COMMUNITY WEEK

Community Week is to be held in Springfield as a sort of a revival service—a week to awaken civic spirit, to promote good fellowship and loyal cooperation for mutual interests of the people living in this section.

Springfield needs more town spirit, better cooperation between the town and the country folks, and harmonious teamwork among the different organized forces in the community.

We have the resources and the people here to build a much better community than we have. Let an expert point out the way and let everyone fall into the procession.

The flax industry is rapidly growing and in a few years bids to be one of the largest and most paying of the agricultural crops in Oregon.

To keep them soft and pliable the Eskimo women chew their husband's boots. It is a matter like darning the husband's socks in a civilized country says one writer.

Doc Cook of North Pole fame, from his cell in the Leavenworth prison, asks U. S. Supreme Court to "reconsider" lower courts denial of probation.

After careful study of the Ford car horns, Seth Abrahams says he is not sure but he thinks a fluffer's voice changes between the fifteenth and seventeenth year.

Tuning in on thought waves, the same as on radio waves, is possible, says a French scientist. Well, here's to the professor and our wives. May they never meet.

An Englishman, flying at about the rate of five miles a minute, wins the air speed championship for 1927. We wonder if an Irishman was chasing him?

After listening to a few of these radio tenors we've decided that our American aviators are not the only ones lost on the high C's.

Europe is wrong. America is not ruled by petticoats. If they'll come over here they can see for themselves.

WHERE OUR WHEAT GOES

The volume of wheat exported through the Port of Portland during September was far in excess of previous estimates, a total of 9,495,747 bushels with a value of $12,305,163, as compared with the movement of 5,786,208 bushels valued at $7,691,256 in September 1926.

The wheat was destined for the following countries and represented a weight of 284,872 tons. Shipments moving to Colon for orders are included in United Kingdom.

Table with 3 columns: Country, Bushels, Value. Includes United Kingdom, Belgium, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Norway, Peru, Japan, and Total.

Present indications are that October wheat exports will probably exceed six million bushels.

An unwelcome guest or a bad cold are two of the best things going.

TOBACCO TOPS 'EM ALL

Figures compiled by the United States treasury department indicate that the people of this country spent in a single year $1,847,000,000 for tobacco, $820,000,000 for soft drinks and ice cream, $934,000,000 for theatres and amusements, $689,000,000 for candy and $501,000,000 for perfumes, toilet soaps and chewing gum.

Compared with these figures, which were computed from internal revenue taxes for 1924, the revenues of the electrical utilities shrink into the background. In 1926, two years later than the figures quoted, the sixteen million wired homes in this country paid only $450,000,000 for the necessary, convenient, safe, luxurious and restful services of electric light and power in the home.

Collectively, the electric industry represents a great aggregation of capital, but, when compared with any other service or commodity used generally by the American people, that industry is relatively insignificant.

IMPROVING OUTDOOR MANNERS

The campaign to improve the outdoor manners of the traveling public has made considerable headway this summer, as incidents from a number of states go to prove.

Roads have been a veritable network of signs asking passers-by to pick up their rubbish and stamp out their fires. On one suburban railroad line out of New York city travelers have been saluted by this admonition: "The Outdoor Code. Help save the trees and wildflowers. Protect the birds and game. Keep the highways beautiful. Pick up the picnic rubbish. Put out your fire; then bury it."

From Pennsylvania comes the story of a motorist who disregarded the law which prohibits the gathering of flowers, ferns, shrubs and trees along a private or public road and provides for a heavy fine, or even imprisonment, for violators.

No one who sees the daily litter of paper in Central Park in New York City, or who views the piles of tin cans along the roads in any state, can doubt that much still remains to be done; but the progress made should encourage those organizations and publications, which have been carrying on a campaign of education to continue their work.—Christian Science Monitor.
