

What Price Beauty?

by Miss Flo

Improving the Eyes' Good Looks

It is difficult to sit down any definite rule for use of eye make-up but the most important point to bear in mind is just what effect you are striving to obtain when you apply it—and then work until you get that particular effect. Coloring, vividness, shape and size of the eye must be taken into consideration but temperament is also very important. Eye makeup is frankly artificial, and should be used only by the type who appear to best advantage in an extol mood. If you belong in that class, you will undoubtedly obtain some flattering and arresting results by the use of eye makeup, but if you are the demure, unsophisticated type, obviously eye makeup is not for you, except perhaps a tiny touch to darken the lashes. Liquid mascara emphasizes the lashes and give them body coloring without beading them. Whether you bead them or simply color them don't shade the eye heavily on the inner corner. By doing so you make the distance between the eyes narrower, and since breadth between the eyes is a sign of intelligence as well as beauty, there is no advantage in using mascara in that manner.

If your lashes are long and you jet them black and then use dark brown paste on the lids, you will have two smears. Don't color the whole area.

A very faint line of liquid mascara along the bottom of the lid will give the eye a becoming shadow. When used in connection with eye shadow preparation, the effect can be intriguing. It must of course be used sparingly,—placed over the lid and faded out at the sides toward the temple. Great care must be taken that the effect is not one of fatigue.

Eye makeup should never be attempted by anyone except at night—and then only if it can be done skillfully and perfectly.

I'm Sorry About This But...

I feel that it is really my DUTY to let you folks in on matters of this kind, for having been in this business for some years, I naturally have noticed MANY things from MY viewpoint which YOU folks out there in front sorta forget at times.

Without the least bit of doubt a lot of you are going to crush in here a few days before Xmas and go berserk trying to do some LAST MINUT buying for someone you'd overlooked! Am I RIGHT?

Now, Folks, verhevin's sake, why can't you make out your list NOW and then during the month of November MAKE your purchases. PACK them away, MARK them off your list and LAFF at the wild-eyed snorting Xmas shoppers who PUT IT OFF until the last minut! Am I RIGHT?

Not Good for EVERYONE

A baby frimstance has absolutely NO use for a Pen and Pencil Set made by Sheaffer, but I'm really surprised to find that I can't for the life of me think of any one ELSE who wouldn't be happier to get such an outfit! Can You think of anyone? Price $12.50.

SPECIAL Antidote for DIVORCES

Unless you're extremely "different" and VERY unusual, a divorce action bores you terribly? So? I've HEARD that SOME people don't mind them at all but I really believe this sort is in the minority—VERY much in the minority. However, I'm wandering! Our Electric Heating Pads for cold feet are THIS WEEK ONLY selling for $6.00. We have only a few at this price.

Economical Yet VERY Exciting!

The RIGHT way to give a kid a camera is to include in the gift ONE set of Films. The FIRST picture he takes must be of YOU, the DONOR, and if you've got any imagination at all, this should be a durb. Mention this stipulation on the card accompanying the gift. Prices $2.50 to $30.00.
