COUNTY AGENT ATTENDS CONVENTION AT ASTORIA

County Agricultural Agent O. C. Fletcher leaves today to attend a convention of the coast county agents at Astoria, Friday 18. The agents are going to meet at the branch experiment station near Astoria which is conducting experiments dealing with the problems of the counties west of the Coast range.

Mr. Fletcher is meeting with the agents of the coast counties and will study the work of the station. He hopes to bring back with him something of value to the farmers of Lane county.

SLOGAN CONTEST STILL OPEN; PRIZE OFFERED

The selection of a slogan for Springfield has been postponed by the committee of the chamber of commerce from this week until some time before the next meeting of the chamber, June 25. No definite date has been set by the committee for the selection of the slogan as the members wish to give contestants all the time possible for the submission of slogans.

A prize of $5 is offered by the chamber of commerce for the winner. The slogans may be of any nature, though brevity is desired. They are to be made the official slogan of Springfield and will be used on all letter-heads, posters, and advertising.

Any person thinking of a good catchy phrase describing the many points about Springfield in a few words should submit their slogan to Carl Olson or M. M. Peery who have charge of the contest. The slogan may describe the advantages of the location of Springfield or its industrial or recreational advantages or anything extolling Springfield as a desirable place in which to live.

The same person may submit as many slogans as he desires as the committee wishes to have as many as possible from which to select the winner.

In order to protect the watershed and supply on Salmon and Milton creeks from which the city of St. Helens obtains its water supply, the council and water commission have decided to purchase about 1600 acres of logged-off land. Reductions ranging from 5 to 15 per cent in various commodities used by the state, with the exception of some meats, were reflected in bids just received by the state board of control, as compared with those submitted in December of last year.

LAND PLASTER AND LIME AIDS ALFALFA

Data secured by O. S. Fletcher, county agricultural agent, on the influence of lime and land plaster on alfalfa in Lane county indicate that under most conditions both lime and land plaster will give increased yields of alfalfa in Lane county. The county agent has completed securing yield data on the first cutting on eight alfalfa demonstrations which were started in the spring of 1925.

Yields were determined on the following farms: E. L. Edwards and H. L. Plank on Pacific highway south of Junction City; Ira Gray, Thurston; David Swenson, Central community; H. L. Waite, Bailey hill; Harry Fishwood, Cloverdale; D. G. Linton, Pleasant Hill; and J. H. Kennedy, Mohawk.

Seven of the eight demonstration plots were divided into four smaller plots, of which one was treated with lime at the rate of approximately one ton per acre; one with land plaster at the rate of approximately one ton per acre; one with land plaster at the rate of 75 pounds per acre; one with lime and land plaster at the rates mentioned; while one had no special treatment and served as a check plot. The eighth plot was divided into two parts, of which one part received lime at the rate of one ton per acre and the other received no treatment.

The average yield of alfalfa on the eight check plots which received no treatment was 1788 pounds per acre. The yield on the seven plots that received land plaster was 2359 pounds per acre and the average yield on the eight plots that received lime only was 2658 pounds per acre. The yield on the seven plots that received both lime and land plaster was 3122 pounds per acre. On these demonstrations the application of lime alone increased the yield of alfalfa by 900 pounds per acre, and the application of land plaster increased the yield on seven plots 521 pounds per acre over the yield on the corresponding seven plots that received no treatment. The application of both lime and land plaster increased the yield 1285 pounds per acre over the seven corresponding plots that received no treatment.

The county agent reports that while definite data were not secured on yields on first bottom land on either the Willamette or McFong's river, no beneficial results were apparent where lime was applied to such bottom land. Land plaster gave a decided increase in yield of alfalfa on these soils.

Spray Again for Maggot.

One or two additional sprays should be applied to the late varieties of cherries to control the cherry maggot, County Agent O. C. Fletcher announced today. He believes this to be necessary in order to control the maggot on the later varieties of cherries, and recommends that farmers do so to play safe.

There Are Some Things You Do Not Want

You don't want this Store to have so-called "sales," to change its selling prices from day to day, to increase or to reduce its prices to you.

You do want the same, fair, advantageous prices every day in the year, thus enabling you to determine whenever you are shopping just what you are getting in Quality and Savings on each article purchased.

Furthermore, it is of great importance to you to have comparatively fresh stocks to select from day after day. We lay no claim to having always the largest stock. The superiority of our goods, for one reason, rests in the fact that shipments are constantly arriving from our forty buyers in New York who are constantly in the market. Thus our goods are never shop-worn, soiled nor undesirable in other ways.

Our 676-Store Buying Power means standard quality and prices that are uniformly low.
