They are the exclusive representatives for the "Chevrolet." The recently new Chevrolet has done away with the cone type clutch and is now equipped with the popular disc-clutch. The crank shaft is from four to six pounds heavier than in former models. The differential is also built of heavier material, and the banjo-type housing is an added feature.

and stop, offering quality at a low price.

The diameter of the brake drum has been increased 1 inch, the width 1/4 inch, thus giving additional braking surface, which is equalled to the four wheel brakes on the larger cars.
