Perfect School Attendance Records Shown in Contest

The national School Contest, which is being conducted by The News and 2,000 other weekly papers served by Autocaster Service of New York, is nearing its close, with Miss Lillian Snyder of Hundred, W. Va., George Irvin, Jr., of Orrville, Ohio, and Miss Mable Seal of Picayune, Miss., still in the lead, and tied for first place, with a record of twelve years school attendance without being absent or tardy.

These students have made a record which should prove an incentive to every boy and girl in school. They have set a very high standard, but there is always room at the top, and it is possible a student will yet be found whose record will equal, or better twelve years.

Miss Laura Maurer, of Boyertown, Pa., has jumped into second place, and leads Miss Belva Ashcraft of Beardstown, Illinois, only by one month and 14 days. Miss Ashcraft held second place last week with a record of eleven years and six months. Miss Maurer's record is eleven years seven months and fourteen days. Can anyone beat this record for first or second place? If you can, send us your photograph. We have exclusive right in Springfield to this contest feature and will forward your entry to Publishers Autocaster Service—national headquarters for the contest.

Helen Lippert's Record
Miss Helen F. Lippert, of Bellingham, Washington, has an excellent record of 14 years school attendance without ever having been absent or tardy. However, she is a student in Normal School and therefore cannot be considered in this contest. It is opened only to students now in grade or high school. Her record, however, gives students now competing a new mark at which to aim.

Miss Rena L. Woodward, seventeen years old, who lives near Kenly, N. C., has a record of eleven years, two months and ten days. She is a senior at high school and expects to graduate this spring. Her only absence occurred in her first year of school.

Verne Snottherly, sixteen years old, of Albermarle, N. C. has a record of eleven years, without being absent. He has one excused tardy which was caused when his car froze while he was on his way to school. He expects to graduate from high school before his seventeenth birthday.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

by John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

MEASLES.

Do not get the idea that measles is a simple, childhood disease. Medical skill has conquered all of the acute, infectious diseases, except this really dangerous, epidemic thing. Measles runs a definite course if uncomplicated. It is better not to try to "break up" measles, unless you are fond of trouble.

The chief measure in the treatment of the attack is nursing. Errors in nursing are responsible for most fatalities from the possible complication; Pneumonia may set in; Bright's disease may follow the attack; the eyes may be permanently damaged by too bright light in the sick-room—and so on.

A very grave danger is, in letting the patient out of his bed before he has thoroughly recovered, —better be safe than sorry. Encourage the appearance of the eruption by giving abundance of hot drinks—all the patient will tolerate. Sometimes the diagnosis is in doubt—the fever high, the distress great. If there is a remote possibility of measles, do not do anything that would retard the eruption coming out, such as cold baths for the fever, or depressing medicines for pain or cough.

Give abundance of cream-tartar and water during the febrile stage. Allow only soft or liquid diet. Nurse your patient and, if disease is uncomplicated, he will get well. Of course you will call a physician—that's the first thing to do, then, quarantine the case, and fumigate well after recovery.
