibule and the wide stairway leading to the second floor break the otherwise square-ness of the large living room. Yes, the fireplace is so placed that a second fireplace may be constructed in the front bedroom on the second floor.

For compactness the second floor with the four bedrooms could hardly be bettered. This type of floor arrangement for sleeping rooms is just one of the present day tendencies for comfort and convenience. The plan we will present next week has a number of features that are not found in many homes but all of which are practical and inexpensive.

MURPHY TO BUILD FIVE ROOM BUNGALOW

Two five room bungalows, somewhat similar in design will be built on the south side of C street across from the F street intersection by M. Murphy, construction to begin immediately.

Mr. Murphy recently bought the plot of land from Jim Copenhaver of Goshen, and will move the first of the week to a small temporary shed he is building there from his former home in Goshen.

Work on the concrete foundations of the houses will be started immediately by Mr. Murphy, who is a carpenter by trade. Definite plans for the rest of the building has not yet been made, he says, but they will be entirely up-to-date, and will have fireplaces.

Mr. Murphy says he will probably live in one house for the remainder of the summer, but he intends to sell or rent them both later. "I may build some more houses here, too," he said.

Buys House

A house and lot on K street, between 6th and 7th streets was purchased Friday by Frank Cogill from J. E. Solem of Redmond, California. Mr. Cogill intends to make extensive improvements on the house and rent it. The consideration for which the property changed hands was not given.

Dr. Evans Buys

Two lots on Main street, between 8th and 9th streets were purchased recently by Dr. M. G. Evans of Portland from Welby Stevens it has been announced. The lots are in the middle of the block on the south side of the street. The purchase price was not given out. Dr. Evans is a former resident of Springfield and owns other property here.

E. B. Pritatsky, of Springfield left Tuesday for Worden, Montana, where he intends to make his home.
