WORDS FROM THE LIPS OF GREAT MEN

"Though the Will of the Majority is in All Cases to Prevail, That Will to Be Rightful Must Be Reasonable."—Thomas Jefferson.

LET'S US ENCOURAGE THE INDUSTRIES WE NOW HAVE

We hear a great deal about encouraging new industries to locate in this or that city through Chamber of Commerce literature, speakers and newspapers, but we seldom hear of any of these agencies encouraging the industries they already have. While encouraging new industries is important and worthwhile it is doubly so that established industries be given encouragement and more that they be given liberal patronage.

Campaigns to patronize home industries are few and are usually conducted by the industries themselves as a means of advertising. Seldom does a Chamber of Commerce set out on a campaign to encourage existing industries or increase their patronage. Yet this would be the most effective way to encourage new industries. What better advertising or encouragement can a community offer than existing flourishing industries? They are evidence that there is business to justify more industries and of proper regard toward and patronage for new industries.

There is no capital investment or energy in a projected industry that does not materialize for want of encouragement. The community has not lost anything if it does not start for it never had it to lose. But when an established industry struggles along poorly for years and fails, that is a loss and a blot on the community's record.

While bad management is sometimes the cause of industries failing, or not prospering, more often it is the wrong community spirit. It seems to be human nature to think that articles manufactured in other states or foreign countries are superior to the same thing made at home. Anything that has a few hundred miles of freight added to it appeals to the purchaser, seemingly more so in Oregon than in California and other states where industrial progress has been rapid.

We have stood in grocery stores and heard grocers argue with customers that California walnuts were better than those grown in Oregon; that Yakima peaches and California melons were far better in flavor than those produced anywhere in our own state. In a county that boast more standing timber than any like area in the United States we see daily in use dozens of substitute articles for wood.

The merchant is altogether to blame for not carrying more Oregon made goods in his store. He is compelled to stock goods that will sell, and it's the belief and confidence in Oregon made goods that makes them sell.

Experts will tell you that usually the quality of Oregon made goods are equal to any other. If they were not it would not be wise for us to encourage industries that made inferior products. What we are lacking is the confidence in Oregon made goods, which in reality is the encouragement industry needs. What profit a man to be given a free factory site or building if then the people for no reason at all won't buy his product.

DON'T GUESS—VOTE NO

There are 19 state measures on the election ballot to be voted yes or no on, November 2. An eminent attorney and lawmaker of this state told us that if it would take two months time and cost at least $1000 for any capable attorney to render a worthwhile intelligent opinion pointing out the probable effects of these measures on the state if they become laws on Oregon's future. Voters are asked to make more laws in 15 minutes than a legislature could hope to turn out in a whole session after the legislators had spent months of study.

We don't feel capable of advising our readers on how to vote on a single one of these 19 measures. We can't make up our minds whether Oregon would be better off if any of them passed but we feel confident that she would be a lot worse off if some of them did pass.

The only advice we will venture to offer is that if you are not absolutely certain in your own mind, don't guess. Vote—No. You know what conditions are like now and you can't tell what far reaching effect some of these measures might have in disturbing the future of the state.

Hunters sometimes have the hard luck they tell about. A young man here this week started out the first day of the season. His car broke down so he had to walk back to town for parts. While gone someone stole his hunting dog. The young man stopped at a farmhouse to inquire about it and another dog bit him through the hand so badly that he had to go to a doctor. Hunting was over for that day.

Russia has her money made in other countries. She can't even trust the employees of the mint in that bolshevik country.

Building in the United State will pass the $7,500,000,000 mark this year of the record of the first six months keep up until the end of the year.

History repeats itself. Scientists say that elk once roamed America from coast to coast.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS MUST RECOGNIZE O. & C. MONEY

Since the Attorney General has rendered an opinion in relation to the matter of the Refund to the several counties and municipal subdivisions thereof of the amounts accruing from enactment of the Stanfield Bill, (O. & C. Land Grant Fund) I think it is well that, all taxing districts of the county should be advised that the amounts to be received by each as shown by the computations just finished should be included in the estimate of probable receipts for the purpose of determining the amount necessary to be levied as taxes for the fiscal year.

