

Knows Our Friends

Instinctively, we all like the fellow who knows our friends. On that basis we are all going to like Paul Robinson because, starting this week, he is every week going to picture for us the trials and human weaknesses of our friends right here in this community in his new comic strip, "The Purdys." It is just an average American home living pa, ma, grandpop, ter and the kid brother. It's ap-stick. Instead, real hu-terest situations. Read "The Purdys" every week in this paper.

MANY ARE INJURED IN ODD ACCIDENTS

Seven persons were injured in as many accidents of various kinds in this district during the past week, according to reports given out at the local offices of physicians.

Perhaps the most serious mishap occurred Sunday, when Carl Bosserman of Springfield sustained a broken ankle, internal injuries, and minor bruises while working at the Booth-Kelly Lumber company mill here. Bosserman was carrying a heavy block, and fell, the pulley falling on top of him. At first it was not known that he was seriously hurt, but a physician's examination proved that his ankle had been broken and other injuries sustained, and he was rushed to the Eugene hospital for treatment.

The leg that was injured was the same that was broken several years ago, when Bosserman was hurt at similar work.

Richard Duplex of Eugene was burnt about the arms and face while working at the Eugene Water board's project in the vicinity of Hayden bridge Monday. Inflammable material caught fire at the workings, and Duplex attempted to roll two cans of gasoline away from the blaze. In doing this he went too near the fire and was burned. He was brought to Springfield and treated here, but will be able to get back to work soon.

S. N. Sweeney of Springfield Junction ran a sash in his arm Saturday when he fell across a log while running down a hill in the dark in the vicinity of his home. The injury is not expected to prove serious.

Falling on a jagged knot on a log, Clifford Smith of Marcola sustained a painful wound in his right thigh while working for the Fisher Logging company. The jagged points of the broken knot penetrated the flesh to a depth of two inches. Smith was rushed to a local physician for treatment shortly after the accident.

Mrs. A. J. Ervin of Waltherville called at a physician's office here Friday for treatment of one of her hands, which was badly bruised when a window fell on it.

Don Gillespie on Sunday gashed one of his hands on a license plate while cranking a car.

A. C. Petticord sustained a cut lip while working at the mill on Saturday.

Train Changes Made.

Several changes in Southern Pacific train times were ordered during the past week, according to Agent Carl Olson. Train No. 18, which has been leaving Eugene at 7:30 P. M. will now leave at 7:30 o'clock for Portland. Train No. 92 on the Oakridge branch now leaves Railroad at 11:30 instead of 12:35, and leaves Oakridge at 12:50 o'clock, reaching Eugene at 3 P. M.
