Mispelled, But—

"Shear robbery," complained the man as he protested at the excessive rate the barber had charged him for a haircut.

Too Much Territory

She—Do you think I go out with every man?

He—Mylor' no, not with the population of the world the way it is now.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE ON EXECUTION IN FORECLOSURE

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of an execution and order of sale in foreclosure issued out of the Circuit Court of Lane County, Oregon, on the 31st day of May, 1927, in a suit wherein on the 17th day of May, 1927, in said Court Thomas Orr, plaintiff recovered judgment against the defendants J. E. D. Brown, Gladys Brown, Claude Loper and Adeana Loper for the sum of $497.14, together with costs and disbursements herein in the sum of $28.50, and the costs and disbursements of sale, which judgment was entered and docketed in the Clerks office of said Court in said County on the 17th day of May, 1927, and said execution to me directed commanding me in the name of the State of Oregon, in order to satisfy said judgment, costs of suit and accruing costs to sell the following described real property, to-wit:

Lot number four in section thirty in township 17 S. R. 6 West of W. M. in Lane County, Oregon.

Now, therefore, in the name of the State of Oregon, in compliance with said execution and order of sale and in order to satisfy said judgment costs and accruing costs, I will on Saturday the 2nd day of July, 1927, at the hour of one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, at the southwest front door of the County Court House, in Eugene, Lane County, Oregon, offer for sale and sell for cash, at public auction, subject to redemption as provided by law all of the right, title and interest of said defendant and all persons claiming by, through or under them or any or either of them in and to said premises.

FRANK E. TAYLOR, Sheriff of Lane County, Oregon. J 2-9-16-23-30:

FARM REMINDERS

If Oregon consumers were to demand sweet cream butter the problem of providing good butter would be solved, say the experiment station specialists. The price would then be forced to demand sweet cream deliveries, a real point, since milk and its products are quite perishable.

Oregon grain farmers have thrown a lot of inferior varieties into discard, says the experiment station, and standardization has progressed wonderfully in the last few years. Some of the varieties at one time fairly important are now declared to be as extinct as the dodo, not even specimens being available. It would be a good thing if a few more were as completely eliminated.

The cherry fruit fly that makes the cherries maggoty in parts of Oregon may be expected to emerge with the next continued warm weather spell, and unless promptly poisoned will put eggs into so many cherries that when the maggots grow up they may pretty nearly walk the fruit out of the boxes. The control spray is lead arsenate a half pound, molasses—not honey—2 quarts, water 10 gallons. It is put on very lightly, about the time Royal Anns begin to show good color, followed by two other like applications a week to 10 days apart.

Commercial fertilizers are used profitable on certain Oregon soils and crops, the experiment station declares, to improve both quality and yield. Profitable returns call for thorough drainage, proper tillage, adequate supply of organic matter, use of lime in humid sections and correction of alkalinity in arid regions.

In putting on supers for extracted honey the Oregon beekeeper usually experiences but little difficulty in getting the bees started in them, particularly if the supers have drawn combs in them. It is a common practice among some beekeepers to place the brood nest which contains the largest amount of brood on the lower story next to the bottom board, then the empty super, and then on top of that the hive body containing the least amount of brood. The queen, if possible should be in the lower story.

Fair Enough

"Why are you scratching yourself, Tommy?"

"Because, I'm the only one who knows where I itch."

Lucky Guy

Him—"There is one word that will make me the happiest man in the world. Will you marry me?"

Her—"No."

Him—"That's the word."

Advice From Dora

Dumb Dora saw a ad in the paper the other day. It said "How a Girl Can Keep Her Youth. One dollar postpaid." Dora says the only way a girl really can keep her youth is by never introducing him to another girl, especially a pretty one.

Divorce Decrees Granted

Judge G. F. Skipworth granted three decrees of divorce in circuit court Tuesday. Carrie B. Akerly was given a divorce from Clarence Akerly on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. Decrees on the same grounds were given Mary Stephens from Clark Stephens and Rosey Sutherland from Vaude Sutherland.

Two complaints for divorce have been filed in circuit court. Mrs. Christina M. Johansen asks for a divorce from Peter Johansen on grounds of neglect and cruelty. Harold N. Hampton seeks a divorce from his wife, Ilene Hampton, on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married last April.

Miss Abbott's Parents Here—Mr. and Mrs. C. Abbott arrived in Springfield Saturday to visit their daughter, Miss Dorothy Abbott, teacher in the Springfield high school. They were accompanied from Portland by O. E. McKinney. On Saturday, they went up the McKenzie. Upon their return, Mrs. Abbott and Mr. McKinney went back to Portland, but Mr. Abbott returned to the river to remain for this week.

Baby in Bath - Cake in Oven - and a Peddler at the Door

"Not Being Done Today"

High pressure selling methods may pay certain profits to the business which cares not for good-will or of rendering real service to its customers. The peddler who appears at your door is but one small cog in the higher up machine that drives—drives—drives—to bring in the dollars at any cost.

Such methods applied by any local store would soon result in the closing of its doors forever—because you would not tolerate the peddlars' practice dominance by local merchants. Weigh the facts. What the peddler and the mail-order house offer, as compared to your local merchants and tradesmen.

The peddler and the mail-order house pay no local taxes; assume no community responsibilities; own no property here; care not if your property investments decrease in value; whether jobs are plentiful—or wages better: In fact, they care only for their own profit.

Therefore, do you think it amiss that we call to your attention the importance of doing all of your trading at home? There isn't local merchant who does not directly and indirectly contribute to our present and hoped for prosperity. Think of these things.