I find that quite a number of school districts have voted levies without recognition of sums to be received from this fund when the amounts they are to receive are in excess of that voted. The County School Superintendent has notified all school districts of the amounts that they are to receive from this source and the same should be incorporated in the school budget notice as probable receipts and thus avoid the necessity of having to reconsider levies made. Those districts that have reported levies without recognizing the amounts due them from this source should advertise meetings and reconsider the levies that they may have voted.

MEXICAN SITUATION IS TOLD TO BROTHERHOOD

Mexico has as much religious freedom as the United States. Rev. Gabriel Sykes, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, told members of the church Brotherhood in the first meeting conducted Monday evening.

Rev. Sykes explained the Mexican laws regarding the church, declaring that they effect Catholic and protestant churches alike. The Calles government, he said, is merely enforcing the law in its recent action which has brought protests from many quarters.

Much good is to be reaped from the new regulations, the minister predicted. Ignorance, he said, has been fostered by the attitude of religious authorities in Mexico for scores of years, and the new rulings will bring the light of learnings to many who would not otherwise receive it.

The Calles government, Rev Sykes asserted, is the best government Mexico has ever had. The minister has made a thorough study of the Mexican situation since the recent religious crisis.

Thirty men attended the Brotherhood banquet. Then next will be a Father and Son banquet, it was decided.

EATON IS H. S. YELL LEADER; VOTE TODAY

Student board of control members will be elected at the Springfield High School today. The board consists of three students, one faculty member, President Evan Hughes of the student body, and Principal Morgan acting in an advisory capacity.

Minute men who report infractions of rules laid down by the board also will be chosen today. The High school students will vote on a constitutional amendment.

Last Thursday, Orval Eaton was chose yell leader for this year. His assistant is Martin Welch.

McLAGAN CAR HIT BY S. P. FREIGHT TRAIN

Struck by a switching train at the Eugene gas plant Monday evening, the automobile driven by Superintendent W. C. McLagan of the local power plant was pushed for several feet down the track but not badly damaged.

McLagan approached the crossing with his view obstructed by a high board fence. Although he perceived an engine switching beyond the fence, he thought it was on the main line track and did not discover otherwise until he had driven onto the tracks and a flat car, shoved by the engine, was bearing down upon him.

The flat car struck the rear of the McLagan auto, but due to the fact that the chief impact was received on the solid hub of the rear wheel, the damage was less than it might otherwise have been.

This excellent intestinal evacuant is wonderful for constipation or allied stomach trouble. Don't waste time with pills or tablets but get REAL Adlerika action! Planery's Drug Store.

MUSKRATS TRAPPED IN BOOTH-KELLY STREAM

Bounty for trapping six muskrats was claimed this week by Hugh Court and Buck Hardesty, who have traps in the Booth-Kelly Lumber company's mill race above Springfield. The company has offered 25 cents bounty on each marshrabbit killed. The animals burrow into the dams and do considerable damage. Their hides are also sold for fair prices.

Baby Son Dies

The infant son born to Mr. and Mrs. Riley Williams of Marcola October 8 died Monday, and was buried at Marcola. The infant was named Donald Edwin.

You'll Never Forget

Scientists claim what the eye registers is never forgotten—but what you hear is seldom remembered.

We would like to add that what you taste at Eggmann's candy counter will always be remembered. Eggmann's candy is the standard of goodness by which you may measure everything else. At taste will convince you. You'll never forget.

Vote the Republican Ticket

ELECT
FREDERICK STEIWER
U. S. SENATOR

The election of Steiwer as U. S. Senator from Oregon is of national importance. By virtue of republican control of the senate Senator McNary holds the chairmanship of the important irrigation and agriculture committees. If the voters of this state should go so far afield as to elect a democrat it might mean a loss of republican control of the senate and a consequent surrender of Senator McNary's vital committee chairmanships.

A vote for Steiwer, the regular republican primary nominee is a vote for republican control of national affairs.

ELECT
I. L. PATTERSON
GOVERNOR

Patterson is familiar with the problems that would confront him as Governor of Oregon. A farmer, he understands the problems of the farmer. A business man he knows the needs of business. He promises fair and just treatment for all. He will seek to lower taxes through a reduction of the cost of state government. He will not follow established precedent and spend most of his time away from the state capitol.

Patterson will be your Governor, on the job, attending to the business of the state as it accrues
