

OFFICIALLY OPEN MARKET SATURDAY

H. C. Jackson, Well-Known Farmer, to Serve as Temporary Market Master; Stalls to Be Used Three Days a Week. It Is Decided by Committee.

Official opening of the new Springfield Public Market will take place Saturday morning at 7 o'clock, with H. C. Jackson, well-known farmer of the Walthersville district and member of the market committee, serving as temporary market master.

The market committee met this week and decided to hold market three days out of each week, beginning next week. Market days will be Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, according to plans made after consultations with interested farmers and others.

Mr. Jackson was in Springfield today checking up on the latest prices of vegetables, poultry and other produce likely to be sold at the Saturday market. Stalls will be opened to the farmers early Saturday morning, and instructions and other information will be given by the market master at that time. The market will remain open throughout the day.

That the market was used unofficially last Friday, with success, is believed to be an indication that the official use of the stalls will prove popular and beneficial. Much produce was disposed of in record time at the unofficial opening.

Selection of a permanent market master is now being considered by the committee, and announcement of the appointment will probably be made before the end of next week, it was said. Until that time, Mr. Jackson has consented to serve.

The market is operated under the auspices of the city, the Lions club and the Lane County Farmers' union. It is open to the use of all actual producers.

Social affairs, as well as promotion of the interests of their Alma Mater, will be the object of the club.

Local Hotels Are Crowded

Bridge and Power Line Crews Make Headquarters Here; 50 Turned Away.

With 50 men forced to take quarters in Eugene despite a preference for Springfield, all accommodations at local hotels are taken and a rushing business is being done.

Proximity to the scene of operations in rebuilding the Mountain States Power company's transmission line between Springfield and Albany is resulting in the heavy influx of workmen and the crowded conditions in local hotels. Two crews of 12 each, both working for the power company, are located here, and another crew of men engaged in the Hendricks bridge construction near Walthersville are making this their living headquarters.

Half a hundred men, employed by the Mountain States Power company on the transmission line work, attempted first to locate here but lack of hotel accommodations made it necessary for them to go to Eugene for quarters and travel the extra distance to work.

Proposed bridge and road construction work, including the assured work on the Springfield railroad bridge, gives promise of a continued demand for living accommodations throughout the next year. Recently, a crew engaged in unloading steel for the railroad bridge was moved out, but more steel is expected and the crew will be back on the job at that time. Dozens of workmen will be employed in the bridge work when it starts.

WOMEN MEN'S GUESTS AT BAPTIST CHURCH SUPPER

Nearly 100 attended the dinner given the women of the Baptist church by the men of the church Friday evening.

Masculine hands took care of every part of the preparation of the dinner, including the baking of several huge cakes which decorated the center of the tables, set in the basement of the church. All details of the program, from serving to entertainment, were in charge of the men.

Norton Pengra gave a reading, "Patrick O'Dowd" as a part of the entertainment. Following the dinner games were played. A free-will offering, taken among the men at the dinner, defrayed all the expense of the affair.

On Friday afternoon, at 2:15 o'clock, he announced, the officials will speak before the classes in economic in the commerce building at the university, and this meeting also will be open to the interested public.

"In view of the fact that Oregon is going through a great and important period in railway development, it will be well if we give these men a good hearing at this meeting," Prof. Crockett said. "That they realize the importance of this district in industrial and railway development is shown in the fact that they have named Eugene, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma and Everett as the only stopping places in the northwest."

INCREASE SHOWN BY SCHOOL CENSUS

Figures Indicate Steady Growth of Springfield; Total of 798 Children in District, Against 776 Last Year; Division Cause of Smaller Figures Here

An increase of 22 in the number of children of school age in the Springfield district is noted in a re-check with last year's figures announced today by R. W. Smith, clerk of the school board. The complete figures, showing a total of 798, with 334 boys and 414 girls, will be turned over to the county superintendent today.

There are 15 more boys, and seven more girls, of school age in the district than there were last year, the report shows. Last year's total was 776. The increase gives indication of Springfield's steady growth.

"In surveying these figures, it is well to remember that Springfield probably would be a first class school district, with 1000 children registered in the census, if it were not for the fact that a few years ago the Glenwood school was separated from the Springfield district," Mr. Smith said. "This fact is not often taken into consideration when a comparison of Springfield's figures and those of past years, and of other districts, is made."

"Another factor entering into the situation is that not all the children and young people going to school here are included in the census. Children from surrounding districts are going to high school in Springfield, but are listed in the census of their home district. But, despite these facts, there is a good increase over last year."

All children from 4 to 20 years of age are listed in the school census. The report is subject to a re-check by the county superintendent.

GRIDIRON SQUAD PLAYS HARRISBURG ON FRIDAY

With dope indicating almost even strength for both teams, the Springfield and Harrisburg high school football squads will lock horns on the Harrisburg grounds tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Springfield players are in the best condition of the year, Coach V. D. Bain declared today. He announced the following as the probable Springfield line-up for the start:

Pollard, c.; C. Whitenack and Louck, g.; Moon and Thompson, t.; Hastings and C. Thompson, ends; McPherson, quarter; H. Cowart and Lewis, halfbacks, and W. Geiger, fullbacks. Linemen who are likely to get into the game not named above are Lombard, K. Geiger and Parker. Cox may get a chance to show his stuff in the backfield.

Harrisburg has defeated Shedd and Junction City, and both lost to and won from Brownsville.

Tomorrow's game will prove a lively set-up for the local squad in preparation for the tough game it faces Thanksgiving day, when Cottage Grove, one of the strongest teams in the county, will come here for a battle on the Fifth street grounds. The time for the Thanksgiving game has been set at 3 o'clock.

Despite the strength of the Cottage Grove outfit, which defeated Roseburg and several other smaller schools, Coach Bain looks with optimism on the prospects for the game. Barring accidents in the Harrisburg tussle tomorrow, every Springfield first-stringer will be ready to start against Cottage Grove.
