About Your Health

Things You Should Know

By John Joseph Gaines, M.D.

Prevention of Colds
To prevent a cold at this season of the year, is, possibly, to prevent a much more disastrous illness; colds lead to serious diseases, especially when neglected; a chronic cough may develop, to last all winter; a chronic throat is usually initiated by the common cold. Pneumonia is too often a consequence; hence my topic is timely. The proper time to fortify against taking cold is, right now. No day is permissible. Our every-day task should be supplemented by sane precautions against disease. At this time of the year, taking cold is the foremost thing to be dreaded, even if the attack be a mild one. First of all, don't overload the stomach. To eat more than the digestion can dispose of, is the surest way of inducing feebleness of the body; and disease does not appear, as a rule, unless one's system is in some way weakened in resisting power. The "run-down" constitution is the waiting host for infection.

water. At least two glasses should be taken on rising each morning, hot or cool, as preferred. Eight glasses of water daily keeps the ashes of the body-fire moving toward elimination. It is a good practice to take a good drink of cool water just before starting on a trip in the wintry air,—it renders the throat and mouth fit for the dash of much colder air outside. Keep the surface of the body, and especially the feet—warm. To keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open, is advice as old as the hills, but it is as sound today as it ever was. And, lastly, don't worry. A contented, capable nervous system is one of the best safeguards against disease that I know of. I would mention clothing, more specifically, but you wouldn't obey—so there!

PLAYING WITH PINEAPPLE

FORTUNATE is the woman sufficiently versed in the art of cookery to be free of the tyranny of recipe and cook book. Not that they are not excellent and necessary things, but because it is such fun to vary and substitute, and take liberties with them. When a recipe calls for cornstarch, for instance, to dare use flour or arrowroot, or be able to leave out or add flavorings and spices successfully is the reward of knowledge, and any woman can acquire it if she wishes.

In the fall and winter, apple sauce, Apple Betty, baked apples and apple tapioca often seem to do double duty, and, good as they are, both the cook and the family tend to weary of them. Here's a hint. Pineapple blends excellently with apple or can be substituted for it in many of the common and every day dishes. Canned Hawaiian pineapple is available in both the crushed and sliced form, and so requires a minimum of effort in preparation.

Pineapple sauce will please the whole family and enough can be made from one can of crushed pineapple and an equal amount of apple sauce to serve the average family as a sauce and save the base for another "Betty" or pie.

Tiny individual turnovers are liked by the pastry eating members of the family.

Good and Different
Another day, fill the cavities left by the removal of the core of baking apples with a mixture of crushed pineapple and raisins and see how good and different they are. To make pineapple tapioca, drain the syrup from either the crushed or sliced variety, and use it as part of the required liquid. Pour the cooked tapioca mixture over sliced pineapple or mix with crushed pineapple.

A dish which will prove fascinating to people who have not tried it is really a plate meal to be called "Pineapple and Sausage Sandwich with Sweet Potato Puff." To make the sandwich, split large slices of canned pineapple in two, so that they will be half the thickness, dry and dip in flour and sauté until brown in sausage fat. Shape sausage meat into flat cakes about the diameter of the pineapple, and bake until thoroughly cooked, then place between two pieces of the sautéed pineapple. Fill the core hole with chopped parsley and a spoonful of some red jelly. Serve with mashed sweet potato to which beaten white of egg has been added.

CROP SURVEY WILL BE MADE IN LANE COUNTY

Data for the state crop outlook report will be gathered in Lane county next week by farmers in various school districts. Representatives from 21 school districts met with the county agent and county agricultural council yesterday in Eugene and made plans for the crop census.

This information gathered to make crop estimates for the coming year in order to advise sowing, planting and anticipate the market.

LANE'S TAX RATE TO BE SLIGHTLY HIGHER

Lane county's tax levy in 1928 for state and county purposes will be 22.3 mills, or one-tenth of a mill higher than the 1927 levy, it was announced from the county clerk's office. Total assessed valuation is figured at $48,687,160.91, an increase of more than $2,000,000 over last year.

Just what Springfield's tax levy will be was not known today, due to the fact that not all data has yet been supplied the county assessor's office. The Springfield valuation, also, had not been segregated from the general county figure.

County Assessor Kenney has intimated that increases may be expected in various cities and districts in the county. This, he says, is due to increases in local taxes, and not to the state and county taxes.

1928 Will Mark Change In Size of Paper Money

Written for The Springfield News By ROBERT FULLER
Through Autocaster Service
Washington, D. C.—Dec. 29—The year 1928 will mark the first change in size of paper money since 1861.

For months the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the greatest print shop in the world, will be busy making new and smaller $1 bills so that upon some fixed day next fall they may be issued simultaneously throughout the country and the old ones retired at one swoop, to be redeemed, of course, upon demand. Notes of other denominations will be printed and put in circulation probably in 1929.

The new notes will be 6 5/16 by 2 11/16 inches whereas the notes now in circulation are 7 7/16 by 3 1/8 inches. By the change the Government expects to save $2,000,000 annually. The reduction in size of the bills is expected to increase the capacity of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing by 50 per cent because twelve of the smaller notes can be printed at one impression upon the same press which now prints but eight.

Through the change in size the bills will be made more convenient to handle and will also be more durable. The new notes will slip into a bill-fold or pocket, it is claimed, without creasing or folding, and for this reason are expected to have much longer life than those now in use. The life of the average bill now is not more than six or seven months, treasury officials say. Folding is one of the chief items cutting short the life of paper money.

Designs on the bills are also to be standardized. Many designs now appear on the different denominations and the various kinds of notes. Washington's portrait, for example, appears both on the $1 and some $20 bills. Treasury officials point out that through standardizing the designs the new notes cannot be so easily "raised" to higher denominations by the crooked gentry who make this their business. In addition to standardized designs on the new paper money there will be a relation between the portrait on the face and the engraving on the back, except in the cases of the $1 bill and those above $100.

On the face of the new $1 bill will be the portrait of Washington and on the back will be the word "ONE" in large letters. On the $2 bill will be a portrait of Jefferson with an engraving of Monticello, his home, on the back.

Lincoln's portrait will be on the face of the $5 bill with the Lincoln Memorial for the back. Hamilton's portrait will appear on the face of the $10 bill and the Treasury Building on the back. For the face of the $20 bill Grever Cleveland's portrait has been chosen, with the White House for the back.

Grant's portrait will be on the face of the $50 bill, Benjamin Franklin's on the $100, McKinley's on the $500, Jackson's on the $1,000, Madison's on the $5,000, and Chase's on the $10,000.

All these designs have been approved, although some may be changed later.

No retirement of money-making machinery will be necessary by the change, it is said.

PASTOR CONTRIBUTES POEM FOR NEW YEAR

Rev. C. H. Blom, pastor of the Springfield Baptist church, sent the following poem to The News office, in view of the arrival of the new year:

A HEART CRY FOR THE NEW YEAR

Another year is dawning; dear Master, let it be,
In working or in waiting, another year for Thee;
Another year of leaning upon Thy loving breast,
Of ever-deepening trustfulness, of quiet, happy rest;
Another year of mercies, of faithfulness and grace;
Another year of gladness in the smiling of Thy face;
Another year of service, of witness for Thy love;
Another year of training for holier work above.
