NEW MEASURE OF MILES FROM MODERN BALLOONS

"Tire manufacturers can give the public a new measure of miles in balloon tires, if they will first forget their ideas of tire building gained from the old high pressure tire," says Wm. Rodenbaugh of the Service Garage, local Goodrich dealers.

"By the adoption of new principles of design in the Goodrich Silvertown balloon, we find that it is surpassing the mileage records of the finest Silvertown of high pressure design.

"The first step in building balloon tires, is to recognize that low pressure is almost exactly the opposite to high pressure. That is, the tires which were inflated to 60 to 80 pounds pressure, were so hard that they rode on a comparatively narrow strip of tread, in the center of the tire. But the balloon tire flattens out—and instead of putting the load on the center of the tread, it puts the weight on what tire men call the 'shoulders' or two outer sides of the tread.

"Meeting this problem of tread design, will stop the waste of millions of dollars worth of tire mileage for motorists. When the heavy tread design, which has been so common in many balloon tires, is eliminated from the center of the tire it keeps the whole tread from being distorted under load—and this prevents the destructive 'cupping' action and rapid uneven tread wear—one of the greatest causes of short life in balloon tires.

This discovery is an important reason for the exceptional mileage records made by Silvertown balloons which have been in use by the public, with this new design, for almost two years."

CHEERFUL BANKING

Old style banks were places where only the wealthy were welcome. The cold, cheerless atmosphere was considered the right way to impress the public with the dignity of a bank.

Come into this bank and see the new way of doing business, the cheerful, friendly feeling that is extended by every employee, and the willingness to serve you, as guardian of your savings, or to advise in important business transactions.

Banking is just as human a trade as the one of butcher or baker, and the service of this bank is as sincere to the Dollar-a-week saver as it is to the big corporation.
