About Your Health

Things You Should Know

A FIRESIDE CHAT.

"Keep the feet warm, the head cool, and the bowels open." I was told by the old college professor, that strict obedience to this command would insure a healthy body at all times.

I can think of at least fifty serious disorders, including fatal disease of the kidneys, and dangerous liver disorders, that have their origin in constipation. From ordinary auto-intoxication we go from bad to worse; the kidneys break down in their futile attempts to carry away the body-poisons; the gall-bladder becomes infected; the stomach rebels; the blood becomes most vitiated; the heart finally weakens dangerously,—and all because of neglected bowels. A stitch in time is worth nine applied too late.

The question of cold feet is increasingly evident in these winter days. The low-pattern shoe is the correct thing in fashion; but I am yet unconvinced that the low shoe is not a shortener of life, and I know it is a menace to health; especially for women. The silk stocking, the "goose pimples," beneath the congested lung make the thoughtful physician wonder if the added attractiveness is worth the price!

Light head dressing should be worn, summer or winter. Tight-fitting hats are conducive to bald heads, which are perhaps minor effects of head-wrapping; both scalp and face are freshened and invigorated by contact with winter air. The idea of enveloping the head and head in fur and feathers, the lower third of the person thin silk, carries little appeal to the healthy race standpoint.
