

Lusby-Johnson Nuptials

Among the noteworthy social events of Armistice day was the wedding of Miss Gertrude Johnson of Corvallis and George W. Lusby of Corbett, which occurred at the residence of Mrs. C. S. Hoskins, of Eugene. Officiating was Rev. T. D. Yarnes, former pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Springfield.

The house was tastefully decorated with palms, dahlias and chrysanthemums.

The bride carried a gorgeous bouquet of rosebuds and fern, and wore a lovely dress of blue velvet. She was accompanied by Miss Helea Janowski, who carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Accompanying the groom was Holt Grimes.

Following the ring ceremony, luncheon was served to the guests. Those present were: Maxine Lusby, R. J.

Brady, Miss C. S. Hoskins, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Johnson, Gladys Johnson, Mrs. Addie Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Williams, and Laurene Williams.

Mr. Lusby is a teacher in the Corbett schools, and there the couple will make their home. They departed after the ceremony for Portland.

COST OF PRODUCING BEEF $60 FOR TWO YEAR OLD

To produce a two-year old beef animal ready for market in the Blue mountain districts of eastern Oregon costs close to $60, as found in a cost of production investigation by the state college extension service.

The cost of maintaining the cow for a year is about $23, analyzed in such business like way as a banker analyzes his business. It was found that the average calf crop brought successfully to weaning age is only 65 per cent—that is, for every hundred head of cows carried 65 weaned calves are returned. This makes the cost of the weaned calf $35—a rate of $7.75 per hundred for weanlings weighing 450 pounds. The calf is ordinarily kept till it is two years old, when it is turned into the breeding herd to replace the cows lost or culled if it is a heifer, or sent to market if a steer. An average death loss of 5 per cent is figured in, thus increasing the cost above that required for maintenance.

The average annual overturn in a cattle outfit, under a 65 per cent calf crop and 5 per cent death loss, is 25 per cent. To sell 100 head of cattle a year an outfit must carry 400 cattle of all ages. These 100 cattle sold must pay the bill for all.

A large calf crop is the most vital factor in the cost of cattle production. If the calf crop is larger than the average of 65 per cent the cost of a weaned calf is proportionately less.

Under range conditions it is often difficult to raise a large percentage. Cowmen have their own ideas as to what system of management would accomplish an increase. All are agreed on the fact that it requires control of the bulls during the breeding season. It is pretty generally true that breeding in pastures assures a higher percentage of calves.
