Two Months Old Fine Paid

That human nature is not all bad, was shown here Monday when Kenneth Rogers, University of Oregon student, appeared before the city recorder to pay a fine of $10 for speeding given him by R. W. Smith on June 29. At the time of his arrest, Rogers told the recorder that he did not have any money but that he would pay the fine later in the year after he had earned some. Mr. Smith let him off with the promise to pay the fine later, and his trust in the lad was justified Monday when he came in to pay the fine.

Fined Two Dollars—R. B. Moore of Portland was fined $2 Tuesday morning for cutting the corner at Main and Second streets.

WEEK SEES BIG DEMAND FOR FIRE FIGHTERS

Portland, Aug. 9.—Hundreds of men were sent from Pacific Northwestern cities to fight forest fires in many widely scattered districts during the past week, according to the 4L employment letter issued here today. In the Inland Empire district the fire situation is the worst in fifteen years, the letter reported, and the demand for men to check fires has resulted in a temporary labor shortage in Spokane.

Fires have also interfered with logging operations in the coast districts, the letter said. Lumber production in both the fir and pine districts is holding at about the same level as for weeks past.

Speaking of other industries the 4L letter said:
"Hop picking has been started and the pear harvest is under way in southern Oregon. General construction work is at the season's peak, and is giving employment to more men than were at work last year at this time."

"Farm work, fruit canning and fishing activities are busy at this time. There is plenty of help in most districts to meet any labor demand. Labor turnover has been light."

"CALL AND SEE Dr. N. W. Emery on lists and other work."

CUTTING!

"A little, but it's alright now—I stropped it on the steak!"
